STORM KILLS 215; SWIRLS ON

CUT ROOSEVELT CHICAGO SPEECH FROM PROGRAM

Governor May Make Address Later.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Unwilling to risk giving the citizens political indigestion by offering too rich a diet, the Roosevelt board of strategy today decided to have only one more major address on the cards for the present campaign pilgrimage.

Suggestions for the delivery of a big speech at Chicago next Saturday on the subject of economy in government had been considered seriously even to the point where arrangements for a great mass meeting were being made.

But it has been decided to cancel this suggestion, and instead Mr. Roosevelt will hie himself, with his entire party, to the bigger show to be put on at Wrigley field Saturday afternoon between the New York Yankees and the Chicago Cubs.

Fear Confusing Voters.

The reasoning behind the decision to see the ball game instead of making another bell ringing oration is that Mr. Roosevelt's advisers feel the voters have been given a pretty heavy fare during the last two weeks of this western expedition.

There have been speeches on the farm question, the railroads, the power issue and the Roseveltian attitude toward big business—four of the weightiest issues in the campaign—and Gov. Roosevelt and his staff are anxious that his views on each of these should be pondered over, talked about and allowed to sink into the minds of the public. To give them very much more at this time might confuse or weary their thoughts, it was reasoned.

The major speech still on the calendar will be delivered Thursday at Sioux City, Ia., a strategical location selected because of its proximity to Nebraska, across the Missouri river, and to South Dakota and Minnesota. The subject of this speech has been withheld for the present, but is certain to deal with farm problems and a further discussion of the Democratic nominee's hopes for giving some immediate relief from the burdens of debt and taxation to the American farmers.

Has Plans for Return.

Mr. Roosevelt has more or less definite plans to return to Chicago late in October, when he will make a speech, possibly in Chicago, but more likely somewhere downstate, because the governor has been advised that Cook county will give him a large majority, and that it would be better to make his appeal to the Republican masses downstate.

The candidate has planned to make a swing to the great wheat lands of Minnesota and South Dakota sometime after his return from his contemplated southern trip, and it is likely that he will make one speech in Illinois and another in one of the Twin Cities.

Riding today through New Mexico and Colorado, Gov. Roosevelt resumed in bolder fashion his efforts to "progressivize" completely the Democratic party, and to win to that sort of political banner the full strength of Republican progressives.

Cutting Appears on Platform.

A most significant gesture toward gaining the support of the New Mexico progressives, which with the normal Democratic strength might give the state's three electoral votes to Roosevelt, was made today.

When Gov. Roosevelt came out on the platform of his private car, the "Pioneer," he spotted the progressive Republican United States Senator Bronson Cutting, in the audience below him. In what was generally taken by the newsmen aboard as a bit of stage play, the governor called to Senator Cutting and invited him to the platform. The senator responded with alacrity, and was cheered by the Democrats on the station platform when Gov. Roosevelt referred to Cutting as "my old friend."

Long's Sister on Train.

Another visitor to the special car today was Caledonia Long, sister of Huey P. Long, who boarded the train at Albuquerque today and got off at Lamy. She is on her way to Tucson, Ariz.

She announced herself as Long's sister, "you know—the independent guss."

Four Political Chiefs Slain in Cuba

HEAD OF SENATE ASSASSINATED BY MACHINE GUN

Machado Invokes Martial Law.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 27.—The campaign of assassination directed against the government of President Gerardo Machado, who is accused by his enemies of governing Cuba as a dictator, reached a climax today when machine gun bullets killed four political leaders and a chauffeur.

One of the assassinated men was Dr. Clemente Vazquez Bello, president of the senate, leader of the Liberal party and President Machado's right hand man.

Three victims were oppositionists. Their killing was apparently an act of retaliation for the slaying of Dr. Bello, who, had he lived, would probably have been the next president of Cuba.

Seven Fire Into Car.

Dr. Bello's assassination occurred early this afternoon. Seven unidentified men fired five volleys from a fast moving automobile into a car in which Bello was leaving his residence near the Havana Country club to preside at a senate meeting.

The political leader was struck by eleven bullets. Another bullet fatally wounded his chauffeur, Julio Hernandiz. The chauffeur was struck in the back of the head, but despite the wound drove his employer to a hospital. At the hospital he helped lift Bello from the car and then fell dead. Police counted 67 bullet holes in the car.

An hour later three automobiles, filled with alleged government agents, fired on another automobile and gravely wounded Dr. Ricardo Dolz Arango, a lawyer, former president of the Conservative party and also a former senator. He is known as Cuba's "Clarence Darrow."

Former Rebel Leader Wounded.

Fifteen minutes afterwards unidentified assailants shot and wounded Representative Miguel Angel Aguiar, Conservative house majority leader, who, with Mario G. Menocal and Carlos Mendieta, led the ebellion against Machado in August, 1931.

Sixty minutes elapsed and Representative Gonzalo Freyre de Andrade and his two brothers, Guillermo, a lawyer, and Leopoldo, an engineer, were assassinated in a suburb of the capital.

President Machado tonight placed Havana under martial law which, he said, was invoked "because of fear that Bello's friends might avenge his death any minute."

Army Patrols City.

Col. José del Rasco assumed command, ordering the army to patrol the city. Police tonight recovered a chocolate colored touring car which Bello's assassins had abandoned because of a punctured tire. Considerable ammunition, six rifles, and four pistols were found in the car, which had been rented from an agency catering to tourists.

In a message to congress President Machado urged the associates of the victims to remain calm.

President Machado was slightly ill tonight.

"Affairs of state are most deplorable," he told interviewers. "The opposition's challenge undoubtedly means a duel to death, but the government is strong and will not hesitate to inflict punishment."

Assassins Escape.

None of today's assassins was captured. Government spokesmen said that they were convinced that Dr. Bello was slain by political exiles from Miami with the aid of paid gunmen.

Secretary of War Carlos Rojas tonight ordered army planes to patrol the northern coast and search for a mysterious ship which is reported to be carrying Bello's assassins to the United States.

The widow of Dr. Bello and his daughter, Magda, now are in the United States. One of his brothers, José Manuel Vazquez Bello, is Cuban consul general in New York City. The senate president's body was taken to the national capitol tonight to lie in state until the funeral tomorrow.

Thirty-five persons have been killed in Cuba by bombs or bullets in the last four months.

Simpson Wins Over Church for Congress

James Simpson Jr. was declared the Republican nominee for congress in the 10th district yesterday by Circuit Judge Thomas J. Lynch, who had conducted a recount of the votes cast in the April primary. In the original count State Representative Ralph E. Church was the winner by 73 votes. After a number of ballots were voided by the court Simpson became the nominee by 45 votes.

Simpson, member of the younger society set of the north shore, is a beginner in politics. He is the son of the former head of Marshall Field & Co., who is now chairman of the board of Commonwealth Edison, Peoples Gas, and Public Service of Northern Illinois.

Will Oppose Simpson.

State Representative Church, who was attending the special session of the legislature yesterday when the decision was made public, issued a statement at Springfield just before leaving for Chicago in which he announced he would oppose Simpson in the November election.

"I am and shall continue to be a loyal Republican," he said. "It is as a candidate nominated by the Republican voters but deprived of that nomination through a technicality that I shall seek election to congress. This technical legal decision disfranchised 321 conscientious, intelligent voters in one Evanston precinct.

"I shall seek election to congress on the petition filed last week by 15,000 citizens and headed 'Voters' Nomination Shall Prevail'."

Attacks Opponent.

Mr. Church also undertook to link young Mr. Simpson with the Insull crash and charged that a desire to stifle the Insull inquiry was behind Simpson's candidacy.

Simpson campaigned as a wet last spring. Church, a dry during the many years he has served in the state legislature, changed his views and submitted his candidacy as a wet. Both of them ran ahead of the present congressman of that district, Carl R. Chindblom, who remained a dry. Nominee Simpson will also be opposed by Charles H. Weber, the Democratic candidate.

There were 36,531 Republican ballots cast in the primary on a congressional nominee in the 10th district, which is made up of part of the north side of Chicago, all the eastern portion of Cook county north of the Chicago city limits, and all of Lake county.

During the recount, which took three months, Attorney Urban Lavery represented Simpson and Attorneys John P. Tyrrell and Cornelius Harrington represented Church. All are experts on election laws and they were complimented by Judge Lynch on their presentation of the case. As originally tabulated the primary result was:

Church, 29,324; Simpson, 29,251; Chindblom, 23,783; Royal Oscar Johnson, 3,071, and Eric A. Sodersten, 1,102.

Many Spoiled Ballots.

Spoiled ballots which originally had been counted accounted for most of the losses in the recount. The new result reached by John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the board of election commissioners, acting as a special commissioner for Judge Lynch, was:

Church, 28,871; Simpson, 28,916; Chindblom, 23,480; Johnson, 2,982; Sodersten, 1,053.

Church lost many votes through a mistake of an election clerk who initialed ballots as a judge. Other ballots initialed in the front instead of the back were not counted in the final result.

Telephone Girl Traps Suspect in Kidnaping

An alert Glen Ellyn telephone operator helped to effect the capture early this morning of a man suspected of the kidnaping of the owner of a Kenosha soft drink parlor who is being held for $25,000 ransom. The abduction victim is Jess Minkowski, 40 years old, whose place of business is at 6329 14th avenue, Kenosha. He was kidnaped on Monday night.

Held as a result of the telephone operator's alertness is Ray Nolan, 32 years old, who says he lives at 7020 Jeffery avenue, Chicago, and is an automobile salesman. He was seized by Sergt. J. M. Melville and Policeman Roy Beuerman of the Glen Ellyn force.

Mysterious Phone Message.

The setting for Nolan's arrest was laid shortly after 10 o'clock last night when a mysterious message was telephoned to Minkowski's place in Kenosha. Michael Ruffalo, the bartender, answered. The caller asked for Tom McNally, Minkowski's partner.

"We've got Jess," the man announced. "Tell his brother, Joe, to get $25,000 ready tonight."

It was the first word received about Minkowski since his disappearance. Police Chief John T. Sullivan, of Kenosha, had the call traced, and learned the source was Wheaton. He requested the police there and in neighboring communities to be on the lookout for any further calls to Kenosha 8622—Minkowski's number. Telephone operators also were asked to help.

Trapped by Phone Girl.

At midnight a call for Kenosha 8622 came from the Chicago, Aurora & Elgin station in Glen Ellyn. The operator, Miss Anna Morris, flashed Sergt. Melville. Meanwhile she delayed putting through the call, thus holding the man in the station booth.

Sergt. Melville and Policeman Beuerman raced to the station. As they arrived a large car, which had been parked in front, sped away. The policemen ran inside just as Nolan dashed from the booth. Melville seized him.

Police said they were confident he was the man who had put through the call. In doing so, they said, he gave the name of Harris. Nolan denied that he had called the Kenosha number. He said he was in Glen Ellyn visiting a girl.

2 Weeks' Pay for Teachers Reported Near

Two weeks' pay for the school teachers, policemen, firemen, and other unpaid employés of the city and board of education will probably be in the hands of the city treasurer ready for distribution by tomorrow. This was the report in the city hall yesterday, which was regarded as authentic, although officials refused to discuss it.

Mayor Cermak conferred with Chicago bankers last week before he led a party to Washington to secure a loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation for poor relief. Arrangements have since been completed, it was reported, through which the banks will purchase more than $4,000,000 worth of tax anticipation warrants. Approximately $4,290,000 is needed to pay city and school employés for a two weeks' period.

Report Gets Confirmation.

Confirmation of the report came when school board officials asked Auditor Henry Brackett to prepare an estimate of the size of the pay roll needed to pay the school teachers and employés for the first half of April. Mr. Brackett reported that $2,390,000 would be needed, of which $1,900,000 would be for teachers' salaries.

Mayor Cermak said he hoped to have enough money for a two weeks' pay roll this week. In discussing the plight of the unpaid employés, he declared that the special grand jury, if it meets, should investigate the activities of persons who have advised citizens not to pay their taxes.

"The $9,000 allotted to the special grand jury could well be spent in looking into the activities of those who over the radio and by mail advise people not to pay their taxes," he asserted. "The activities of these tax racketeers have done incalculable harm to the credit of the city.

Hold Out for Reduction.

"If taxes were paid public employés' salaries could be paid and millions of dollars put into circulation through the grocer, butcher, and landlord.

"Some taxpayers able to pay are holding out for a 25 per cent reduction. They'll get it over my dead body, because those who have paid must be protected. All I can do towards reducing tax bills is to cut the cost of city government and what I've done in that direction will be shown in the 1931 tax bill which will be 20 to 35 per cent lower than the 1930 bill.

"The grand jury should investigate to ascertain how much the taxpayers have paid to the various tax associations and who got the money. I am wondering if the radio talks of these tax racketeers are not an indictable offense."

Prystalski Plans Statement.

Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court, when informed of the mayor's statement, said he would study the situation and might have a statement to make later this week.

County employés are to receive two weeks' pay today for the last half of May. The sale of $450,000 of 1931 tax warrants to banks made the pay day possible. The county board at a meeting yesterday decided to drop a plan to pay salaries in tax warrants, because of the opposition of the workers.

1,000 INJURED AS PORTO RICO IS DEVASTATED

Santo Domingo Is in Hurricane's Path.

Death and Destruction

SAN JUAN—Two hundred persons estimated killed and 1,000 injured by hurricane in Porto Rico. Property damage is estimated at $85,000,000. Fruit and coffee crops suffer heavy damage. City of San Juan nearly wrecked.

ST. THOMAS—Fifteen lives lost in Virgin islands. Streets of St. Thomas littered with debris. Property loss $200,000.

ATHENS—Earthquake wrecks towns in Macedonia, peninsula of Chalcidice, Greece, and southern Jugo-Slavia. More than 150 persons killed and 250 injured.

[Copyright, 1932, By the Associated Press.]

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 27.—A hurricane swirled through Porto Rico today and lumbered on, leaving a death toll that probably will mount into hundreds, and property damage that will finally be calculated in the many millions of dollars.

Gov. James R. Beverley tonight estimated the dead at more than 200 and the injured at 1,000.

It was the "storm of San Eusepio," named on the feast day of that saint last Monday, when the dread winds first started their relentless northwestward course out of the equatorial Atlantic. Tonight all was over, and much of the island was devastated, just as it was by the storm of San Felipe in 1928, when hundreds lost their lives and $35,000,000 in property damage was wrought.

Heads for Santo Domingo.

It was feared, however, that the hurricane's work of destruction is not finished. Tonight it was reported headed directly for Santo Domingo, capital of the republic of Santo Domingo, and for Port au Prince, Haiti. Reports from Santo Domingo said strong winds swept into the city at 8:30 o'clock tonight and that heavy rain had begun to fall.

After the storm had left Porto Rico Gov. Beverley lost no time in starting relief machinery. He formed an emergency committee and gave it instructions to find shelter and food for the many thousands of destitute and homeless. He promised that insular funds would be placed in the committee's hands tomorrow, pending a definite relief program.

Reports Many Towns Leveled.

The governor's couriers, sent out to gather information on the hurricane, brought him back information upon which he based his estimate of the dead and injured. He said this estimate undoubtedly would be revised upward. Because of broken communication lines there was no way of telling how many dead there were.

Rafael Veve, Jr., assistant general manager of the Fajardo Sugar company, arrived in the capital late today after a fatiguing journey of eight hours from Fajardo, only 30 miles away.

"All the towns between Fajardo and Carolina, more than half the distance to the capital, were leveled," Velve said. "All the plantation houses were destroyed.

"There were 39 dead at Fajardo when I left at 8 a. m. and I saw about 100 dead between Fajardo and Carolina. I can well imagine thousands dead in the districts I traversed."

Fruit and Coffee Crops Ruined.

Starting shortly before last midnight, the 120 mile wind lashed San Juan and the hinterland, wrecking buildings, ripping the roofs from houses and blowing down their side walls, and ruining the valuable citrus fruit and coffee crops.

The loss in the fruit crop alone was estimated at $7,000,000 after a personal inspection of part of the area of devastation. Gov. Beverley said the damage to the coffee crop would be even greater.

The storm put San Juan's water and light facilities out of commission. The manager of the power company said it would be impossible to restore either service before Thursday.

Radio Station Wrecked.

The great steel towers of radio station WKAQ, which was broadcasting during the early part of the storm, lay bent and twisted in the streets. A concrete wall of Tres Banderas, a popular movie theater, was blown in.

Numerous small craft along the waterfront were stove in and driven aground. Several of the piers, notably pier No. 5, were left roofless. Great damage was done to merchandise stored on the docks.

At least 800 of the 1,000 dwellings of the ocean front section of San Juan either were destroyed or damaged so greatly that it was impossible for their occupants to continue living in them. During the night hundreds of families found refuge in the ancient Spanish fort of San Cristobal.

Rescue Women and Children.

The casualty list in San Juan itself was kept down because police, warned in advance of the imminence of the storm, rounded up hundreds of women and children and placed them in churches and school buildings which were much more substantially built than their homes. In the villages little protection of this sort was available.

Gov. Beverley said the heaviest agricultural loss would be the destruction of the coffee crop just coming into harvest. This was the first crop since the coffee plantations were ruined by the storm of 1928.

No Americans Dead.

A preliminary check indicated that none of the Americans living here was killed or injured. But no American resident escaped without property loss.

In the Condado residential section among the many homes unroofed or otherwise damaged was that of United States District Judge Ira K. Wells of Kansas. The judge and Mrs. Wells found shelter elsewhere.

The home of Manuel V. Domenech, insular treasurer, who is now in New York, was unroofed and otherwise damaged, but none of the family was injured. This home was wrecked in the storm of 1928.

By the governor's order, police were instructed to impress into service prisoners in all the jails, letting them work without guards at clearing the roads and streets and reestablishing communication facilities.

Red Cross Rushes Help.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Upon word from Gov. Beverley of Porto Rico that it was feared the entire island had been devastated by the hurricane, the Red Cross late today ordered its chief supply officer to the spot and arranged for a destroyer to carry medical supplies.

Soon after the governor's radio report reached the war department, George Smith, the Red Cross chief supply officer, was ordered to leave in the morning for Miami. He will reach the Florida city at 3 a. m. Thursday and five hours later will leave by airplane for San Juan. Smith spent six months there in hurricane relief in 1928.

Preparing to take care of all medical need in the storm area, Col. Ernest P. Bicknell, vice chairman in charge of insular and foreign affairs, said a destroyer would sail with the necessary supplies immediately information is received on probable requirements.

15 Dead in Virgin Islands.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, Sept. 27.—The Virgin islands suffered severely as a result of the hurricane which struck here yesterday. Property damage was estimated at $200,000. Fifteen lives were lost and boats were sunk in the harbor. The inhabitants are planning to petition the American government for aid. The streets here are littered with the ruins of demolished houses.

150 ARE KILLED AS QUAKE ROCKS SOUTH EUROPE

Greek Peninsula in Ruin; Thousands Homeless.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

ATHENS, Sept. 27.—One hundred and fifty persons are known to have been killed and 1,000 injured on the Greek peninsula of Chalcidice by a series of earthquake shocks which began at 10 o'clock last night and continued with almost unabated violence today. Since many villages were destroyed, with houses collapsing on their inhabitants, it is feared the death toll will be much greater.

The zone of the earthquakes, which were of such violence as to destroy two siesmographs in the Saloniki observatory, extended across the Greek frontier into Bulgaria and South Serbia, where thirty-five persons lost their lives in a quake last spring.

Refugees Tell of Horrors.

In the latter two countries only material damage seems to have been done, but refugees who have begun to reach Saloniki from Chalcidice tell fearful stories of the havoc wrought in the peninsula. They had just retired when a few minutes past 10 o'clock a series of shocks began which continued for an hour with unabated violence. Walls and ceilings fell and those who had time fled in their nightclothes into the darkness.

At dawn the violence of the shocks were somewhat abated and survivors started to make their way across the fissured earth out of the earthquake zone to Saloniki. They reported having seen three villages completely destroyed and eight others in which scarcely a house was standing. The town of Ierissos was in ruins and sixty of its inhabitants were killed.

Rush Relief Measures.

In the town of Statonik 3,000 houses were reported completely destroyed and 100 persons are believed to have met their death. Stegeira, famous as the birthplace of Aristotle, was also destroyed. The Nea Rhoda settlement, mostly occupied by Greek refugees from Turkey, is believed to have suffered a heavy loss of life.

Need among the survivors is great and the government immediately commenced a large scale relief action. Doctors and nurses are being hurried from Saloniki and Athens. A number of injured are receiving attention in the monasteries and nunneries at Athos.

TWO ROB MARKET OF $105.

Two robbers yesterday took $105 from the Pope grocery and market, 2004 East 71st street, after locking the manager, S. Schoenfield, in the basement of the store.

Hurricane Leaves Trail of Destruction

Map indicates the route being followed by the West Indies hurricane which killed at least 215 persons and injured 1,000 others in the Virgin islands and Porto Rico. The hurricane is now reported heading for Santo Domingo and Port au Prince. The map inset shows centers which were devastated in Porto Rico.

CHIEF REBUKES MOVE TO IGNORE G. A. R. TRADITION

Resists Militia Plan to Lead the Parade.

The thin blue line of the Grand Army of the Republic is called to battle again.

This time the veterans are fighting to prevent R. D. Keehn, major general of militia, from taking away their traditional right to arrange their own Memorial day parade. Keehn recently asked Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton to draft an ordinance which would, provided the city council passes it, put the leadership of the annual march in civilian control and let the aged but still sprightly veterans who fought in '61 have inconspicuous seats in the rear.

Demands Fighters' Rights.

Capt. William P. Wright, Chicagoan who was elected national commander of the G. A. R. at Springfield last Thursday, has addressed a vigorous letter to all aldermen and city officials demanding that the Keehn move be rebuked.

First the new commander reviewed the history of the Grand Army Memorial association of Cook county, composed of his organization; the United Spanish War Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Disabled Veterans of the World War, and their auxiliaries.

"Activities for the observance of Memorial days," the captain's letter continued, "were inaugurated fifty years ago by the veterans of the civil war, under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic Memorial association of Cook county.

"The G. A. R. and the organizations uniting with it in this association are opposed to any change which would tend to deprive these veterans of their rightful direction of these activities."

Move Started Last Year.

According to the commander of the civil war soldiers, Keehn's attempt to shove the veterans into the background began at the last Memorial day parade.

"A demand was made then," Capt. Wright said, "that the first division of the parade be given over to the National Guard regiments. When this was not done the National Guard held their own parade and our organizations held one the way we wanted it held. We, as the founders of the parade and as the senior body, are entitled to first place and we won't allow any other group or individual to make the arrangements."

Rome in Darkness While 'Enemy' Planes Bomb City

ROME, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Mimic warfare made Rome tremble tonight as a theoretical invader attacked the capital from above. The city was in darkness but flares from the attackers, shells from anti-aircraft guns, and searchlights that hunted the enemy in the sky gave blazes of light from time to time. Hostile planes dropped bombs that exploded before they touched houses or ground. Flares were dropped to aid the enemy aim.

COOLIDGE HEADS NONPARTISAN RAILWAY SURVEY

Group Seeks Solution of Lines' Many Problems.

New York, Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Appointment of a committee, representatives of both major political parties, to study the present situation of the railroads and to present for public approval their recommendations as to what reforms are necessary, was announced tonight by Walter H. Bennett, president of the Emigrant Industrial Savings bank. Mr. Bennett made public a list of savings bank and investment organizations, insurance companies and educational institutions responsible for the formation of the committee.

Following are the members of the committee, who, Mr. Bennett explained, have within the last 10 days, consented to serve:

Calvin Coolidge, former President of the United States, chairman.

Bernard M. Baruch, financier and a director of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, vice chairman.

Alfred E. Smith, former governor of New York state.

Clark Howell, publisher of the Atlanta Constitution and director of the Associated Press.

Lines Operating at Huge Loss.

The letter of invitation sent to the members of the committee, copies of which Mr. Bennett issued, began with the statement that "the present financial position of the railroads of the United States is a matter of grave concern. Collectively the greatest and most important industry of our country, the railroads have operated in this year at staggering deficits. Only wise and timely federal aid has averted the financial breakdown of important systems."

The letter went on to say that the : tustion involved the livelihood of 1,500,000 railroad employes, the source of 300 million dollars annually in taxes and the value of 19 billion 500 million of railroad securities.

"It has occasioned concern to institutions which hold such obligations among their assets, representing in part the savings of that thrifty portion of our population which is to be found among the policy holders of insurance companies and the depositors in savings banks," continued the letter, which further asserted that the emergency had provoked a strain on the federal treasury and that "any ultimate loss will constitute a burden on every taxpayer."

How Idea Originated.

Mr. Bennett said the idea of invoking a committee of prominent men to focus public attention on the legislative and other needs of the railroads arose among savings banks. He pointed out that the National Association of Mutual Savings banks had recently appointed a committee of which he was a member, to investigate the railroad situation.

After having originated in this quarter Mr. Bennett continued, the idea spread to other institutions who hold large amounts of railroad securities, namely, insurance companies and universities. Among the organizations which are now active in the movement is the Investment Bankers Association of America. Henry H. Sturgis, vice president of the First National bank of New York and a director of the Investment Bankers association, has been active in the movement since soon after it started.

Have Confidence in Coolidge.

Explaining the selection of Mr. Coolidge to head the committee, Mr. Bennett said:

"The country as a whole has a great deal of confidence in Mr. Coolidge and it believes that he will always protect the interest of the individual. I believe him to be a level headed gentleman."

Asked whether the promotion of legislation helpful to the railroads would be the chief aim of the committee Mr. Bennett replied:

"That is my idea of what the members were appointed for."

It was learned today that rival interests to the railroads had been sounded out on the appointment of the committee and that these had indicated their approval of its formation. These interests were understood to include pipe lines and highway transportation systems, which have provided competition which the railroads have contended has been unfair. The interstate commerce commission is also understood to have been informed of the formation of the committee.

SCHOOL DISTRICT TAKES STEPS TO INCREASE TAXES

Possibility that property owners in school district 107, which includes part of Highland Park, might seek to increase their own school tax rates from $3 to $2.30 was hinted at in a massmeeting in the Elm Place school auditorium last night.

The meeting was addressed by Howell W. Murray, president of the district. He said that the two schools in his jurisdiction can operate on a cash basis until April 1. Further operations after that date are doubtful unless funds are raised, he said.

A way out, Mr. Murray suggested, was to take advantage of a recent legislative act which permits school districts to boost their own tax rates. To accomplish this, he said, the property owners in the district must petition the school board, and the board must then call a special election. The attitude of the meeting last night appeared to favor such an election.

OLD DIRECTORS QUIT IN MIDDLE WEST SHAKEUP

Operating Executives Are Picked as Successors.

A complete shakeup in the management of the Middle West Utilities company, the billion dollar holding corporation for Insull utilities operating in thirty-two states, was disclosed last night.

Edward N. Hurley and Charles A. McCulloch, receivers in equity for the gigantic Middle West system serving 6,300,000 customers in the United States and Canada, announced that the entire directorate of fifteen, comprising members of the Insull family and their associates, had resigned.

The old directorate of fifteen, the receivers said, has been replaced by a directorate of ten, comprising Grover C. Neff, new president of Middle West, and the presidents of nine leading subsidiaries of the Middle West system.

Fifteen Officers Resign.

Moreover, the receivers revealed, fifteen of the sixteen officers under the Insull régime have been dropped. Among these are Samuel Insull, former chairman, who is now in Paris; Samuel Insull Jr., former vice chairman, now en route to Paris, and Martin J. Insull, president, who is now in Canada. These three were among those who resigned their directorships.

The only officer retained is Oliver E. McCormick, treasurer. Others resigning were J. Paul Clayton, E. V. Graham, and Dempster MacMurphy, vice presidents; Eustace J. Knight, secretary, and C. E. Packman, auditor. Mr. Packman will continue on the pay roll as an accountant and bookkeeper.

The move was regarded in La Salle street as designed to divorce the Middle West system from all vestige of Insull control and to safeguard the company from efforts, discerned in several quarters, to have it adjudged bankrupt. Middle West has 381,000 stockholders.

Scout Bankruptcy Talk.

Messrs. Hurley and McCulloch dismissed the bankruptcy talk as "poppycock." They reiterated their statement that the company is solvent and declared that the forty-two operating subsidiaries are now in a stronger cash position than at any time in the last five years.

Other directors besides the Insulls who resigned their places are:

WALTER S. BREWSTER, partner in the brokerage house of Russell, Brewster & Co.

BRITTON I. BUDD, former president of and now receiver for the Chicago Rapid Transit company.

E. A. DAVIS, former vice president and controller of Middle West Utilities.

EDWARD J. DOYLE, president of Commonwealth Edison.

LOUIS A. FERGUSON, vice president of Commonwealth Edison.

JOHN F. GILCHRIST, vice president of Commonwealth Edison.

JOHN H. GULICK, vice president of Commonwealth Edison.

E. W. LLOYD, vice president of Northern Indiana Public Service company.

LEWIS E. MYERS, president of the L. E. Myers Construction company and president of the board of education.

EDWARD P. RUSSELL, partner in Russell, Brewster & Co.

MARSHALL E. SAMPSELL, former president of Central Illinois Public Service company.

B. E. SUNNY, former chairman of the board of the Illinois Bell Telephone company.

New Directors Announced.

C. W. AMIDEN, president Kansas Electric Power company, Lawrence, Kas.

L. B. HARRINGTON, president Kentucky Utilities company, Louisville.

W. J. HODGKINS, president Lake Superior District Power company, Ashland, Wis.

JAMES C. KENNEDY, president Central and Southwest Utilities company, Dallas, Tex.

F. E. KRUESI, president Wisconsin Power and Light company, Madison.

L. A. MAGRAW, president Central Illinois Public Service company, Springfield, Ill.

A. W. MOORE, president City Ice company, Kansas City, Mo.

GROVER C. NEFF, president Middle West Utilities company, Chicago.

T. T. PARKER, president Northwestern Public Service company, Omaha.

Receivers Explain Change.

"The plan of having the principal executives who are responsible for the operations of the subsidiary companies acting as members of the board will be of material benefit to the entire organization in assuring more immediate alignment with the central Middle West organization with resultant economy in management," the receivers formally announced.

Discussing the shakeup informally, one of the new executives said that "the old directors were all right, but we wanted to get a group of men who would get behind Mr. Neff's leadership."

President Neff also made an announcement. He said that V. H. Moon, former commercial and new business manager for the Pacific Power and Light company at Portland, Ore., had been appointed to the same position for Middle West, supervising new business for all operating companies within the system.

Swanson Summons "Key Men."

Three "key men" in the old Insull organization, now finally disrupted, were summoned by State's Attorney Swanson last night to appear in his county building office today for questioning concerning their own and Samuel Insull's finances. Mr. Swanson said he would conduct the examination personally.

The men summoned are Mr. Sampsell, former Middle West director and former president of Central Illinois Public Service; P. J. McEnroe, former vice president of the bankrupt Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and of the bankrupt Corporation Securities company, and John F. O'Keefe, former secretary-treasurer of the two bankrupt investment trusts.

Mr. Swanson had intended summoning Samuel Insull Jr. in the same inquiry. This was prevented by young Insull's departure from the United States.

To Probe Loan Deals.

Mr. Sampsell is to be questioned particularly concerning his withdrawal of $400,000 of the $6 preferred stock of his company from the company vault to cover one of his depleted accounts in the stock market.

Mr. McEnroe and Mr. O'Keefe are to be questioned concerning the extensive borrowing, loaning, and transferring of collateral between the investment trusts, as disclosed in the reports of receivers for the trusts. As former confidential secretary to Samuel Insull Sr., Mr. O'Keefe will be questioned concerning the orders given him by his chief.

Direction of the federal investigation of the Insull companies was taken over yesterday by James S. Egan, chief accountant of the United States bureau of investigation, who arrived from Washington at the orders of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau. Mr. Egan was accompanied here by five expert accountants.

Prosecutor Is Surprised.

United States Attorney Dwight H. Green, upon whom will devolve the duty of procuring indictments and prosecuting in the event fraud is discovered, expressed surprise yesterday at the departure of young Insull for Europe to see his mother, who has been reported as seriously ill.

"I had no notice of Mr. Insull's departure until a newspaper man informed me of it," said Prosecutor Green. "I don't know that I would have opposed his going. But if I had known I would certainly have placed him under subpoena."

Reassuring reports concerning the illness of Mrs. Samuel Insull Sr. arrived from Paris. A representative of THE TRIBUNE, calling at the hotel where the Insulls have been staying, was informed that Mrs. Insull had gone for a stroll. Mr. Insull refused to attach any significance to his son's impending visit and declined to comment otherwise.

RIFT REPORTED

New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The American says Alfred E. Smith Jr., son of the former governor of New York, and his wife have separated. The paper says Curtin and Glynn, lawyers, are drawing up a separation agreement.

Mrs. Smith was formerly Bertha Gott, daughter of a Syracuse, N. Y., locomotive engineer. She married Smith eight years ago, in a secret civil ceremony, followed later by services in Holy Cross church here.

Smith is employed by the Curtin and Glynn law firm. The lawyers declined to discuss the reported separation.

The American says several shops have been informed by Smith he will not be responsible for his wife's debts, and says friends of the couple declared they would not carry their differences to court.

DENY SWANSON'S PLEA FOR $50,000 TO PROBE CRIME

Is No Grave Emergency, County Board Holds.

The county board finance committee yesterday denied State's Attorney Swanson's request for a $50,000 fund to press criminal investigations. With only one dissenting vote the committee voted to table the request, on the ground that no grave emergency existed.

A week ago the same committee voted an appropriation of $9,000 for a special grand jury to investigate organized gangs and racketeers and charges of protection accorded them by public officials. The appropriation was carried over protest of four commissioners that the investigation was purely a political attack on the state's attorney. The county board as a whole indorsed the committee's action.

Fisher Jury in Question.

The special grand jury was convened by Circuit Judge Harry Fisher as chief justice of the Criminal court last April in the war of the special grand juries. Judge Fisher appointed his grand jury after Judge Michael Feinberg, then a candidate for the Republican nomination for state's attorney, had summoned another jury to investigate charges of election terrorism. The Feinberg jury was subsequently held illegal by the state Supreme court.

Judge Fisher, who is no longer in the Criminal court, urged the committee to approve the $9,000 appropriation. A question has since been raised as to the legality of the functioning of the special jury.

Defends Swanson Request.

Commissioner William Busse charged yesterday that the move to table Prosecutor Swanson's request was a further evidence of the domination of politics in board affairs. Busse and Commissioner George Miller are the only Republicans on the board.

"The state's attorney is asking for money to carry on bank investigations, the Insull investigation, the bombing of the home of Judge McGoorty and other matters," Commissioner Busse said. "Last Thursday we passed a resolution encouraging and offering cooperation in these investigations. Now you wish to table the request."

"That resolution was only apple sauce," Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb put in.

"Just love and kisses, but no money," said Commissioner Charles Weber.

Orders from Above? He Asks.

"The public will be glad to hear we vote apple sauce and love and kisses," Busse answered. "Have you received orders from above to hamper the state's attorney?"

President Emmett Whealan said the board had no instructions from "above or below."

Miss Amelia Sears, another commissioner, offered the motion to table the request, explaining that she felt that the emergency was not sufficient to warrant granting the plea after the budget had been adopted. She was joined by Mrs. Edward J. Fleming, who had also voted against the Fisher appropriation in committee.

Commissioner Miller also supported motion, "solely to be consistent, because he had voted against the Fisher fund and believed the board should reconsider that appropriation in view of the action on the Swanson request." Busse alone voted against the tabling.

BROOKS' COMET REDISCOVERED BY SCIENTIST

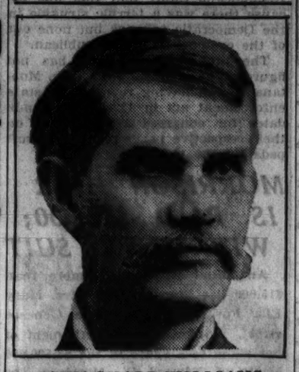
Brooks' comet, a celestial wanderer which has appeared in the skies five times since 1889, has been rediscovered by Prof. George Van Biesbroeck of the staff of Yerkes observatory at Williams Bay, Wis.

Dr. Otto Struve, director of the observatory, said that the comet was of the twelfth magnitude and barely visible. During the appearance of Brooks' comet in the early '90s photographs showed it with a broken and diffused tail. It was supposed then that collisions with meteor swarms had twisted the tail out of the regular contour.

TWO HELD AS SLAYERS.

Francis Crotty, 21 years old, 7545 Wentworth avenue, and Peter Baliciulis, 21 years old, 7903 Rhodes avenue, yesterday were recommended held to the grand jury by a coroner's jury for the murder of Ernest Kampers, killed during a robbery of his meat market Sept. 13.

EX-SENATOR DIES



JOHN SHARP WILLIAMS.

J. S. WILLIAMS, EX-SENATOR OF MISSISSIPPI, DIES

Once Polled All Votes Cast in His State.

Yazoo City, Miss., Sept. 28 [Wednesday].—(AP)—John Sharp Williams, 78 years old, former United States senator from Mississippi and one of the south's outstanding statesmen, died at his home near Denton at midnight.

Williams' political philosophy was known to every school child in Mississippi and neighboring states. He was a brilliant orator whose tongue had a sting that made him a scourge to opponents. His break with James K. Vardeman was the beginning of one of the most intense and dramatic political feuds that the south ever knew.

Vardeman was himself a master of oratory and he and Williams broke over issues and served together in the senate. Williams was a stanch follower of Woodrow Wilson and Vardeman was an opponent of the war president on issues paramount at that time.

Lived on His Plantation.

After his retirement from the senate Williams went to his plantation near here and said he was through with politics. But, every now and then, he spoke a word for his party.

Senator Williams had been ill for a long time, but recently had rallied and seemed to be in much better health.

One of the last of the statesmen of the "old south," Mr. Williams was for years a picturesque figure in congress. He was born in Memphis, Tenn., in 1854. During the last years of his 25 years in Washington Senator Williams' activities on the senate floor were circumscribed by increasing deafness, to which many of his friends attributed in part, at least, his decision made during the campaign of 1922 to retire to his cotton plantation in Yazoo county.

A Skilled Parliamentarian.

A student, a master of several languages, and equipped with a vast fund of information, Senator Williams was besides a skilled parliamentarian, keen of wit and endowed with generous humor. He specialized in political issues of national moment and often presented voluminous data and an array of statistics which disconcerted his opponents. He also gave much study to international problems and politics and was second in rank among the Democrats on the foreign relations and finance committees.

Americanism was the text of many of his Senate addresses. He abhored and denounced sectionalism on every occasion and, while cherishing and praising the Civil War memories of the south he pleaded often for a united America.

Mr. Williams was married on Oct. 2, 1877, at Livingston, Ala., to Dial Webb, daughter of Dr. Robert Dickens Webb. They had seven children.

Soldier Who Went to Aid Custer Too Late Is Dead

Boston, Mass., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Sergt. John Gorham, who had a distinguished army record, is dead at the home of his son. He enlisted in 1875. Sergt. Gorham was one of the expedition which hurried to the aid of Gen. Custer and part of his command, only to find they had been slaughtered by a much larger force of Sioux indians.

Layton Named for Governor by Delaware Democrats

Dover, Del., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Landreth L. Layton of Georgetown was today nominated for governor by the Delaware Democratic state convention.

BURGLARS ELUDE POLICE AFTER 3 GUN BATTLES

One of Bandits Believed Wounded.

Four window breaking burglars, said to be the same gang which has operated throughout Chicago for ten months despite traps laid for their capture, again escaped police early yesterday after three separate shotgun and revolver battles with four police squads.

The gang's activities of yesterday morning ended when police came upon them in front of 310 East 39th street as they shifted $2,000 in loot from the automobile used in two burglaries into a second car. The bandits sped away in the second car and outdistanced Sergt. Michael Ryan and his detective bureau squad. In the bullet riddled automobile abandoned by the gunmen, police found 85 dresses taken from the window of the Cornell Frocks, Inc., 1623 East 55th street, and 87 dresses obtained from the window of a Sally Frock shop at 2754 Milwaukee avenue. Blood stains on the right side of the front seat convinced police that at least one of the gang had been wounded in the battles with police.

Gangsters Elude Police.

The burglary gang was first sighted at Kedzie and Milwaukee avenues at 3:30 a. m., after the gangsters had smashed the Sally Frock shop window, gathered the dresses, and sped away. Policeman Robert T. Fisher and a squad from the Shakespeare avenue station gave chase and exchanged shots with the gunmen. The faster car of the burglars outdistanced the police squad at Chicago and Kedzie avenues.

An hour later the burglars broke the window of the Cornell Frocks store and carried off 85 dresses. A Hyde Park police squad, composed of Maurice Mahoney and Edward Quinn, was summoned by radio and encountered the gang at 51st street and the Outer drive. Joined by a second Hyde Park squad, commanded by Sergt. James McLaughlin, Mahoney and Quinn engaged the gunmen in a running gun battle to Michigan avenue and 39th street, where the police were outdistanced.

Sergt. Ryan and his squad, who had been given a description of the automobile of the burglars, came upon them a short time later as they were transferring the loot on East 39th street. The abandoned car had been stolen on Monday from J. E. Donovan, 255 Addison street, Riverside.

Like a Wild West Gang.

The gang first appeared several weeks before Christmas last year. Operating in wild west fashion, they smashed windows in loop stores and escaped with thousands of dollars in merchandise.

LONDON, Sept. 27. — Winston Churchill had a relapse today after his reported convalescence from a recent attack of typhoid fever while on a vacation at Salzburg, Austria. He was taken from his home to a hospital tonight. "He is very ill and very weak, but his condition is not dangerous," medical advisers said at midnight.

GUARD AGAINST TERROR REIGN IN MASSACHUSETTS

Boston, Mass., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—City and state authorities today took precautions to prevent a possible communist reign of terror in Massachusetts. Guards are protecting the homes of a number of the leading citizens of the commonwealth.

This action was taken following the bombing of the home of Judge Webster Thayer, the magistrate who sentenced to death Nicola Sacco and Bartholomeo Vanzetti, who were convicted of murder in connection with a pay roll holdup in South Braintree.

The two were put to death in 1927. During the trial and since that time the case was given worldwide attention. Communists and radicals in this country claimed the man were "framed" and convicted not as pay roll robber murderers but as victims of politics.

Bolshevik Agitation Possible.

The Russian bolshevik government and the communists in America claimed the men were innocent of crime, were convicted on purely circumstantial evidence, and really were sentenced because of their political beliefs.

There have been many threats of retaliation and authorities believe the communist-radical element has at last begun its war of revenge.

Among those safeguarded are former Gov. Alvan Fuller and Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard university.

Police officials, after making as thorough an examination as possible of the ruins of the Thayer home, declared that there was no question it had been destroyed by bombs.

Blamed for Death Penalty.

After Judge Thayer sentenced Sacco, a shoe worker, and Vanzetti, a fish peddler, to death, Gov. Fuller refused the men executive clemency. Dr. Lowell was one of a committee of three appointed by the governor to make recommendations as to the guilt or innocence of the men after their conviction.

The explosion in the jurist's home tore out the entire rear part of the house, destroyed a garage in the yard and damaged six other houses in the vicinity.

Judge Thayer was tossed from his bed, but escaped without serious injury. He was unable to get out, however. Mrs. Thayer, in another room, was struck on the head by falling debris and was stunned. Egress from her room also was blocked and the couple were rescued by firemen.

Three Trapped in Wreckage.

In the house also was Miss Joan Ashe, a maid, asleep in an attic room. She was trapped there when the stairway leading from the second floor was torn away by the explosion.

Mrs. Thayer was sent to a hospital. Judge Thayer, calm in the face of misfortune, merely remarked:

"I hate to think that because a man does his duty to God and country he gets this."

He was asked if he believed the communist friends of Sacco and Vanzetti were responsible for the outrage.

"You will not get me to say that," he replied. "That is for the police to determine."

Gov. Joseph B. Ely, who hurried to Worcester as soon as he learned of the blast, extended his sympathy to Judge Thayer and assured him that every resource of the state would be thrown into the search for the perpetrators of the crime.

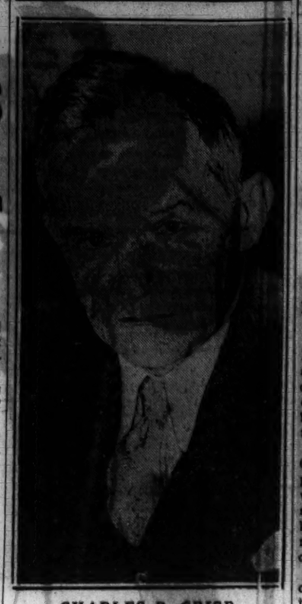
"I shall suggest to the executive council at its meeting Friday that a large reward be offered for information leading to their arrest and conviction," he said.

Threatened and Denounced.

One of the jurors in the Sacco-Vanzetti case, Lewis McHardy of Milton, was bombed on Aug. 16, 1927. He and his family escaped uninjured, but the interior of their home was wrecked.

Since that time Judge Thayer had received hundreds of threats. He has been, moreover, one of the principal targets of communist orators who have accused him of prejudice against the defendants. This has so weighed upon him that he has taken occasion to defend himself against the charges. To have followed any other course, he has claimed, would have branded him "a judicial coward."

ON TARIFF BOARD



CHARLES R. CRISP.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—President Hoover today appointed Representative Charles R. Crisp of Georgia as a member of the tariff commission. Mr. Crisp became a lame duck recently through his defeat for the senatorship in the Georgia Democratic primaries. He will fill the vacancy recently created by the death of Lincoln Dixon of Indiana. Mr. Dixon was a Democrat. According to law, the tariff commission of six members must not number more than three members of any one party.

Mr. Crisp began his career in the 54th congress when he served out the term of his father, Speaker Charles F. Crisp. He returned to the house in 1913 and has been there continuously since. As ranking Democrat on the ways and means committee he superintended and was chiefly responsible for the writing of the new revenue bill at the last session.

Following his appointment Mr. Crisp called at the White House. There he said he would be ready to resign his house seat within ten days. This will require his successor to be given a special place on the Georgia ballot, to fill Mr. Crisp's unexpired term.

MONTANA STILL CAN BE CLASSED DOUBTFUL STATE

Shows Little Regard for Either Candidate.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Butte, Mont., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Montana is another silver producing state that is scrutinising the attitude of each of the presidential candidates on the silver rehabilitation question but without getting any real satisfaction out of either.

When Gov. Roosevelt was here 10,000 persons, one-fourth of the present population of the Butte mining camp, which includes the city, came out to see and hear him. They displayed little enthusiasm for the candidate, the reason for which has been a subject of hectic discussion ever since.

According to one theory it was because the Democratic candidate failed to espouse the cause of remonetization of silver as a means of boosting the market price of the metal, now down to 28 cents an ounce.

No Mood to Cheer.

According to another view, the 10,000 persons who gathered to hear the candidate were largely the unemployed—men and women face to face with starvation but for organized relief—who could not cheer with their thoughts on where their next meal was coming from. They could not cheer anybody, it is opined, not even the brown derby over whom they went wild in this community only four years ago.

With the Butte mines shut down the population of the city and mining camp has shrunk from 60,000 to 40,000, the other 20,000 having drifted away largely to the rural districts where living is cheaper. There are 2,200 families and 800 single men on the relief rolls, which accounts for more than 10,000 persons or one-fourth of the remaining population.

The Anaconda Copper company is contributing $1,000 a day and the business community has assessed itself two per cent of its income for relief. Altogether $250,000 has been raised and the state is borrowing $300,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Discontent Is Everywhere.

Discontent is rife everywhere—not only in the mining communities but in the agricultural sections of the Bitter Root valley and the eastern half of the state.

The farmers are staggering under a burden of debt that ever grows heavier. The latest accretions have been from the seed and feed borrowings of the federal government. There are only 48,000 farms in the state, yet the eight seed and feed loans have added approximately three million dollars to the debt of its farmers. Both parties adopted state platforms urging congress to modify the terms of these loans. Many persons are contending that Uncle Sam should waive collection altogether.

There is widespread dissatisfaction with the Reconstruction Finance corporation for refusing to accept as security for loans the state's six millions of debentures issued in anticipation of revenue from the five cents a gallon gasoline tax which yields three millions a year. The state wanted the loans to finance road construction and could not understand the Reconstruction Finance corporation's refusal to construe such work a self-liquidating project.

Out of 100 irrigation projects in the state, 28 are bankrupt. The Reconstruction Finance corporation declined to make loans on these projects on the ground that they are not self-liquidating. Another cause of dissatisfaction with the government's great depression relief institution: banks and railroads get all they want, runs the common complaint, and the "forgotten man" gets nothing.

Such conditions are reacting against the fortunes of the Republicans and making votes for Roosevelt, one hears, and yet significantly enough there are Democratic leaders who are not so sure that the New York governor will carry Montana.

While grain growers and stockmen are broke and borrowing they are far better off in this state, it is pointed out, than they were last year when they were hard hit by the drought and compelled to accept charity from the Red Cross. Last year the wheat crop was only 15,000,000 bushels; this year it is 59,000,000, the second largest yield in the state's history. The barley crop is enormous and is being fed to cattle. The hay crop is a record breaker. The wool clip will touch from 30 to 35 million pounds.

Producers are making no money on these products at present prices and in the case of wheat the yield this year is swelling the surplus from which the wheat grower is suffering. But the point is made that the farmers have produced bountiful crops this year compared with last and are eating this year whereas they were starving last year. Beef is going up, pork prices are improving and with business reviving in the east, stock raisers are feeding extensively with a view to meeting an increased demand for meat and wool clothing next year.

These are cited as factors that are tending to counteract the depression reaction against the party in power, which may be sufficient to enable Mr. Hoover to carry Montana if by only a slight plurality.

On the other hand, Democratic leaders point to the greatly increased vote in the Democratic primaries this year as evidence of the Democratic trend in the street. For the first time more votes were cast in the Democratic than in the Republican primaries. The Republicans retort that this was because there was a terrific struggle in the Democratic primary but none out of the ordinary in the Republican.

The prohibition question has not figured conspicuously up to date. Montana is wet, having repealed its state enforcement act in 1924. The candidates for congress are standing on their respective party planks but soft pedaling the issue.

GRUNDY COUNTY HAS NO DEBTS AND CASH ON HAND; CUTS TAX

Morris, Ill., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Grundy county probably holds the record for financial conditions in the state. It owes no bills, has some money in its treasury, has no bonded indebtedness or tax warrants standing against it. The county rate of tax for next year will be 35 cents, which is 2½ cents below the legal limit.

Farmers of the county have organized in the 17 townships of the county in favor of the farmers' holiday movement. With their backs to the wall, it was stated, there was no hope for better times and there was nothing to be lost by joining the holiday movement. No drastic methods are expected, but each farmer pledges himself to keep his products from the market until the price is right.

MORRISON HEIR IS PAID $15,000; WITHDRAWS SUIT

An initial payment of more than $15,000 has been made to Mrs. Mary Ella Fowler, of 714 North Genesee street, Waukegan, in a settlement of her claim to a share in the $3,500,000 estate of Edward W. Morrison, the "millionless millionaire," it became known yesterday.

At the same time it was reported that all other claims have virtually been settled and that the litigation which began in 1917, is near an end. There are at least fourteen other claimants of varying degrees of kinship. Mrs. Fowler is a grandniece.

The settlement to Mrs. Fowler was certified last week before Judge Thomas Taylor Jr., of the Circuit court, and her suit, filed June 13, this year, seeking a distribution of the estate, was dropped. No estimate of her share could be learned last night.

"We have agreed not to reveal the terms of the settlement," said her husband, Frank T. Fowler, former Chicago alderman, and now a Waukegan publisher. "I will say that the $15,000 represented only the first payment. There will be others later."

Although Jerome J. Sladkey, Mrs. Fowler's attorney, refused to discuss the case it was learned that whatever settlements are made to the heirs, sufficient funds will remain to finance the building of the "Morrison Home for the Aged," as provided for in Morrison's will and trust.

Morrison, a retired sea captain, died in 1929 at the age of 93.

MRS. HENRY FORD JOINS BOARD TO SUPPORT HOOVER

Mrs. Henry Ford, wife of the automobile manufacturer, is supporting President Hoover for reelection, and will serve on the women's board of counselors for the Hoover campaign. The board includes many noted women. Mrs. Ellis A. Yost, director of the women's division of the Republican national committee at the Palmer house, announced the addition of Mrs. Ford's name to the board yesterday.

"The board of counselors is assisting the women's division during the campaign," Mrs. Yost said, "and Mrs. Ford has assured us of her desire to aid. She feels that the reflection of President Hoover is imperative for the nation and she wants to do all she can to help."

Mrs. Ford is active in the Women's National Farm and Garden association. She has been a leader in establishing a system of roadside markets.

U. S. NAVY WINS BENNETT TROPHY IN BALLOON RACE

BASEL, Switzerland, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The United States navy balloon was tentatively declared winner of the James Gordon Bennett cup race tonight and second place was accorded the other American entry, "Goodyear No. 8."

The navy bag, carrying Lieutenant Commander G. W. Settle and Wilfred Bushnell, was credited with exceeding the distance of the Goodyear entry, with W. T. Van Orman and R. J. Blair aboard, by 153 kilometers (about 91 miles). The French entry, "Petit Mousse," was third and the Polish "Polonia" fourth.

Last to come down of the 16 balloons which started from here in the classic race on Sunday afternoon, the navy bag landed at 10 a. m. today on the Polish-Latvian border. The bag was slightly damaged in the landing. Van Orman, making a bid for a third successive victory in the Bennett race, brought the Goodyear balloon down at 9 p. m. last night near Bagotoji, 20 miles from Kaunas. Others were grounded at various points in Poland, Czechoslovakia, and upper Silesia.

MOTHER OF THREE ENDS LIFE.

Mrs. Josephine Prudzik, 38 years old, mother of three children, shot and killed herself in her home at 1100 North Hermitage avenue yesterday morning. She was despondent over ill health.

SHOUSE GROUP BACKS McADOO'S FOE FOR SENATE

Anti-Dry Association Asks Election of Tubbs.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Jouett Shouse, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, brought a note of cheer to the White House tonight with the announcement that his organization will support Tallant Tubbs rather than William G. McAdoo in the California senatorial race.

In disclosing the plans of his organization, Mr. Shouse, former executive chairman of the Democratic national committee, said that McAdoo had not made his position clear on the prohibition question. He stated also that the associations feared the cause of prohibition repeal might be retarded or embarrassed by the election of Mr. McAdoo. It therefore urged, he said, that California advocates of prohibition repeal vote for Mr. Tubbs.

Mills Starts West Today.

The Shouse announcement increased the optimism held in administration circles on the California political situation. Although Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential candidate, received a big reception in California, President Hoover has steadfastly held that he would get the electoral vote of that state.

The President does not now plan to go to California during the campaign. Secretary of the Treasury Mills has been delegated the task of fighting the President's battles in that state and he will leave for the west coast tomorrow. Secretary Mills has been assigned the task of answering Gov. Roosevelt's speeches and of presenting President Hoover's case for reelection to the people of the west. He will deliver seven speeches, the last in Chicago on Oct. 13.

In his announcement, Mr. Shouse said that the executive committee of the association against prohibition had voted unanimously to support Mr. Tubbs, the nominee of the Republican party.

Call McAdoo Vague on Stand.

"There are three candidates," he said. "Mr. Tubbs, the nominee of the Republican party, throughout his campaign for the nomination was definite in his position for repeal. The Democratic nominee is William G. McAdoo. His position has not been made clear.

"As a member of the resolutions committee at the Democratic national convention he opposed both in committee and on the floor the repeal plank which was finally adopted. So far as is known he has refused to commit himself in favor of repeal in response to questionnaires sent him. In a publication by the California division of our association issued before the primary he was listed as having been 'aligned with the anti-saloon league.'

Urge Tubbs' Election.

"Our association believes that the cause of repeal will be distinctly advanced by the election of Mr. Tubbs; that it might be retarded or embarrassed by the election of Mr. McAdoo; and, therefore it urges those who believe that the 18th amendment should be eliminated from the constitution to vote for Mr. Tubbs in November."

Former Postmaster General Harry S. New, long a political foe of Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], stated today that he sent a letter to his former senatorial colleague offering to campaign for him. The former Harding-Coolidge cabinet member expects to spend considerable time on the Republican firing line this fall. His first speech, to be delivered from Washington, tomorrow, will be an attack on the farm speech delivered at Topeka by Gov. Roosevelt.

SEEKS DIVORCE

URSULA PARROTT.

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Ursula Parrott, famous woman novelist who in private life is Mrs. Katherine T. Greenwood of New York and Wilton Conn., has filed suit for divorce against her husband, Charles T. Greenwood, banker-broker of New York City, charging intolerable cruelty.

The suit for divorce, which asks return of the novelist's maiden name, was filed in civil Superior court here June 1, but did not become public until today when through his counsel, Attorney Frank E. Jamorzy of Stamford, Mr. Greenwood today filed an answer denying the allegation of intolerable cruelty.

The couple were married Oct. 14, 1931, and there are no children.

RUTHIE ISN'T BLIND, EVEN IF HONEST JACK IS

Andrew Johnson, who will be 77 years old next March, was busy distilling his peppermint crop [hold off, prohibition agents, it's not intoxicating] on his farm near Grovertown, Ind., last Aug. 26, when an automobile drew up in his front yard.

From the car stepped three well dressed men. One was blind. He was led by the others into the Johnson parlor.

"I am Mr. Jackson," the blind man said, "of the Chase National bank in New York. I have heard that you own 25 shares of a utility company that is going into a receivership. You may never have heard of me, but I am known as Honest Jack, and if you will sign over this stock I'll sell it and give you $2,500 worth of Standard Oil stock for it. I don't want you to lose in the receivership."

Mr. Johnson let him have the certificate for his stock and it was duly sold in Chicago. The police learned that later. But the farmer got no money. Fortunately his 13 year old granddaughter, Ruth Johnson, had taken the license number of the automobile and written it down. With this clew Detectives Edward Connor and Patrick McNamara of Chicago went to work. Yesterday they arrested Moe Schoenberg, 36 years old, at 7233 Phillips avenue. Schoenberg is blind. Last night the Johnsons identified him at the detective bureau as the swindler.

FARLEY CLAIMS ENTIRE WEST FOR ROOSEVELT

Democratic Manager Here —Tells of Tour.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Claims that "every state west of the Mississippi" will be carried by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt were placed before the local Democrats yesterday by James A. Farley, Roosevelt manager and chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Mr. Farley, en route for New York, reviewed the political results of Gov. Roosevelt's tour to the Pacific at a luncheon at the Congress attended by 1,000 party chieftains and ward and precinct workers. He stuck to his old prophesy of a Democratic landslide of proportions greater than any in political history and remarked, "I'm not conceding a single state to the Republicans."

Predict Illinois Victory.

Not to be outdone in forecasts, Mayor A. J. Cermak, Bruce Campbell of Belleville, downstate manager, and others predicted that Illinois will go for Roosevelt for president, Judge Horner for governor, and the rest of the Democratic state ticket by 500,000 to 750,000 plurality and will send a preponderantly Democratic delegation to congress and elect a Democratic state legislature. Afterwards Mr. Farley, Mayor Cermak, and the party workers held a brief conference in which information was exchanged on detailed situations. The Roosevelt manager left at 3 o'clock for New York, after an absence in the west of almost a month.

Clayton Smith presided at the luncheon, and Mayor Cermak served as toastmaster.

Enthusiasm Is Boundless.

"The west is safe for the Democratic ticket," said Mr. Farley. "The sentiment which I found throughout the west on my trip a year ago I found in full measure on this trip. One would have to be on the Roosevelt train to appreciate the boundless enthusiasm. Everywhere Gov. Roosevelt went he was given a great reception.

"I have seen great demonstrations in New York, such as that which attended the arrival of Col. Lindbergh, but I have never seen anything to equal the demonstrations for Gov. Roosevelt in Seattle, San Francisco, and Los Angeles. They were spontaneous. And in the little communities in Idaho, Wyoming, and other states, great crowds greeted the train.

"Last night I was in Kansas, and the Democrats there feel that Roosevelt will carry Kansas, the only state I was doubtful of. Roosevelt will carry California by a substantial plurality."

Finds Harmony Downstate.

Mr. Campbell, as downstate Democratic manager, predicted downstate as well as Cook county would go strongly for Roosevelt, Horner, and the rest of the ticket.

"The party has never had such harmony," said Mr. Campbell.

Melvin A. Traylor, who was among the candidates at the Democratic national convention, likewise dwelt upon Democratic chances.

"We have a leader," he said, "who will bring back the day when people will work and eat and enjoy the products of their labor and do not have to live on the charity of Republican prosperity."

James Simpson Jr. declared the G. O. P. congressional candidate in Tenth district.

URGE INCREASED SPEED BY BUSES AND STREET CARS

Greater speed for electric street cars and buses in the large cities was advocated at the convention of the American Electric Railway association in the Stevens hotel yesterday. Modern city street cars are capable of fifty miles an hour, but because of traffic congestion on their tracks they are forced to drag along at ten miles an hour and less, it was said.

The annual electric traction high speed trophy was awarded to the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad, running between Chicago and Milwaukee. The North Shore line maintained an average schedule speed of 51.27 miles an hour over the last six months' period.

Paul Wilson, vice president of the Cleveland Railways company, told how city officials had helped that company in speeding up its street cars by assigning a few motorcycle police to patrol the tracks in congested areas to keep traffic moving.

PRINCE OF WALES SHOCKS DENMARK WITH HIS ATTIRE

COPENHAGEN, Sept. [illegible] (AP)—The prince of Wales' final appearance in connection with the British trade exhibition here today convinced observers of his genius as a salesman, but failed to impress sartorial experts, who recalled his reputation as "the well dressed man." In fact, the same experts appeared to be rather shocked at the prince's attire. He attended a luncheon in his honor given by Danish trade organizations in a cutaway coat with a striped shirt and soft collar.

Woman Named Candidate for Senate in So. Carolina

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Miss Clara Harrigal of Aiken, national committeewoman for the state, was announced today by the South Carolina Republican party as its candidate for the United States senate to oppose Senator E. D. Smith, the Democratic nominee, in the November general election.

John Bernard Owen, 30 years old, 5640 South Aberdeen street, submitted yesterday when two robbers took $20 and his shoes in an alley near Wells and Washington streets. But when one of them returned to search for overlooked loot, Owen became indignant. He seized the bandit and yelled for a policeman. Locked up at the Central station, the robber identified himself as Philip Panpilo, 29 years old, 318 South Halsted street.

ROOSEVELT TOUR HELP TO HOOVER, SAY G. O. P. CHIEFS

Republicans Tell Reaction in Western Trip.

Claims that "Roosevelt is a big vote getter for Hoover" as made by Republican leaders in six states traversed by the Democratic nominee on his western trip were set forth yesterday by Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican national committee.

Scores of letters and telegrams giving the Republican view of the effects of the Roosevelt platform addresses have come into Palmer house headquarters, the burden of them being that the Roosevelt speeches have strengthened Hoover.

The Republicans are building great hope upon the address President Hoover is to make in Des Moines next Tuesday. Word at headquarters yesterday was that the President may discuss nearly every topic to which his Democratic adversary has addressed himself, in addition to agriculture, and the Iowa appearance is regarded by the Republicans as perhaps the pivotal address in their campaign.

Quotes Senator Capper.

Chairman Sanders gave out reports from selected Republicans in six western states. From Kansas, Senator Capper wired:

"In Gov. Roosevelt's farm program, as outlined in his Topeka speech, I find nothing we have not been milling over in congress for the last eight to ten years. He did not say how the holders of 9,468 million dollars worth of farm mortgages could or would be induced to ease up on the hard pushed farmer borrower. In fact, he did not tell us how he would carry out any one of the items in his program.

"The governor almost approved the equalization fee, the debenture plan and the allotment plan, but was careful not to name any one of them.

"His large audience of Kansas farmers, who came with hopes aroused, were disappointed with amiable nothings, as beautiful an array of glittering generalities as ever has been unloaded by any candidate on a Kansas audience."

From Idaho, P. R. Parry, Republican state chairman, wired that Idaho was disappointed that Gov. Roosevelt did not take a stand on the silver question.

"The citizens of five mountain states," he wrote, "believe there is some way to stimulate the stagnant silver mining industry, and Gov. Roosevelt has been held as the Moses to show the way. The governor did not mention the silver question at all."

Sees Gain for Hoover.

In Oregon, Hoover gained by the Roosevelt visit according to Ralph E. Williams of Portland, vice chairman of the Republican national committee, who wrote Mr. Sanders:

"Gov. Roosevelt had been heralded as a student of the power question. The people of Oregon have made a great study of this problem for years. To the great amazement of those who heard him, he appeared to know less about the power question than the average citizen here.

"The people of Oregon know and appreciate that President Hoover has stood for a proper regulation of public utilities in the interest of the consumer and that he has already secured legislation which has been very helpful in that direction.

"The people of this part of the country were also very much interested in knowing how Gov. Roosevelt stood on the question of the immediate payment of the soldier bonus, but the governor made absolutely no mention of the bonus question."

Injured by Tariff Stand.

Mark E. Reed, national committeeman in Washington, wrote Mr. Sanders that the voters expected to hear something from Gov. Roosevelt on the lumber industry. "Instead," wrote Reed, "the governor voiced the old Democratic theory of low tariffs or 'competitive' tariffs, or no tariffs at all and protested in generalities against the Republican principal of protection. The people here long ago learned their lesson about the Democratic 'competitive' tariffs."

Mark L. Requa, national committeeman of California, wrote that the Roosevelt visit was a "failure, from the standpoint of winning votes," while from Utah, Byron D. Anderson, Republican state chairman, wrote Mr. Sanders that the Roosevelt Salt Lake address was a "bitter disappointment" to the voters.

"To their surprise," he said, "instead of a concrete panacea for boosting the price of silver and other metals, he offered in well phrased generalities suggestions for a solution of the railroad problem, which President Hoover has been working out in a definite orderly way. This cribbing of Hoover's ideas did not fool Roosevelt's Utah hearers."

ASSEMBLY URGED TO PASS STATE HOUSING BILLS

Would Enable Illinois to Get U. S. Loans.

Endorsements by civic organizations and real estate associations of the housing bills now pending before the special session of the legislature were made public yesterday by Alfred K. Stern, chairman of the Illinois Housing commission. The housing bills would permit the borrowing of money from the Reconstruction Finance corporation for the purpose of improving housing conditions in the tenement districts of Chicago and other cities. Among the indorsements made public were the following:

ALFRED K. STERN.

J. Soule Warterfield, president, Chicago Real Estate board: "In the emergency which exists, with the tremendous unemployment in the construction business, the real estate board has endorsed the proposed housing legislation which will make funds available for the construction of housing facilities in the blighted areas of the city of Chicago."

George F. Nixon, president, Illinois Association of Real Estate boards: "We endorse the proposed housing legislation."

Samuel M. Hastings, president, Illinois Manufacturer's association: "Directors of the association have gone on record in favor of the proposed housing bills."

E. M. Craig, secretary, Building Construction Employers association: "The association is heartily in favor of the passage of the comprehensive housing act sponsored by the Illinois Housing commission."

Daniel H. Burnham, chairman of the committee on the Chicago plan, Commercial club: "I endorse and urge the passage of the proposed housing legislation."

Citizens' Association of Chicago: "We urge passage of the legislation in view of the urgent necessity of doing everything possible to cope with the critical unemployment situation which menaces the welfare of Chicago and the state."

Mrs. Murry Nelson, president, Woman's City club: "We feel that passage of the bill will provide the clearing of slum areas and the building of low rental apartments for wage earners under auspicious conditions."

Burke Williamson, secretary, City club: "The board of directors has voted its indorsement of the housing bill."

Henry P. Chandler, president, Union League club: "The public affairs committee has indorsed the housing bill."

The state federation of labor has urged the legislature to pass the housing bills. The Chicago Association of Commerce has also indorsed the bills, with the proviso that no additional bureaus be created as a result of the acts.

TEACHERS MEET TODAY TO DISCUSS WAGE SITUATION

Members of the south side teachers' group will meet this afternoon at the Hyde Park High school to discuss the pay situation, Miss Helen Israel, chairman of the organization, announced yesterday.

One of the matters for discussion will be the advisability of signing letters stating that the teachers will walk out of the classrooms unless they are paid by Oct. 14. The letters have been distributed in many schools and have been addressed to city officials.

Frederick T. Wilhelms, president of the Chicago High School Teachers' association, announced that his group would meet tomorrow night at the Woman's City club.

Tokio Discredits Radio Report of Lost Flyers

TOKIO, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Government aviation bureau officials and the flight promoters expressed doubt today that mysterious radio messages reported by a Tacoma, Wash., operator could produce clews indicating the whereabouts of the missing Japanese good will flyers. Japanese aviation experts were still of the opinion that the three airmen were lost in the Kurile islands Saturday after taking off from Samushiro Beach for Nome, Alaska. The search is being concentrated in the middle of the Kuriles.

SLAYING SUSPECT IS FREED.

James De George yesterday was freed on a charge of accessory to the murder of Charles Argento, business agent of a bakers' union, who was shot to death Aug. 31. Police investigators told Municipal Judge Jonas that De George was not connected with the killing.

A waste of good money to dip expensive clothes in the suds of cheapened soap flakes!

Mammoth boxes of cheapened soap flakes—offered at a bargain price—may smile enticingly. But watch your step! All too often they contain free lye and other harsh ingredients, which, in a single washing, can rob pretty fabrics of their freshness . . . dull their colors . . . age them long before their time!

Women who manage Chicago's best appointed homes take no chances. For them there is just one soap—American Family.

"It's one soap that's a match for Chicago's dirt," says Mrs. Vincent E. Healy, "and yet so pure that my most delicate silks and linens keep their loveliness for ages. Even our sweaters and my jersey dresses never fade or shrink in these gentle suds."

"I've tested this soap for twenty-five years on fabrics, china and art ware," adds Mrs. Arthur A. Small, "and every piece is as good as the day I got it. This silk," unfolding a piece of shimmering gold cloth, "has been used and laundered in American Family Flakes for more years than most silks last, and it still looks brand new."

"I wouldn't trust my things to any other soap," remarks Mrs. Stuart Logan. "We buy American Family Flakes by the two-dozen packages, and use it for all our household cleaning."

Think of the dollars such wear saves! Dollars in sheets and towels that serve steadily through the years . . . dollars in play clothes and underthings that remain bright and strong through repeated washings . . . dollars in lovely silk frocks and sheer hosiery that amaze you with their unending freshness! No wonder the majority of all Chicago housewives use no other soap or flakes but Kirk's American Family. Created especially for the hard water of this Great Lakes region, it makes double the suds of ordinary soaps. And it's the double-suds that makes the difference.

Start using American Family Flakes and Soap today. You'll be rewarded with softer, whiter hands—a sure sign of purity in soap!

Mrs. Healy, besides being a capable mother, is a sports enthusiast; she enjoys tennis, golf, swimming, riding and the races. Perhaps one of the reasons she can devote so much time to these things is because American Family stands always ready to speed through her kitchen and laundry work.

MRS. STUART LOGAN

ASSEMBLY COLD TO HOUSING CODE IN RELIEF PLANS

Failure of Proposal Is Foreseen.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Leaders of both chambers of the general assembly agree tonight that as a result of developments in the house of representatives the legislative program sponsored by the state housing commission — a program that would open the way for loans of 25 or 50 million dollars from the Reconstruction Finance corporation for the replacement of slum districts, particularly in Chicago, with modern tenements—is as dead as a doornail.

JOHN P. DEVINE.

Representatives of the housing commission, while sharing to some extent in this opinion, have not given up all hope that new life may be injected into the project as a result of more than a score of amendments to the key bill of the series of four measures embodying the plan, but the legislators say that as things stand now there is no chance of obtaining the two-thirds vote—102—in the house required for immediate effectiveness.

Death Blow Averted.

This conclusion is based on two main developments. First, only 46 votes were mustered to save the key bill from immediate death through the striking out of the enacting clause. And, second, the bill to appropriate $35,000 for the expenses of the proposed housing board which would carry out the plan by means of housing corporations was slaughtered outright. It was tabled without opposition.

The motion to strike the enacting clause from the bill authorizing the creation of housing corporations was made by John P. Devine [Dem., Dixon], a former minority leader, who charged that the whole housing plan is "Utopian, socialistic, impractical, and unworkable." The vote on that motion was 33 yeas and 46 nays, with more than thirty members silent in their seats. In other words, the test showed the first bill of the series did not have half the votes required to pass it with an emergency clause.

Emergency Quorum Present.

This battle occupied almost the entire day of the house as it resumed, after a week's rest, the labors of the special session called to provide relief for the jobless and their families. There were 110 members of the house on hand but no action was taken on any of the major relief proposals either in this chamber or in the senate, the latter body merely advancing some Chicago pension bills one reading.

Except for the action on the housing bills, the only important business of the day was the house's passage of its own bill to rescind the NSF teachers' pay check law which closed the market for the tax warrants of the Chicago board of education. The senate already has passed its own repealer and it is believed certain now that one of the two chambers will pass the other's rescinding bill, thereby completing enactment except for approval by Gov. Emmerson.

This, however, is not expected until next week. A program agreed upon among the leaders now calls for senate passage of the optional county sales tax bill and the bill to authorize the direct use of the counties' share of the 3 cent gas tax for relief purposes this week and another session next week when an effort will be made to pass the same bills through the house.

Four Housing Bills.

The program of the present housing commission headed by Alfred K. Stern of the Julius Rosenwald fund, consists of four bills. The fight today came on the bill authorizing the creating of housing corporations under the jurisdiction of a housing board, both the board and the corporations to be given broad powers which were the subject of prolonged criticism. They are being handled by Minority Leader Michael L. Igoe [Democrat, Chicago], who succeeded in tabling a number of amendments coming chiefly from Negro members who have feared the effect of the plan on their community on the Chicago south side.

But Igoe was helpless to stop the demonstration of hostility against the plan.

"There isn't a man in this house," said Devine, "who ought to vote to put a law of this sort on the books merely because it is indorsed by civic organizations and newspapers. We have been led astray by them too often in the past. This is a monstrosity."

Assails Provisions of Plan.

Clinton Searle [Rep., Rock Island] attacked the creation of "just another commission" and asserted that the housing plan is one of the most vicious ever presented to the assembly. He condemned the proposal that corporations be authorized to hold real estate in perpetuity, comparing such a situation with the absentee landlordism of Ireland.

Arthur Roe [Dem., Vandalia] asserted that a privision of the key bill giving the housing board almost unlimited power to compel testimony including the production of books and papers would be unconstitutional. Frank G. Thompson [Rep., Mount Vernon] condemned the lack of state regulation over securities to be issued by the housing corporations.

Reuben G. Soderstrom [Rep., La Salle], president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, pleaded for the plan as a means of relieving unemployment, but he was answered by Devine, who closed the debate on his motion to strike out the enacting clause.

STATE WILL USE ILLINOIS COAL IF HORNER HAS SAY

Makes Pledge to Miners at Meeting.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Carbondale, Ill., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Judge Henry Horner promised the miners of southern Illinois today that if he is elected governor the state institutions will burn only Illinois coal and that he will encourage its use in all the homes and factories of the state.

The Democratic candidate also took cognizance of the turbulence which has rocked the mining sections of the state for weeks as a result of protests against acceptance of the $5 per day wage scale. His largest audience of coal workers was at Benton this afternoon.

"I want you to know," he said, "that I am strongly in favor of collective bargaining in labor matters.

Asks Mutual Understanding.

"My experience as a neutral arbitrator in more than 200 labor controversies has assured men that there is no dispute that cannot be adjusted when both sides fully understand the problems of one another. I am sincerely hoping that such an understanding will bring all Illinois coal fields out of any present difficulties for the ultimate good of all.

"I want to see our commonwealth brought back to the front ranks as one of the most formidable coal states in the union."

These statements were well received by the miners present.

Catalogues Opponet's Backing.

The crowd was no less enthusiastic when Judge Horner tore into the managers of Len Small campaign.

"Two of those closest to my opponent," he said, "are Frank L. Smith and William Lorimer, the only two men elected among a line of distinguished statesmen in Illinois who were refused seats by the United States senate.

"Smith, you will remember, was the recipient of large campaign contributions from the same Samuel Insull whose financial machinations cost the savings of thousands of citizens of Illinois and the middle west. At the time Smith was chairman of the Illinois commerce commission on appointment by my opponent, and that body regulates the utilities of the state. Frank Smith wants that job again."

Continuing his biographies of Small's advisers, Judge Horner paid his respects to Leslie Small, the candidate's son, and A. E. Inglesh, Small's son-in-law, both of whom held posts in the former governor's cabinet.

"They held jobs for eight years," he said, "but it seems that they left something and they want to go back for it.

"Last, but not least in the coterie of those directing the political destinies of my opponent, we find the man who brought Chicago its greatest shame, the former Republican mayor who was so thoroughly discredited last year. Chicago is still trying to recover from the wreck he created during his last régime. By the time that man had been ousted from the mayor's chair every fund had been wiped clean and the pay roll was loaded with jobholders who ate up the taxpayers' money and gave no public service in return."

Judge Horner's parting fling was to recall that the state quo warranto law, the "king can do no wrong" statute which protects state officers from an investigation of their official conduct, was passed while Small was governor. He reiterated his pledge that if elected he will secure its repeal as one of his first acts.

GEO. E. DRYDEN ACCUSES WIFE OF DESERTION

George Eastman Dryden, son of George B. Dryden, president of the Dryden Rubber company and grandnephew of George Eastman, founder of the Eastman Kodak company, yesterday filed suit for divorce in the Superior court from Mrs. Dorothy Heissler Dryden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Heissler. The Dryden home is at 2518 Sheridan road.

Dryden, who has offices at 735 North La Salle street, charges that his wife left him and their two children, George Jr., 5 years old, and Dorothy, 3 years old, on March 12, 1931. Their marriage on June 12, 1926, was one of the large society weddings of that season.

Dryden asserted in the suit that he had given his wife no reason for deserting him and that he had always been ready and willing to support her.

DU PAGE SUPERVISORS TURN DOWN PLAN TO ABOLISH THEIR JOBS

Thirty-six township supervisors of Du Page county yesterday rejected a petition to abolish their jobs at an estimated yearly saving of $400,000 to $500,000 to the county. The petition was introduced by Supervisor Theodore Wendt at a stormy session held in Wheaton.

Wendt presented a petition, signed by 5,957 voters, that the county be permitted to ballot on a proposition to discontinue the supervisor system and centralize their duties under three county commissioners. He held that the uniform tax rate made possible by such a change would save the taxpayers close to $500,000 a year. Under the present system each township is allowed to establish its own tax rate. After Wendt presented his petition the meeting was adjourned while a committee counted the legal voters in the county and names on the petition.

N. W. Lies, chairman of the committee, returned to the meeting after two hours' research to report that the petition was short 1,643 needed names. There were 39,000 voters at the last election, he said, and according to law the petition should have 7,800 signers.

The supervisors voted to reject the proposition over the protests of Wendt and Supervisor Oliver Olson.

Coast Guard Captain 33 Years in U. S. Service

Capt. John O. Anderson, in command of the United States coast guard in Chicago, yesterday observed the thirty-third anniversary of his entry into government service. A native of Wisconsin, he joined the life saving service in 1899 and was assigned to the station at Plum Island, Wis. On Nov. 14, 1919, in a small boat, he went to the aid of a wrecked steamer during a gale in Lake Superior and for his heroism was awarded a Congressional medal of honor. He has saved more than 1,000 persons from drowning.

BOTH U. S. SENATE NOMINEES FAVOR HUGE BUDGET CUT

$750,000,000 Slash Is Called Feasible.

United States Senator Otis F. Glenn and his Democratic opponent in the November election, William H. Dieterich of Beardstown, have declared themselves as favoring a reduction of at least 750 million dollars annually in federal government expenditures. This was disclosed yesterday by George W. Rossetter, general chairman of the National Organization to Reduce Public Expenditures, who had sent both candidates a questionnaire on the subject.

W. H. DIETERICH.

"I am thoroughly in accord," wrote Senator Glenn, "with the purpose of your organization.

Economy Is Required.

"I believe that if we could greatly reduce the tax burden and in doing so abolish, or at least minimize, the interference of government in private business affairs a great step forward would be taken toward prosperity. The great and growing army of federal and state employés, all functioning at the expense of the overburdened, almost destroyed taxpayers, must be stopped. Severe reductions must be made forthwith in the expenditures of the federal government. These are coming next December or January."

Mr. Dieterich announced that he was opposed to cuts in pay for federal employés, but that he urged reductions in the personnel, discontinuance of nonessential government activities and closing of all bureaus and departments which duplicate work done by similar bodies under state governments.

Other Pledges Received.

According to Walter W. Williams, state chairman for the National Organization to Reduce Public Expenditures, similar pledges of economy have been received from twenty-seven congressional candidates to be voted on this fall. The other twenty-seven nominees of the major parties have not yet filled out and returned the questionnaires.

All except two of the replies, Mr Williams said, indicated a willingness by the respondents to cut three-quarters of a billion from the federal outgo.

BOARD OF TRADE ATTACKS GRAIN CORP. IN COURT

Files Brief Appealing 60 Day Suspension Order.

Expenditures of the Farmers' National Grain corporation, the federally financed agency which at one time controlled more than a half billion bushels of wheat in the farm board's stabilization fiasco, were put under fire in a brief filed yesterday by the Chicago Board of Trade with the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

The brief of 80 printed pages contained the facts upon which the grain exchange has appealed from a decision of the federal grain futures commission last July suspending the board of trade for sixty days.

Three Cabinet Members.

The commission, composed of Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, Attorney General W. D. Mitchell, and R. P. Lamont, former secretary of commerce, ruled against the board of trade for having denied full clearing house privileges to the Farmers' National corporation, of which the Rev. Clarence E. Huff of Salina, Kas., is president.

The exchange's brief cites three reasons why the Circuit court should set aside the commission's ruling:

1. The order itself and all parts of the grain futures act on which it was based are unconstitutional.

2. The exchange holds that the commission was in error in acting before completion of an investigation of the grain corporation being made by the Board of Trade.

3. The grain corporation, contrary to its own contentions, is not a cooperative as defined in the Capper-Volstead act.

"It is admitted that the Board of Trade has the right to investigate the affairs of its members at any time," the Board of Trade contends. "At the time of this controversy Farmers' National had been engaged in gigantic marketing operations for over two years. Its cash grain business and future contracts where delivery was accepted amounted to over 408 million bushels of the value of over $244,900,000 for the period from March 1, 1930, to Dec. 31, 1931.

Stabilization Mechanics.

"Farmers' National controlled the mechanics of governmental attempts to stabilize prices, involving, as George S. Milnor (the corporation's general manager) testified, the placing of orders with others for cash and grain in excess of those placed through Farmers' National.

"It made over two million dollars in two years largely on governmental activities, while its alter ego, the Grain Stabilization corporation, was losing hundreds of millions of governmental money in futile attempts to maintain prices."

Farmers' National balance sheet last February showed a net worth of $2,492,979.06 earned on a paid-in capital of $177,170.35, the brief declares.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars were paid out by the farm board's "wonder child," the exchange maintains, for good will on properties purchased when they were operating at a loss.

A hearing is scheduled on the Board of Trade appeal before three Circuit court judges sitting en banc, Oct. 21.

TWO GUN BANDIT RAIDS HOSPITAL; WHAT AN ERROR!

A two gun bandit strode into the Swedish Covenant hospital at 5148 North California avenue last night and leveled both guns at Miss Ruth Lindberg, a nurse employed in the office. "Open the safe," he commanded. Miss Lindberg fumbled with the combination knob, and then pleaded that she was unable to open it. The robber reached into the cash drawer and took out the handful of coins it contained. With an exclamation of disgust he threw them on the floor. "They're no good to me," he said, and departed.

Two gunmen surprised Mrs. Lucille Tobin, 35 years old, when she returned to her home at 4749 North Artesian avenue last night, and compelled her to give up $1,500. The men were in the home when Mrs. Tobin arrived. They tied her up in a bathrobe and threatened to kill her unless she revealed where she kept her money, Mrs. Tobin told.

AROUSED JUDGE ORDERS BANDIT BAIL OF $25,000

Jonas Will Give Quick Trial to Robbers.

Aroused by the effort of three alleged robbers to gain a court continuance in the face of positive identification, Municipal Judge Edgar A. Jonas announced yesterday in the Felony court that he would set bond of $25,000 in all robbery cases and force them to immediate trial. With State's Attorney Swanson he went before the grand jury and won the promise of the jurors to uphold the higher bond in future robbery indictments. The usual bond has been $10,000.

The judge's decision came during the hearing of robbery charges against James Hardy, 26 years old, 4922 Erie street; Louis Jacobs, 28, of 3242 Cortez street, and George Tanners, 26, a casual. They were captured last Friday in a revolver battle with police after the robbery of a restaurant at 4017 Sheridan road. Charles Bowen, owner of the restaurant, identified the men.

Plea for Delay Arouses Judge.

Attorney Edward Lyons asked a continuance for the three defendants. He was unable to give a reason for the continuance acceptable to the judge.

"These men have been identified by witnesses," Judge Jonas said. "There is no use wasting the time of the court, the police, and the witnesses. It is time we had a showdown between the lawabiding element and the criminals.

"Too many citizens have been killed in holdups. The judiciary must do its part, and I shall do mine by doing away with delay in robbery cases. I shall set bonds of $25,000 in every robbery case that comes before me."

Tanners was held to the grand jury in $25,000 bond, and Hardy and Jacobs, against whom a second charge of robbery was placed, were held in bonds of $50,000 each.

High Bonds for Two Others.

Howard Hargrave, 29 years old, 2558 West 31st street, and Benjamin Spears, 35, 2 Wayne avenue, were also arraigned on robbery charges before Judge Jonas and came under the new ruling. They were arrested last Friday after Spears had been shot during a birthday party argument over the affections of Ruby Ward, 20 years old. The shooting was alleged to have been done by Hargrave.

Robbery identifications followed the arrests and yesterday Hargrave was held to the grand jury in bond of $100,000 on four charges and Spears in bond of $25,000 on one charge.

The men have been about Lake Forest for the last ten days, soliciting magazine subscriptions. They gave the names of Philip Land and S. R. Krause, both 30 years old, of Hollywood, Cal.

HOOVER ORDERS NAVY TO BUILD 3 DESTROYERS

O. K.'s Half of Program He Recently Halted.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Construction of three additional London treaty destroyers will be undertaken by the navy at once. That was announced by Secretary of the Navy Adams today following a conference with President Hoover. Those vessels represent one-half of the destroyers on which construction was suspended by the presidential order a year ago. The United States at that time became a party to the league of nations one year armaments construction truce.

President Hoover's new order failed to include the building of the other three destroyers, though the navy department recommended construction of all six ships at once. That department argued that United States destroyer tonnage is ageing so rapidly the fleet will be seriously unbalanced before the end of another year.

Wide Comment Expected.

Because of the world-wide comment sure to be stirred up by the disclosure that the United States is going ahead with its destroyer replacement program at a time when the league arms conference is in session the Hoover administration had planned to withhold public announcement for the present. The news broke, however, at the Philadelphia navy yard. One of the ships is to be constructed there.

A statement by Mr. Adams indicated that the needs of the navy and reemployment of workers figured in the order about equally.

Navy Building Nineteen Shps.

At the present time the navy has five destroyers under consruction out of approximately 100 vessels which the United States is permitted to build under the London treaty prior to 1936. Addition of the three new vessels will bring the number of all types of warships now being built to nineteen. That figure will include eight destroyers, seven 8 inch gunned 10,000 ton cruisers, three submarines, and one 13,800 ton aircraft carrier.

The three new destroyers will be of 1,500 tons displacement and have a speed of 35 or 36 knots an hour. Each vessel will carry five 5 inch guns mounted on the center line. Ton for ton these vessels will rank favorably with any destroyer now built or building, according to Rear Admiral George K. Rock of the construction corps.

Present indications are that the three destroyers will represent the only new warships to be laid down by the navy department for several months.

Lags in New Destroyers.

Inquiry today disclosed that the United States is now far outclassed by all the other major powers in modern destroyers.

Japan is far superior to the United States, both in numbers of new destroyers and in the fighting ability of vessels built or building in each country. It was disclosed today that on Jan. 1, next, the United States will have only fourteen under-age destroyers of a total tonnage of 16,560 tons. All others will be over-age. On that date Japan will have seventy-two under-age modern destroyers of an aggregate tonnage of 93,205; Great Britain will have thirty-five under-age ship of 46,012 tons, while France will have forty-four destroyers of 75,499 tons. Italy's destroyer category will include fifty-two modern ships of a total of 60,697 tons.

Illustrative of Japanese superiority in the cruiser class appears in the circumstance that on Jan. 1 Japan will have twenty-four 1,700 ton destroyers completed compared to none of that tonnage owned by the United States. These vessels mount 5 inch and 4.7 inch guns. The newest vessels of this class carry six 5 inch guns. These vessels will be 367 feet in length and develop a speed of thirty-five knots an hour.

These Japanese vessels actually are destroyer leaders, as the limit for ordinary destroyers is 1,500 tons. The United States has not authorized any destroyer leaders and none is being built. On the basis of ships now building, Japan's best destroyers will have an advantage of 200 tons in displacement and one 5 inch gun in armament.

HOUSE POSTAL SITE INVESTIGATION WILL BE HELD IN CHICAGO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—A special subcommittee of the house postoffice committee will meet in Chicago, probably beginning Oct. 12, it was announced today by Representative James M. Mead [Dem., N. Y.], chairman.

Mr. Mead stated that the chief purpose of the hearings would be to investigate complaints concerning excessive prices paid for sites and excessive rentals for leased quarters.

"The selection of Chicago for the hearings," Mr. Mead said, "is not because such complaints have been confined to that city, but because we believe that going there will furnish us with a typical cross section of conditions affecting the postal service such as obtain in other cities."

Many complaints have been received, Mr. Mead said, charging that under the present system of bidding, both for postoffice sites and for material, specifications were so inflexibly drawn that they became virtually an invitation to only one seller. Other complaints concerning Chicago and other cities were that certain annual rentals amounted to one-fifth of the total value of the leased property.

EXONERATE MINE UNION PRESIDENT OF RIOT KILLING

But Smith Is Accused of Shooting a Miner.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Garnett Smith, president of the Herrin local of the United Mine Workers of America, today was exonerated of the killing of Detective Porter Williams in Sunday night's rioting between rival miner factions. The bullet removed from Williams' body was found to be of .38 caliber, while Smith had a .45 caliber gun.

Coroner Ernest Dye had intended to send the bullet and Smith's gun to Chicago ballistics experts, but after the autopsy this was deemed unnecessary. Smith, however, was charged with the shooting of Dominic Girolamo, another miner, who was seriously injured. Police said they believed his gun was discharged accidentally when he pulled it from his coat. Smith, who was stabbed in the chest, is under guard in St. John's hospital.

Short Man Does Shooting.

In support of Smith exoneration of the shooting of Detective Williams, Coroner Dye obtained a statement from Cyril Pace, one of the 25 arrested on charges of rioting, that a "short man" shot the detective and then put the gun inside his coat and disappeared in the crowd.

Funeral services for Detective Williams, a veteran of the Springfield force, were held this afternoon, with six detectives as pall bearers and a motorcycle police escort leading the procession.

No further meetings to determine whether the United Mine Workers will go back to work under the new $5 basic wage scale, in defiance of the outlaw Progressive union, which is demanding the old $6.10 scale, will be held until "the situation changes," according to U. M. W. of A. officials.

Must Keep Peace.

Sunday night's riot occurred after such a meeting in the Knights of Columbus hall. William J. Sneed of Herrin, personal representative of John L. Lewis, international president, said the peace of the community must be considered as well as the welfare of Sangamon county's 6,000 miners, of whom, it is claimed, 80 per cent wish to return to work.

Sneed is one of the 25 officials and members of the regular union who were arrested on charges of rioting after the clash occasioned when the outlaws started heckling.

TROOPS HURL TEAR GAS BOMBS TO ROUT TOVEY MINE STRIKERS

Taylorville, Ill., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—National guardsmen tonight used tear gas to clear striking miners and militant members of their women's auxiliary from the town of Tovey.

Word reached guard officers that strikers who had attended a mass meeting at Nokomis planned a demonstration in Tovey in defiance to Sheriff Charles Whencke's ban on strikers meetings. Detachments of all guard companies here sped to the town with gas grenades and dispersed a mob of strikers and citizens.

Two women, Miss Anna Puccetti, 18, and Miss Lena Rabini, 18, were arrested and locked in the Christian county jail. They are the first women prisoners of the military authorities.

COUNCIL MEETS TODAY FOR FIRST TIME IN A MONTH

A huge pile of communications on routine business transactions will be submitted today to the city council and its finance committee at their first sessions since the early part of August. The finance committee will meet in the morning and the council in the afternoon.

One report for which the council is waiting is that of the joint committee on taxicabs of which Ald. Thomas J. Terrell [29th] is chairman. This committee, according to promises made when the monopoly ordinance was restored to the code in August, was to have a new taxicab ordinance drafted by Sept. 28. So far, it is said, the committee has not met.

SEEK R. F. C. LOAN TO FINISH WORK ON OUTER BRIDGE

Toll Plan Is Proposed to Meet Requirements.

Officials of the Lincoln and south park boards revealed yesterday that plans are on foot to get a loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation for the completion of the outer drive bridge improvement at the mouth of the Chicago river. More than 8 million dollars will be needed to complete the project, according to Hugh E. Young, chief engineer for the Chicago plan commission.

The obstacle to a loan of this nature has been the specification of the federal corporation that a project must be self-liquidating, the revenue not to be derived from taxation. Bond issues of 5 million dollars each have been approved by voters in the two park districts to connect the north and south side outer drives, but the work is at a standstill because there are no buyers for the bonds.

Toll Bridges Proposed.

The self-liquidating requirement of the Reconstruction Finance corporation may be met, in the opinion of park commissioners, by the operation of the proposed spans over the Ogden slip and the Chicago river as toll bridges, with a nickel or dime fee from each motorist.

It was pointed out that California, already enriched by the Reconstruction Finance corporation to the extent of 40 million dollars for a viaduct from Boulder dam to Los Angeles, is now seeking a 75 million dollar loan for a bridge connecting Oakland and San Francisco on the toll basis.

Edward J. Kelly, president of the south park board, said that the primary consideration was "whether the people of Chicago want a toll bridge or not." He added that if the loan were obtained there is a possibility that by the time the improvement is completed the park bonds might be sold and there would be no necessity for tolls.

Deplores Lack of Progress.

"We will welcome any plan that will complete this improvement," said Sheldon Clark, vice president of the Lincoln park board. "It is deplorable that with the World's Fair next year our lake front traffic artery won't be ready." Warren Wright, president of the Lincoln park commissioners, is reported to have been favorable to the plan before he left the city last week and to have suggested that it be given serious study.

W. H. Beckman, attorney for the Lincoln park board, said that to meet the self-liquidating requirement it would first be necessary for the state legislature to pass an act authorizing the toll bridges and then for congress to give the same permission.

According to Mr. Clark, the Lincoln park board has spent nearly 3 million dollars on its share of the outer link project and will need 2 million dollars to complete it. Lynn White, engineer for the south park board, reported that $6,115,250 would be required to finish the south park's share of the work.

Mr. Young pointed out that these estimates had been made nearly a year ago and that any revision in costs now would be downward.

GIANT ITALIAN LUXURY LINER RACING FOR U. S.

ROME, Sept. 27.—Postal service between New York and Italy was expected to be reduced to six and one-half days with the departure today from Genoa of the new 50,000 ton Italian luxury liner Rex on its maiden voyage to America. Among the passengers on the eleven deck vessel are John W. Garrett, American ambassador to Italy, and former Mayor Walker of New York.

The Rex will pass Gibraltar late tomorrow afternoon and then every pound of steam will be crowded on for the spurt across the Atlantic in an effort to break the world's speed records of the Bremen, Europa, and Empress of Britain. In trials the Rex did thirty knots. The captain hopes to reach New York early Tuesday.

Former Mayor Walker boarded the Rex an hour before the gangplank went up. He was recognized and received a big ovation from the crowds watching the departure. Ambassador Garrett is returning to the United States for his annual vacation and is carrying back on behalf of the mayor of Genoa several tracts containing new documentation to prove that Columbus was a citizen of Genoa.

The violin was made in Cremona, Italy, in 1632, Rollins said.

In addition to Mr. Chetham, the following Illinoisans were named members of the advisory committee for the Chicago branch office:

G. A. Ryther, vice president Drovers' National bank, Chicago; T. W. Boyer, vice president Stock Yards National bank, Chicago; M. D. Goldberg, cashier National Builders bank, Chicago; Arch W. Lend Louisiana 13 Million.

The corporation today approved a loan of 13 million dollars to the state of Louisiana and the New Orleans Belt Line bridge commission for the construction of a highway and railroad bridge across the Mississippi 12 miles above New Orleans. The money will be made available through the corporation's purchase of bonds of the state and of the bridge commission. Interest was fixed at 5 per cent.

At the same time the corporation approved the first small self-liquidating project loan to be made since it issued its appeal last week for small applications. The board of directors announced that the corporation will bid in $105,000 worth of bonds of the city of Madison, S. D., to finance the construction of an addition to the municipal light and power plant in the South Dakota city.

Two emergency relief loans, one of $315,693 to Georgia and the other of $86,160 to Oregon, were likewise approved today by the federal loan agency.

Drops Charge Against Woman, His Ex-Partner

Marjorie Bailey, 27 years old, 7941 South Park avenue, was arraigned before Municipal Judge Edward B. Casey yesterday charged by Herman Cohen, partner in a fur store at 205 West Monroe street, with failing to pay for a $55 fur coat. She declared that Cohen had told her not to pay for the coat, but had later reconsidered when she refused to accept a "date" with him. Unable to show that a bill had ever been sent to the young woman, attorneys for Cohen withdrew the charge.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, Sept. 27.—An unemployed man's novel method of solving the housing problem was disclosed today with the arrest of John Pedzicki at a cemetery. He had transformed the tomb into a comfortable residence, furnished with chairs, lamps, a stove and a mirror. He was using a bronze coffin as a bed.

KANE CO. SETS RECORD; 90 PCT. OF TAXES PAID

Approximately 90 per cent of the taxes in Kane county have been paid for this year, County Treasurer L. L. Urch announced at Aurora yesterday. Mr. Urch said he believed that no Illinois county has made a better showing.

The taxpayers paid up voluntarily, Mr. Urch declared, pointing out that there have been few pieces of property sold for taxes. Recently the Kane county board of review reduced the assessed valuation of Kane county real estate 20 per cent.

Local tax experts here pointed out that the collection percentages for Cook county have been 85.28 per cent in 1928, 72.83 per cent in 1929, and 55.15 per cent up to Aug. 1, 1932, for 1930.

DOZENS HURT AS BRITISH JOBLESS BATTLE POLICE

LONDON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Dozens were injured and many women and children trampled during a riot in protest against a cut in poor relief funds at Westham, in the east end of London.

The demonstrators demanded an audience in the town hall, but police blocked their path. The demonstrators heaved bricks and other missiles. The police replied with a mounted rush with drawn batons, and the melée began in earnest. Spectators soon swelled the throng to thousands and the police cordon was broken.

As it reformed the demonstrators formed lines and converged on the town hall from three directions, with banners flying and bands playing.

Finally a deputation was allowed to enter and lay the case of the demonstrators before the town council, which agreed to consider the protest.

PUSH CAMPAIGN FOR $20,000,000 IN RELIEF BONDS

Needed to Avert Tax Raise, Say Leaders.

A strong campaign for the adoption of the $20,000,000 state relief bond issue is to be inaugurated this week in Cook county by the Cook county emergency bond issue committee, which was organized on Monday. Douglas Sutherland, secretary of the committee, announced the plans for the campaign yesterday. The bond issue will come up for a referendum vote in the general election on Nov. 8.

"Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and North Western railway, who has been active in seeking tax reductions, is expected to return to Chicago from Washington tomorrow," Mr. Sutherland said. "As chairman of the Cook county committee, Mr. Sargent will direct the campaign. He already has indicated an intense interest in the passage of the bond issue, because its failure to pass would double the state property tax levy for this year.

"As soon as he returns we will complete the organization of the committee and get to work in earnest. The people of Cook county must be made to realize that if the bond issue fails of passage downstaters will no longer lend a sympathetic ear to the pleas of Chicago for state relief assistance."

More than fifty civic organizations have indorsed the campaign for passage of the bond issue already, Mr. Sutherland added, and many more are expected to lend their support to the project. Public and civic leaders will be called upon to lend their assistance to the campaign, he said. A determined effort will be made to have every Cook county voter realize his responsibility in regard to the bond issue before he goes to the polls.

The Cook county committee will cooperate fully with the state committee for passage of the bond issue, Mr. Sutherland said. He is also secretary of the state committee, of which Earl C. Smith of Detroit, Ill., president of the Illinois Agricultural association, is chairman. A similar campaign for approval of the bond issue is being managed by the state committee downstate.

RELIEF WORKERS WAGE CAMPAIGN AGAINST FRAUD

New Case Uncovered by Investigators.

Another case of fraud has been uncovered by investigators for the Illinois Emergency Relief commission and the guilty persons will be prosecuted, according to Joseph L. Moss, director of the Cook county bureau of public welfare, which is one of the agencies dispensing relief commission funds. The identity of the persons who committed the fraud is not known, but as soon as the names are learned a warrant will be sworn out on the charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses, Mr. Moss said.

The fraud occurred in connection with an order for $4.79 worth of food staples that was mailed by the bureau of public welfare to Mrs. Sarah Holliday, who resided at 1233 Newberry street with her daughter. Mrs. Holliday was placed on the relief rolls about Aug. 1. About Sept. 1, without notifying relief officials, she moved to Cleveland with her daughter, Mr. Moss said.

There were two roomers in Mrs. Holliday's home, and investigation disclosed that they remained there after she and her daughter left. When the order for the food staples was mailed to Mrs. Holliday a duplicate was sent to a wholesale house. This company delivered the goods on Sept. 8—after Mrs. Holliday had left the city—and received in return the original order from the person who accepted delivery. The order apparently had been pilfered from Mrs. Holliday's mail, Mr. Moss said.

The fraud was discovered by an investigator who called at Mrs. Holliday's home about ten days after the delivery was made. The warrant will be sworn out by Miss Agnes Whalen, a social worker of the Stanford Park station, who had interviewed Mrs. Holliday before granting her relief.

"This case, and all other instances of fraud, will be vigorously prosecuted," Mr. Moss declared. "The volume of relief we are giving is enormous, but it is not so large that we are not on a constant lookout for abuses. Any one who tries to obtain relief money or goods under false pretenses may expect to be prosecuted, because we have under way an unrelenting campaign of constant investigation."

AGENT OF DAVIS SAYS HE PAID SENATOR'S BILLS

"Bought New Lodge Fees for $600,000."

New York, Sept. 27.—[Special.]—That United States Senator James J. Davis turned over all his personal finances, even the household bills, to him was sworn to today by Fred W. Jones. Jones was one of the men, the other being Joseph A. Jenkins, to whom Davis is said to have sold for $600,000 his organization contract with the Loyal Order of Moose. The transaction was verbal, Jones insisted.

Details of this story were unfolded in the court of Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman, where counsel for Davis are defending him against charges of having violated the federal laws against lotteries and profiting about $172,000 therefrom.

Today's testimony about Davis' affairs was given by Jones, who described how he paid the bills, received by the Pennsylvania senator out of a bank account in the Fidelity Trust company of Pittsburgh. That testimony took its place among other explanations on which Davis depends to disprove the prosecution contention that he profited by $173,000 from what the prosecution described as a lottery.

Feature of Jones Story.

Mr. Jones was under the direct examination of Charles J. Margiotti, of defense counsel, and cross examination of Louis Mead Treadwell, the assistant United States attorney.

The $100,000, Jones testified, was paid to the organization department by Theodore G. Miller, who as head of the propagation department, disbursed the proceeds of the charity affairs, constituted the framework for what the prosecution charges was the lottery, had nothing to do with Davis, but was entirely for the organization department.

The $40,000 paid to the organization department by Miller in 1931 fell into the same category, he declared. The $100,000 payment of 1930, he described as having been composed of a $70,000 payment by Miller, without warning or previous arrangement, to the organization department for its "coöperation in arranging for the charity ball."

The remaining $30,000, he said, was a loan that the organization department obtained from Miller, for which a note was given. The $40,000 of 1931 was paid under the same conditions as the $70,000 of 1930, Jones testified.

Previously Jones had testified as to two items, one of $15,300 and one of $17,855, each paid to him. Jones, as the man who handled all the financial affairs of Mr. Davis, said those sums were in repayment of loans made to Miller by Davis during 1929 and 1930. Those various sums accounted for all of the money which Davis was charged with having received, except a check for $177 which bore the notation, on an attached voucher, that $100 were for personal expenses of Davis and $77 for Jones.

Paying Bills for Davis.

Jones could not explain how that voucher came to be made out that way, but he said he was sure that Senator Davis had received none of the money.

Then, against this continued insistence that Mr. Davis received none of the money, except what was due him on loans made to Miller, Jones testified under cross-examination that for years he had paid all of the personal expenses of Davis out of the bank accounts of the organization department.

After a personal banking account for Davis had been opened in 1928, over which Jones exercised the same power of attorney as he had all the other departmental accounts in the senator's name, it became the custom to pay the personal bills out of that account and, when the funds in that account needed replenishing, Jones drew on the fund of the organization department for the money to deposit in the personal account.

The practice, Jones testified, still is in operation. Jones said he and Jenkins had bought the senator's contract, under which he received most of the initiation fee of every person joining the order, from Davis in August of 1930. At this time they did not know what the assets and liabilities of the department were, he said, or if either one were greater than the other, but they agreed to pay $600,000 for the contract.

When Treadwell asked him how it was that they had agreed to pay Davis as interest $36,000, practically all of the earnings of the department per year, Jones replied: "We expected to double the earnings."

5,000 Forgotten Towns.

"And this was in 1930, and you expected to double your business?" Treadwell asked.

"Well," said Jones, "Jenkins and I figured there were 5,000 cities and towns in the United States that didn't have a Moose lodge in them."

Former Mayor William Frederick Broening of Baltimore, also a former supreme dictator of the Moose, was put on the stand. He was questioned by Charles H. Tuttle, former United States attorney, also of the defense counsel.

Mr. Broening told how he had attended a meeting of the supreme council in Sharon, Pa. There the negotiations between Jones and Jenkins and Davis were completed and how the final determination of Davis to sell his contract was announced to the supreme council.

SAYS HE CARRIED SUITCASE BOMB TO SAN FRANCISCO

Portland, Ore., Sept. 27.—(AP)—The Oregonian tomorrow will carry a signed statement by Paul M. Callicotte in which he declares his belief that he is the man who placed the suitcase bomb in the San Francisco Preparedness day parade July 22, 1916, which cost ten lives and sent Tom Mooney and Warren K. Billings to prison for life.

The Oregonian will quote Callicotte as saying he acted as unwitting agent in the case, his statement affirming that he was promised and paid $5 to carry a suitcase from Oakland to San Francisco on the day of the Preedness day parade.

It was this suitcase, according to Callicotte's belief as expressed in The Oregonian's story, which exploded at 2:06 p. m. that day, killing ten persons and injuring forty-two others, an act of which Mooney and Billings were convicted of having perpetrated.

GILDA GRAY'S FATHER IS SENT TO INFIRMARY

Judge Blames Him for Family Trouble.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Gilda Gray, a Cudahy girl who made good in the city by the vigor of her muscle dancing, sought and found relief in court today from her father who, she said, has tormented her by his habits since she began at about the age of 12 to support him.

The appearance in County court to tell her story to Judge Michael S. Sheridan drew an attendance overflowing into the corridors and caused a pang of regret by the management of a Milwaukee theater where she is appearing professionally, that there was no way to open a box office in front of the court room doors.

The affairs of Max Michalski, Gilda's father, which she said have vexed her for many years, grew too burdensome to bear lately when, despite the support she provided for relatives in Cudahy, she was called upon to refund $98 he had received for relief from Milwaukee county.

Gives Evidence of Support.

Her son, Martin Gorecki, also had been listed for county aid although evidence was given she always had supported him. The son is now 18 years old. Wearing a toothbrush mustache, he appeared in court and kissed his mother warmly. She is the former Mary Michalski.

As Gilda Gray's dancing caught the public fancy and she became more widely known, Michalski, the elder, became a greater and greater nuisance around the saloons and drinking places of his home town, John Medrow, chief of Cudahy police, testified.

There was no conversation he wouldn't break up and no one whom he wouldn't pin in a corner and tell about being Gilda's father, he asserted.

Michalski, in his testimony, at first said that he never drank but weakened on examination and said he never drank unless some one gave him a drink.

Judge Calls Him "Bum."

It was a field day for the spectators until Judge Sheridan had heard enough and interrupted while the dancer was detailing the care she had taken of her family and the expense they had been to her.

"Michalski," the judge said, "you're just a bum. It's you who is to blame for all these people being in court today. You've caused all the trouble. I'm going to teach you a lesson."

The court ordered the father's name off the relief list and ordered him to report at once to the county infirmary for treatment on pain of a long sentence to the house of correction.

The judge told Chief Medrow that at the first wrong movement of the father to see that he went to the house of correction.

Sister Aids Gilda.

Mrs Josephine Sielecki, of Cudahy, Gilda Gray's sister, supported the dancer's testimony. "His conduct was the death of our mother," she said. Gilda always has been good to us all. She has been sending us $75 a month. But father made everything unbearable for us all."

There was little ostentation in the dancer in courtroom. She was just a Cudahy girl in court airing some family troubles and she was in tears much of the time. On occasions when her father testified, some of his answers seemed too ridiculous and from her tears, she burst into a laugh.

She laughed when he testified he never drank and she laughed louder when he testified he once had a job with the city of Cudahy and that Gilda made him give it up. Her counsel refunded to the county the $98 her father had been given for relief.

POST NO BILLS! POLICE WARNING TO CANDIDATES

A warning to November election candidates that the police department will enforce the ordinance against posting of campaign literature on public or city utility poles or on the sidewalks was issued yesterday by Commissioner Allman. It was in the form of a general order directing the police captains to read at roll calls the section of the city code forbidding the practice. The code fixes a penalty of not less than $10 or more than $200 for each offense. This ordinance was disregarded in the past. Each year it costs the city a considerable sum of money to remove the signs.

BOMB SUSPECT SEEKS RELEASE ON COURT WRIT

Threatening Letter Sent Man Who Identified Him.

William McDaniels, 59 yeaf old bootlegger held as the principal suspect of the bombing of the home of Judge John P. McGoorty, yesterday was remanded to police custody until Friday by Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court to whom a petition for a writ of habeas corpus for McDaniels'release was addressed.

McDaniels had 13½ sticks of dynamite in his possession the day after the bombing and he has failed to account for the absence of six and one-half sticks he is known to have had. Louis A. Merillat Jr., 1112 East 45th street, and his daughter, Mary Lou, identified McDaniels as a man they had seen for three successive nights near the McGoorty home, the last occasion having been five minutes before the bombing.

Yesterday a threatening letter was received by Merillat, who is a West Point graduate and an army officer for fifteen years with trench experience during the war. Merillat refused to be intimidated by the letter but by the order of Assistant State's Attorney Harry S. Ditchburne he was given police protection.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson took a hand in the questioning of two other suspects yesterday, James Belcastro, so-called king of bombers, and Hymie "the slob" Lieberman. They were released.

Sam Brown, rape, sentenced to 5 years in the penitentiary by Judge John J. Sullivan.

James DeSonia, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

Farmer Held on Charge of Threatening Golfer

Otto C. Nickel, Worth township farmer, was ordered held to the grand jury yesterday by Police Magistrate Frank J. Synakiewicz of Blue Island on a $1,000 bond. Nickel ordered Christian Krueger, president of the First National bank of Blue Island, off his farm when the latter went there to get a golf ball which he had driven off the Navajo Fields Country club course. Nickel was held on a charge of threatening to do bodily harm.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

GOV. ROOSEVELT ON WATER POWER.

Gov. Roosevelt in his Portland speech expressed his indignation at the unscrupulous financial management of some power companies and power holding companies. He cited the Insull holding company failures as in point. In doing so he was performing a valuable and timely service to the American people, altogether too many of whom have found nothing to get excited about in the recent revelations. Mr. Roosevelt's references to the relations of public officials and power interests were equally valuable, and peculiarly pertinent in Illinois, where Frank Smith is managing Len Small's campaign for the governorship. Smith, it will be recalled, received more than $200,000 in campaign contributions from utility companies, chiefly from the Insull companies, at a time when he was chairman of the state commerce commission which regulated the rates and services of power companies in Illinois.

Such relationships need to be denounced by men who present themselves for leadership in American political life. If the public is apathetic it is the duty of men in Mr. Roosevelt's position to present the moral issue in terms which will be generally understood.

But when Mr. Roosevelt turns from this aspect of the matter to discussing remedies his contribution is considerably less valuable. His proposals for additional publicity regarding utility financing can be indorsed, but these proposals need not be confined to power companies, but should be applied to all corporations which are publicly financed, whatever goods or services they may sell. His proposals for additional regulation of power companies by state and federal commissions are open to the criticism that the power companies which are dishonestly managed have never found it difficult to corrupt the regulators. There is therefore little reason to expect much of this remedy. Much more might be accomplished by a rigorous enforcement of present laws covering bribery, breaches of trust, and manipulation of assets.

Mr. Roosevelt goes even farther afield when he demands government ownership of water power plants and government distribution of power as a protection for the consumer. If the conduct of the Insull holding companies has been a public scandal, and it has, the scandal is certainly no greater than that of the government's ownership of Muscle Shoals and its recent undertaking at the Boulder or Hoover dam. After all, no one was obliged to subscribe to the Insull securities and Mr. Insull's record in the Smith case was well known and might have served as a warning at the time most of the Insull holding companies' securities were floated. But every citizen and particularly every taxpayer has been taken for a ride at Muscle Shoals and is destined to be taken for the same kind of a ride at Boulder dam. If the investing public was betrayed in the one case, the entire nation has been betrayed in the other.

It is idle to pretend, as Gov. Roosevelt does, that the water power developments under government auspices are of widespread public benefit. They are not. Muscle Shoals was sold to the nation as a wartime necessity, but it never was anything of the sort. It was intended, like any other pork barrel project, for sectional advantage, and, like every other pork barrel project, it cost far more than it is worth. The Hoover dam is of the same species. It was undertaken as a sop to southwestern voters after a shameless political trade. The dishonesty of the whole proceeding is plainly indicated in the congressional declaration that the dam is being built to render the Colorado river navigable. No public utility operator ever put out a more untruthful statement to snare investors; but the investors in the Hoover dam were not snared but coerced.

The success of this piracy has had the expectable result of whetting the appetites of other regions for more of the same. Gov. Roosevelt told his audience in Portland that the next great development would be on the Columbia river for their benefit. He did not say that this special favor was to be paid for by all the people, but that is the fact; and he did not say that those who will pay for it live, for much the most part, at least 1,500 miles from either the Hoover dam or the Columbia river dam sites, though that is also the fact. He did not tell how Los Angeles, which has already been given the Hoover dam, has now begged from the government 40 million dollars additional with which to build an aqueduct from the dam to Los Angeles; and he did not say that every acre of land reclaimed from the desert at federal expense is added competition for the farmers living in the regions which do pay taxes. He did not, in short, expose the government's reclamation and power schemes for what they are: a shameless raid on the treasury for the benefit of speculators in desert real estate.

It is one of the curiosities of our time that men who can perceive the moral wrong in private misdeeds can observe equally vicious acts on the part of government without a sense of indignation. Unfortunately for Mr. Hoover, he is in no position to score this point against Mr. Roosevelt. The dam in Boulder cañon is the Hoover dam.

NAVAL REDUCTION AT UNCLE SAM'S EXPENSE.

A dispatch from the Tribune Press Service, Washington bureau, reports that negotiations will proceed at once between British and American delegates to the arms conference. The two governments have not yet reached a formula for further reduction, our own holding to the Hoover formula of 25 to 33 per cent reduction of total tonnage, the British proposing a reduction in the size of battleships, cruisers and aircraft carriers.

It is important the American public and their representatives in congress should understand the significance of this difference. A total tonnage reduction would leave relative strength not materially altered. The British proposal, while appearing to, would not. As we have pointed out repeatedly, reduction in capital ships would work automatically to increase the military importance of the armed and armable merchant ships, of which Great Britain has an overwhelming preponderance. An abolition of naval ships would give her unchallengeable primacy and secure it to her indefinitely. The fast liner armed would then become the battleship or capital ship. The reduction in the size and armament of battleships, cruisers and plane carriers moves in the same direction. The British government is all for it.

The British government also has been pressing for the reduction in the limitations upon cruisers. They won a partial victory at London. They no doubt expect to gain ground, at least, at Geneva. They want now a reduction of the present cruiser limit of 10,000 tons with 8 inch guns to 7,500 tons with 6 inch guns. The former is the type favored by American naval authorities because we lack bases and need ships with longer radius of action and guns of a caliber superior to those which may easily be mounted on merchant ships. The British have perfected the six inch gun, while our naval experts have favored the eight inch type.

It is not difficult to understand why this difference of formula exists. Great Britain possesses an unmatchable system of bases flanking all the main lines of traffic. Her need is not the larger types capable of the longer sweep, but a preponderance of numbers. But battleships and large cruisers offset and endanger this preponderance. The British policy of reduction is to reduce and limit types efficacious in our circumstances while permitting the maintenance of a maximum in types efficient in British conditions. As this reduction is physically applied to both navies it has the appearance of equality, but the appearance is fraudulent. The reductions or limitations insisted upon in repeated conferences alter the relative strength of the two navies substantially in Great Britain's favor.

Whether our present delegation can be induced to give way before British insistence remains to be seen. But if further one-sided concessions are made the senate should refuse to ratify. We are not interested merely in our relations in the Atlantic. The progressive reduction of our relative naval strength, through congress' failure to maintain replacement or build toward treaty strength, is already having consequences in our foreign relations which only pacifists and sentimental internationalists will ignore. We have experimented with the pacifist fallacy of reduction by example as far as it is safe to go, and perhaps farther. It is time we arrested this process and looked to our own security.

GANDHI.

What the sufferings through centuries of sixty million "untouchables" could not budge, one little man seems to have moved by fasting six days and eight hours. The Ironic Spirit might make an epigram out of that, or the Utopian design a new world.

PAVEMENT WRECKING.

The announced intention of the city vehicle bureau to tighten up enforcement of the regulations of motor trucks will have the support of taxpayers and other motor users. Lieut. Kellacky of the bureau calls attention to overweight trucks and declares truly that they are pavement wreckers. He is also right in pointing out that long trucks and trucks with long trailers are a menace on the highways and an improper obstruction. These trucks are abusing the highways by transforming them into heavy freight lines, and the public is not only incommoded as motorists but as taxpayers mulcted for damage to highways not constructed for such use.

Mr. Foust calls attention to the neglect to equip with pneumatic tires and reports that, pending enforcement of the new regulation requiring all vehicles operating at more than ten miles an hour to be equipped with such tires, worn out solid tires with steel rims are cracking pavement in violation of existing regulations.

The vehicle bureau should go after these violations vigorously. They are a costly nuisance.

Editorial of the Day

THE SPECIAL SESSION.

[Peoria Transcript.]

The R. F. C. undoubtedly has acted wisely in putting the brakes on states and their political subdivisions which have rushed in for federal aid. Theoretically, there is no valid ground for tapping the federal treasury for local aid. The federal treasury is merely a euphemism for a general tax, and a general tax is generally collected from general business. If general business fears new levies, unemployment increases and there are more mouths to feed.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE observes that "the incomes that must be tapped, if relief is to be granted, must be the income of the governments, not those of the citizens," and that "if the legislature commands all the state and local tax spenders to reduce their outlays, perhaps by some fixed percentage, the amounts so saved might be devoted to poor relief." This is a consummation devoutly to be wished, but hardly to be expected.

Members of the general assembly have their ears to the ground, and will be wary of cutting government expense in the midst of a campaign. Rather will they stall and fill, hoping that the R. F. C. will take another slice out of the $300,000,000 fund appropriated by congress.

MAKE IT SNAPPY.

Two spinsters were discussing men.

"Which would you desire most in a husband—brains, wealth or appearance?" asked one.

"Appearance," snapped the other, "and the sooner the better."—Tit-Bits.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

"WHAT THIS COUNTRY NEEDS is a resoundingly good new joke." So says Mr. Hoover in a letter congratulating Weber and Fields on the jubilee of their appearance in vaudeville. Tut, tut! That just looks as though Mr. Hoover was hunting for trouble, for the jokes that Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Garner and Pat Harrison and Sen. Norris and the rest of the cutups over on the Democratic side are going to tell him from now on into November will be simply side-splitting. Ha, ha, ha, we're laughing already.

WELL, WE'LL OFFER right now a patent, indestructible, hand painted aluminum bath towel for a funny story that the President will say is the kind that America needs. Stories starting with "An Irishman and a Jew who had just landed . . ." or "A traveling man out in Iowa stopped one night . . ." or "A young wife who had never kept an account at the bank . . . or "A Swede who was working on a farm up in Minnesota . . ." are all dead right now; don't waste stamps on 'em. And all stories beginning "Stop me if you've heard this one . . ." If that's the story you're going to send in, STOP!

BUT STILL, if we lived in Washington as Mr. Hoover does (at present, anyhow), we really think we could have many a hearty laugh now and then. There's the Congressional Record, for instance, brought to his door every day when congress is in session. Now there is a publication that ought to bring a smile to the saddest countenance. It's simply brimful of rollicking mirth. And then there is that droll wit who is so often seen walking around Washington, Bishop James Cannon Jr. Honestly, we believe that every time we saw the bishop we would just die a-laughing, as they say. And there's Doc Clarence True Wilson down there, the one who says so many funny things about the eighteenth amendment. Goodness! whenever we'd look out of the window and see Doc Clarence True walking along and think of some of the things he's said we'd just roll on the floor and laugh and laugh till we were black in the face.

AND THE EIGHTEENTH amendment itself, which started in Washington and where its guardians have their headquarters, would bring a smile to almost anybody, especially if he were standing in a Washington speakeasy sipping synthetic gin, thinking of the eighteenth amendment and looking out of the window at the great dome of the capitol.

AND THE STATELY, solemn senators in the senate chamber sitting down in the same forum where once sat Webster and Clay and Hayne and Calhoun and Sumner and Douglas. Oh, it's really very funny! Very funny, indeed!

AND THE CONGRESSMEN over in the house of representatives. Now, anybody that can't get a good, roaring laugh every time he goes into the house is simply lacking in a sense of humor, that's all. Yes, indeed, what this country needs is a good joke. But Washington is full of them and lots of 'em are on the government pay roll.

THE JAPS ANNOUNCE in excited tones that they have discovered a secret plot on the part of the United States to build a railroad across the U. EVERY VOTER should register next Saturday or Oct. 11. The fact that he has already voted in the Literary Digest's straw vote does not bar him from casting another ballot in November. At least this is our understanding.

A MAN SENTENCED TO LIFE imprisonment out in Montana stood up before the sheriff took him away and thanked the jury warmly for its kindness. He's probably heard the Republicans say how hard it's going to be for a man to get meals and board if the Democrats win the election and he's listened to the Democrats say that it will be practically impossible if the Republicans pull through, so he's not taking any chances.

MALARIA TREATMENT.

THESE are the methods of treating cases of malaria used in many hospitals and with the nearly fifty thousand people who work for the United Fruit company. To break the chills and rid the patient of his infection they give quinine in large doses and for a considerable time. To prevent the infected person from infecting others they give plasmochin compound.

For acute attacks of acute malaria one dose of three grains of calomel is given; two hours later, twenty grains of quinine; four hours later, one to two ounces of salts (sulphate of magnesium). Twelve hours after the first dose of quinine a second dose is given. After that thirty grains daily is given in two doses until the temperature remains normal all day. Then a second dose of salts is given.

After this the treatment is ten grains of quinine twice daily for six days. At the same time two tablets of plasmochin compound—one morning and one evening—are given for six days. This is followed by ten grains of quinine taken each night at bedtime for two weeks.

For chronic malaria the above treatment is first given; then a course of plasmochin compound, one-sixth to one-half grain of plasmochin daily for six days as above; then the plasmochin compound is suspended for three days. During six of the days when ten grains of quinine is the daily dose a second course of plasmochin compound tablets is prescribed.

After these courses of plasmochin compound have been finished an iron tonic is given and it is kept up for six months. The one used is their pink tablet, and it contains iron, quinine, arsenic, and strychnine. Good diet is essential for the cure of chronic malaria—good meat, eggs, milk, vegetables, and fruit.

For malaria carriers and ague-cake people, but without chills and fever, ten grains of quinine and one plasmochin compound tablet twice a day for six days are prescribed. This is suspended for three days. The course of quinine and plasmochin compound tablets is repeated.

These cases are always anemic. Therefore they should be given the pink pills or other iron tonic for several months; and they must be well fed, else they will remain malaria carriers.

During 1931 Dr. R. C. Conner and his staff experimented with a drug which is claimed to be a substitute for both quinine and plasmochin. Curing the cases and carriers of the disease is a part of a plan of malaria control used on the United Fruit company plantations. In 1931 the malaria rate on these plantations was one-fourth what it was in 1925 and the malaria death rate was only one-half that of the year in which the plan was first operated in its entirety. If it were not that their labor force is constantly changing they consider that malaria would be of small importance with them now, in spite of the fact that all their operations are in lowlands in the tropics.

Other methods of control employed by them are major drainage, minor drainage, use of larvacides, oil and minnows for mosquito control, screening, killing mosquitoes in houses, surveys of malaria prevalence, and mass treatment.

CONSULT PHYSICIAN.

E. C. S. writes: I have traveled as a commercial salesman for 38 years. I am 62 years old. I always enjoyed the best of health until about a year and a half ago when my car skidded into a ditch and the shock brought on diabetes. I have the sugar quite well controlled at present and am keeping it down by diet, though I did use insulin for about five months. I do not, however, gain any strength. I can stand little work, though I try to get exercise by that means.

1. Would you advise me to continue with my regular work, knowing that I could not control my diet away from home?
2. What is vagabond's disease?

REPLY.

1. Your physician can advise you better than any outsider can. As a rule, diabetics and other persons with chronic disorders do better if they keep up their accustomed work and other activities. Especially is this true in diabetes due to profound shock, as in your case.
2. Dermatitis due to lice. Scratching is a contributing cause.

ATHLETE'S FOOT.

I. M. D. writes: I had athlete's foot for nearly a year and I tried doctors' prescriptions, X-rays, mercury ointment, boric acid solution, turpentine, kerosene, and everything every one told me to try. It finally faded away. This summer I had it again and found this immediate cure:

Dissolve some epsom salts in boiling hot water. Put the infected foot in the hottest water it could stand and soak for a while. Iodine is then applied. Skip one day and follow the treatment the next day. It took about an hour's time in all and about ten cents' worth of medicine.

FAIL NOT TO BLAME.

Mrs. M. E. B. writes: My three year old boy had a fall in which he cut his nose, head, and lips. About a day or two later he broke out with large sores all over his body.

1. Was this due to the fall?
2. He had scarlet fever and septic poison combined about six months ago. Do you think the septic is coming back? He had the same sores when he had scarlet fever.

REPLY.

1. No.
2. No.

A GIRL OF 21.

S. M. writes:

1. Is a girl of 21 too young to give birth to a child?
2. Does it weaken her or the baby?
3. What age is the best time?
4. Is the birth more difficult in a young girl's case than an older girl?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. No.
3. 21 to 22.
4. The difficulties are slightly increased at each end of the child bearing period.

AVOID POLLENS.

G. D. writes:

1. Is hay fever a contagious disease?
2. What is the remedy?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. Since we are on a one word basis—avoid pollens.

GARNISHMENTS.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Can a boy of sixteen be garnisheed for a bill his parents owe? I have been told this can be done. J. P.

By the common law the parents are entitled to wages of such minors unless they have given up their rights to the wages. Where the parents are entitled to such wages, this right to collect could be reached by garnishment.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ALIMONY.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—If a man is unable to pay alimony on account of being out of work, can he be given a jail sentence if brought to court? J. M. S.

It is physically possible, but on proper showing of a good excuse the court should reduce the alimony. The husband's position will be stronger if he moves to reduce the alimony without waiting for the wife to make the first motion.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 28, 1916.

DETROIT, Mich.—The New York-Chicago express—the fast east bound passenger train on the Michigan Central railroad due in Detroit at 11:35 p. m.—was held up by two men between Detroit and Dearborn. The mail and express car was rifled and the robbers escaped. The loot as far as known consisted of the heavy New York registered mail. The amount of booty obtained will not be known until the postal authorities have checked up on the registered mail. The passengers were not molested and were unaware of the holdup for many minutes.

LONDON.—Fighting of great intensity continues on all fronts in the Balkans. In the Dobrudja, according to the Rumania report, the invading German and Bulgarian armies have suffered a "decisive defeat," and now are retreating, pursued by the allied Rumanian, Russian, and Serbian troops. Sofia reports that the Bulgarians were victorious on the western end of the Macedonian front, where they compelled the Serbians to retreat along the whole line. This statement denies the Rumanian victory in the Dobrudja.

LONDON.—Pressing home the advantage won by the capture of Thiepval and Combles, the British troops to the north of the Somme drove forward for important gains at two points. North of Fleurs they stormed and took German trenches on a front of 2,000 yards. They also captured the great enemy work known as "Stuff Redoubt," 2,000 yards to the northeast of Thiepval. The French also extended their gains. They won more positions to the east and southeast of Rancourt, and penetrated St. Pierre Vaast Woods.

BERLIN.—The official Austrian report of Sept. 26 refers to the plight of the Italian soldiers who were wounded at the time the Austrians blew up the summit of Monte Cimone. Their comrades have been unable to rescue them on account of the Austrian artillery fire. The enemy declined twice an armistice offered for the rescue of the wounded on Monte Cimone.

ROME.—Italian troops have occupied a high position between Menari and Tovo west of Monte Cimone, in the Trentino region, says the official war communication.

NEW YORK.—At 9 o'clock tonight, twelve hours after the call for a general strike in all industries in sympathy with the striking transit employés had become effective, no news of a single response to the strike declaration had been received by the police department. It was the opinion of city officials, the state industrial commission, and many union leaders, including organizers of the Amalgamated association, that the first day had brought a fiasco. But leaders of the general strike movement asserted that 194,300 union workers had "laid down their tools" and that by tomorrow night 263,000 would be out.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—Winifred Margaret Robinson of Colorado Springs, an heiress and a leader in her home society smart set, and Harold Ingersoll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Ingersoll of the Ingersoll Manufacturing company, Rockford, Ill., and an heir to millions, were quietly married in St. Stephen's Episcopal church. Arthur N. Taft, rector, and the Rev. Dr. E. S. Parsons, acting president of Colorado college, officiated.

CHICAGO.—A transfer of property in the township of Palos has the unique distinction of being the first parcel of land to be acquired by Cook county for the forest preserve district for outer park purposes. The property comprises a tract of eighty acres, just south of the Sag valley.

NEW YORK.—A sensational ninth inning rally, coming after two were out, enabled the New York Giants to maintain their great winning streak and stretch their record into a new figure. After tying the St. Louis Cardinals in the ninth the Giants won in the tenth by a score of 3 to 2 for their twenty-third consecutive victory.

THE LITERARY DIGEST'S POLL.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 24.—The Literary Digest presidential straw vote is under way again. Due to its success in gauging public sentiment in the 1924 and 1928 elections and on prohibition, it has gained a great reputation for credibility. However, let these facts be noted: The final of the Digest straw vote for 1928 gave Hoover 1,750,584, Smith 987,795, minor candidates 23,884. Smith's percentage of the total was only 35.7 per cent. On election day, 1928, Smith obtained 15,016,443 votes, which was 40.8 per cent of the total cast. Thus, his actual percentage was 114.3 per cent of the Digest percentage.

The Digest returns on individual states showed still more striking discrepancies. For example, Massachusetts gave Smith 39,029, Hoover 64,283. But on election day Massachusetts gave Smith 792,758, Hoover 775,566. For Rhode Island the Digest figures were, Smith 4,908, Hoover 10,001. But on election day little Rhody gave Smith 118,973, Hoover 117,522. The Digest gave Massachusetts to Hoover by a vote of nearly 2 to 1, and gave him Rhode Island by a ratio of better than 2 to 1. Yet Smith carried both states. Smith also carried Alabama and Arkansas, which the Digest figures gave to Hoover.

These figures point to a strong Republican leaning in the Digest poll. The poll is no doubt honest in intent, but does not reach a fair cross-section of American voters. The primary aim of the Digest is to increase its circulation. It selects its mailing lists with this end in view. Consequently its advertising literature and ballots reach only the more prosperous classes. The families who have no telephones, whose bread winners are among the 11,000,000 unemployed, those who have felt most keenly the stab of the depression, will receive no Literary Digest ballots. But they will cast millions of votes for Franklin D. Roosevelt. On the basis of the Digest's past performance one may safely assert the following: If the Digest's final figures show Hoover leading by only a few per cent, an actual victory for Gov. Roosevelt is indicated; if the Digest's final figures show Gov. Roosevelt in the lead, a landslide for the Democratic nominee is indicated.

HANDS ACROSS THE SEA.

East Chicago, Ind., Sept. 22.—Your yesterday's editorial, "Hands Across the Sea," in connection with London's published cartoon, "Pray Silence for the Mayor," reveals a surprising touchiness on the subject. We have to admit, however, that Mayor Cermak was a pathetic figure when making speeches in Europe defending Chicago's reputation. In the meantime daily sluggings and holdups continue and a $100,000 safe robbery, shooting of six innocent bystanders within two days in the loop when chasing gangsters [all of whom escape of course], bombing of a judge and blinding of children, probation, Judge Kelly, etc., etc., add a special flavor to the mayor's statements. But apparently the truth hurts—especially if it is being rubbed in by the British press.

DR. R. H. W.

HE PREFERS HOOVER.

Wauwatosa, Wis., Sept. 25.—If the citizens of the United States want to let themselves in for four years of probable hell, let them go ahead and elect Franklin D. [not Theodore] Roosevelt President.

The depression has been a fright—granted. And it still is, but why blame Hoover? The thing is universal, including the great state of New York and the great city of New York, which is approaching bankruptcy and which was, seemingly, systematically plundered under ex-Mayor Walker and his associates without a word of protest from F. D. [not Teddy] Roosevelt until certain indignant citizens started an investigation.

What has F. D. done for the state of New York? Nothing. He has spent the years of his occupancy carefully teetering this way and that in an effort to do or say nothing that would cost him the Democratic nomination for President.

Hoover may not be a George Washington, but at least we know the worst. England, forced off the gold standard and taxed to death, is no land of heart's desire. Germany is a madhouse. So is Russia. There is no liberty in Italy. France is still sane but rapidly developing high blood pressure. Yet the American dollar continues supreme and the American government is intact. Millions of us [note the us] are still out of work, but we have been fed and clothed. Stocks are going up, factories are opening and it looks as if we will have a merrier Christmas than we did in 1931 or 1930.

Then why change? I have heard F. D.'s speeches. His best one, on the railroads, is simply a résumé of what any college class in political economy has been hearing for five years. The rest of his speeches might have been written by George M. Cohan—on silver in Utah, water power in Oregon, etc.

Four years of Hoover at his worst is better than four years of insipid Bryanism, majordomoed by a chap who rattles around in a great name. That would be depression indeed and might involve absolute ruin. R. G.

ANOTHER.

Park Ridge, Ill., Sept. 24.—THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE of this morning notes the resignation of Admiral William S. Sims from the American Legion as a protest against the favorable action on the bonus taken by the late convention. Many members of the Legion disapprove the action of the convention fully as much as does Admiral Sims. We do not, however, feel that the best interests of either our country or the Legion can be served by deserting the ship in times of stress. The American Legion is the best life insurance policy the United States government has. Should reforms in some Legion methods be needed, they will be best accomplished not by jumping ship but by loyal Legionnaires working from within the organization.

GERMAN CHIEF BRANDS FRANCE AS MILITARISTIC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 27. — Chancellor Franz von Papen lashed back at Premier Edouard Herriot of France tonight in reply to the latter's speech at Gramat Sunday when he said that Germany was planning to rearm.

The chancellor, speaking to an official interviewer, asserted that Herriot further blocked the path to any understanding between the two nations and confirmed the negative nature of the French note of Sept. 11, rejecting Germany's request for arms equality.

"This is not surprising," Von Papen said, "for, after agreeing in Geneva to diplomatic discussions, Herriot broadcast our aide memoire to a number of other states without asking our consent as loyalty or even courtesy would have demanded.

Recalls Old Promises.

"This is not a question of German armament, but of fulfillment of promises of disarmament by other nations. Germany only demands equality and equal treatment at the disarmament conference. We have offered to discuss the nature and extent of the reorganization of the German army. We have never demanded to arm to the level of France and other countries. We are striving for equality of armaments through a general reduction of armaments."

Von Papen said that Herriot's speech revealed that France wished a double standard, adding:

"When Herriot complains that we are teaching our children the art of killing he seems to overlook entirely that the military training of youth has been carried on systematically by France for years, constituting one of the most essential points of her army reform.

Calls France Militaristic.

"On the other hand our gymnastic movement has no military character but is solely for gymnastic education and to teach youth the spirit of companionship. Then again all our weapons are considered weapons of offense, while the same weapons in other countries are merely weapons of defense.

The chancellor then hurled a charge of militarism at France.

"I am astonished to read about the great French army reduction," he said. "Certainly they demobilized their field army after the war. But what has been done further is far less than disarmament. Instead, it is a reorganization of armaments which shifts the powerful weight of the army into reserves and material. Does it testify for disarmament that French military appropriations have advanced 100 per cent within six years?"

Rules Against Von Papen.

The reichstag's court for the protection of constitutional rights tonight informed Von Papen that in the reichstag's session of Sept. 12 he had failed to ask for the floor to promulgate his decree of dissolution until after voting had begun on the motion of nonconfidence in the cabinet.

The court ruled that the National Socialist president of the reichstag, Herman Goering, had acted within his constitutional rights and according to parliamentary rules by refusing to recognize him.

The ruling, however, does not alter the status of the dissolved reichstag. Von Papen's associates pointed out that the court possesses no executive powers and can only express an opinion.

The decision of the court was adopted by the votes of the Hitlerites, Catholic Centrists, and Bavarian Peoples' party against the Nationalists after Von Papen had been closely questioned. The court also adopted a resolution demanding the immediate cancellation of the emergency decrees.

EXPLORERS HUNT "ROCK PEOPLE" IN DESERT TREK

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 27.—(AP)—New knowledge of the little known "rock people" will be sought by an expedition headed by Maj. Ralph A. Bagnold which left today for the Libyan desert.

The "rock people" live in the Ennedi mountains, about 1,000 miles southwest of here and across the Libyan desert. The expedition will travel about 4,000 miles before its work is finished. It will be away about two months.

The University of Chicago's Oriental Institute and the Royal Geographic society have given their assistance to the expedition.

RETURN INDIANA PRISONER.

St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 28.—[Special.]—Facing charges of robbery, Mathew Lubarski, 22, Indiana Harbor, Ind., was returned there today, after a gun battle with Indians and Berrien county officers here. Three brothers, Walter, 24; Stanley, 23, and James, 19, are also held.

$1,000,000 BOND ISSUE ATTACKED IN NORCOTT CASE

Prior Mortgage Disclosed on Basic Property.

The government yesterday attacked the validity of a $1,000,000 bond issue of H. O. Stone & Co, real estate investment concern, in the federal court of Judge Charles E. Woodward, where Henry F. Norcott, president of the company, and eight associates are on trial for using the mails to defraud.

Testimony revealed that the bonds, issued on the Lawsonia subdivision in Green Lake, Wis., were represented as first mortgage lien, when there was an outstanding mortgage of $125,000 against the property.

The story of the Lawsonia development and the bond issue was told on the witness stand by Attorney Dwight P. Green, who was retained as counsel by the company.

Raises Question of Mortgage.

"Did you discuss this outstanding mortgage with anyone?" the witness was asked.

"Yes," Attorney Green replied, "with Norcott. He told me that it was to be paid. My understanding was that the first mortgage was to be removed by taking the bonds to the Continental bank for a loan."

The company made application to qualify the bonds for sale in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Indiana, Missouri, and Kentucky, the witness revealed. The request met with refusal in Minnesota and Wisconsin, the bonds were accepted only in Indiana and Kentucky.

"When did you first find that the bonds were being sold?" Assistant United States District Attorney Thomas Dodd Healy asked.

"Late in October of 1929," the witness said.

Q.—Did you tell them the sale was dangerous and should be recalled? A.—Yes, I told them that they were termed first mortgage bonds when the original mortgage was not released.

Circular in Evidence.

The government introduced into evidence a Stone company circular in which the bonds were described as "first mortgage bonds with a prior lien on the company."

Questioning by Prosecutor Healy revealed that because H. O. Stone & Co. was an Illinois corporation and legally restrained from the purchase of land outside Illinois, that Lawsonia was bought by a dummy concern. Clerks for the real estate firm purchased the land with money furnished by the Stone company, testimony revealed, and signed their stock over to the firm.

Attorney Green was preceded on the witness stand by J. E. Mamoser, former accountant for the Stone concern. He testified that nine officials of the company drew $196,000 annually in salaries. He listed the salaries as follows: Norcott, $50,000; Harold D. Bennett, vice president, $35,000; Claude C. Niles, vice president, $18,000; Marshall W. George, secretary, $12,000; Charles F. WOMEN PROHIBITION FOES TO FIGHT DRYS RUNNING FOR CONGRESS

Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, national chairman of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, was in Chicago yesterday en route from New York to Minneapolis, where the national executive committee of the organization will hold a meeting today.

Mrs. Sabin announced a gain of over 100,000 members in her organization since the two national political conventions, bringing the total membership well above 1,112,000. Reports show spectacular gains in Maine, Minnesota, Michigan, New Jersey, Virginia, Tennessee, and Wyoming.

At the national executive committee meeting in Minneapolis the delegates will consider ways and means to fight dry candidates for congress in every state. A poll of all candidates for the house and senate has been conducted by the state branches and the results will form the basis for the campaign. The results of this poll, it is expected, will be made known following the meeting.

The executive committee of the Illinois division gave a luncheon for Mrs. Sabin at the Casino club. Among those present were Mrs. William H. Mitchell, Mrs. T. Clifford Rodman, Mrs. Vincent Healy, Mrs. George Vrennan, Mrs. Valentine Bartlett, Mrs. William Sauer, Miss Emily Napieralski, Mrs. Edward S. Moore, chairman national publicity committee, and Mrs. Pomeroy T. Frances, Mrs. William Woodward, and Mrs. Henry Joy, members of the national executive committee.

VENIZELOS WINS 100 SEATS; ROYAL PARTY GETS 90

ATHENS, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Premier Eleutherios Venizelos was assured today of 100 seats in the Greek parliament against 90 for the monarchists as returns from Sunday's election became more nearly complete. He also will have a large majority in the senate. Venizelos indicated today that he would ask the president of the republic to invite the monarchist party to recognize the republic.

If the monarchists accept, he said, it would make possible the formation of an allied government, but if they refused he would make an effort to modify the constitution to amplify the president's authority to take care of any dangerous situation that might arise.

GANDHI 63 YEARS OLD; CHILDREN VISIT HIM IN JAIL

Nationalist Leader Slowly Regaining Strength.

POONA, India, Sept. 27.—(AP)—A benign but toothless smile lighted the features of Mahatma Gandhi today as he watched tiny Indian children celebrating his 63d birthday—by the Hindu calendar—in the Yeravda jail yard.

The little leader was slowly regaining the strength he had lost during his six day fast and which solved temporarily the question of equality of citizenship between the caste Hindus and the untouchables.

The civil disobedience leader seemed in the best of spirits, and chuckled in delight as he drained his cup of fruit juice, which he insisted must be given him only at the hour appointed for prisoners' meals.

Obeys Rules of Jail.

"I should not break the jail rules," he said.

He has been in jail since January for leading his followers into another campaign of passive disobedience to British rule.

Goat milk will be added to the mahatma's diet tomorrow, and perhaps curds.

The authorities granted the thin little Nationalist's request today for native music beneath his mango tree in the jail yard.

As a native strummed a sort of guitar or mandolin, an Indian instrument, playing all the mahatma's favorite tunes, the little man listened as if in ecstasy, clapping his hands gently to the lilt of the rhythm.

Tree May Become Legendary.

Physicians in attendance said they believed such programs as those today would hasten the recovery of the prisoner, and they will become a regular feature of his daily routine.

The mango tree under which were conducted the negotiations that marked for Gandhi the beginning of the end of the gulf between the caste Hindus and the untouchable millions, is bidding fair to pass into legend.

Many of Gandhi's admirers and followers are carrying away twigs and branches as relics of the events that came to pass under its shade.

Close Stock Exchange.

BOMBAY, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The stock exchange and the cotton, bullion and other markets were closed today in honor of the birthday, according to the Hindu calendar, of Mahatma Gandhi.

WOMAN CLAD AS MALE LEADS TROOPS AGAINST REBEL ARMY IN BRAZIL

UBERABA, Brazil, Sept. 27.—(AP)—A woman in her early thirties, dressed in male attire, was leading a contingent of federal volunteers today against rebels on the northern most Sao Paulo front.

She is known only as "Santa Dica" and was a leader of a cult of several thousand men, women, and children in the state of Goyaz, in the interior of Brazil. Her army is drawn from these followers, who call her "the Glorious Saint." She wore flowing white robes until she joined the federal forces and donned men's clothes. Her detachment participated in the capture of Igavaca last Friday.

"Santa Dica" won her cult following by reputed prophetic visions, mental healing power, and an ability to brew supposed "cure all" potions with herbs.

Federal Troops Take Town.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Federal troops recaptured the towns of Mococa and Sao Jose do Rio Pardo from the Sao Paulo rebels, the government announced today. A bulletin from the Sao Paulo rebels said 85 federal troops were killed in a 36 hour battle in the Matto Grosso sector.

HUNT FOR MOTIVE IN SLAYING OF SCHOOL GRANDMA

Police Are Mystified After Day of Investigating.

The murder of Miss Mabel Chenoweth, 60 years old, known as "Grandma" to the children of the Daniel Boone grammar school, near which she conducted a small candy store, remained a mystery to police last night after a day of investigating. Miss Chenoweth was found dead yesterday morning in the rear of the store at 2712 Pratt boulevard, her head crushed and her throat cut.

Robbery apparently was not the motive for the slaying. Some $30 in small bills and silver were found in the store. There was a possibility, it was said, that Miss Chenoweth had accumulated a larger sum in savings which had been found by the murderer who scorned to take the smaller sum. No trace of a hiding place where the money might have been kept was found.

Former Music Teacher.

Miss Chenoweth gave up her profession of piano teaching five years ago when she found her eyesight failing. She opened the candy store, and was soon regarded with affection by the children who spent their pennies there.

"I can't understand the wanton viciousness of the murder," confessed Lieut. Sylvester Cotter, in charge of the investigation. "The blow over the head caused unconsciousness, and there apparently was no reason to kill the woman if robbery was contemplated."

A group of children who wished to make small purchases before school opened had gathered in front of the small store shortly before 9 o'clock yesterday morning. When the door remained locked one of the children notified Mrs. Ellen F. Brinkmann, proprietress of a grocery store next door. She and a boy went to the rear and discovered a window open. The boy climbed in and found the body.

Throat Is Cut.

The woman had been struck first over the head with a glass towel rod from the soda fountain. The murderer then had dragged Miss Chenoweth to the rear of the store, where he cut her throat with a butcher knife. The knife was found near the body.

Police began a search for relatives of the dead woman and a[t] took fingerprints found on the knife.

EXPLORER FINDS BODIES OF VIKINGS FROZEN IN SOIL

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Aage Roussel, leader of a Danish expedition to Greenland, returned today and reported that he had found a group of fully dressed Vikings frozen in the soil of the island.

The scientist said his party came across the well preserved bodies during excavations at Ujaragsuit, on the northeast side of Godthaab fjord.

He associated the findings with a Viking settlement of eight detached dwellings, and said it apparently had been destroyed in 1370 by Eskimos, who killed all the survivors. The bodies uncovered by Roussel were those that had been buried by the Nordic settlers in their churchyard.

Roussel said the corpses were typical Nordics and the men had long fair hair. There were no coffins but the bodies had been dressed in tight breeches and double breasted coats of heavy homespun.

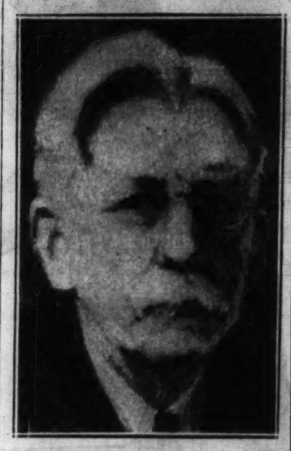
DR. J. M. POWIS SMITH, NOTED BIBLE SCHOLAR, DIES ON OCEAN TRIP



DR. J. M. POWIS SMITH.

Dr. John Merlin Powis Smith, professor of Old Testament language at the University of Chicago, died Monday night aboard the Laconia in New York harbor as he was returning from a summer in England, according to word received yesterday at the university. Dr. Smith was 65 years old. Death was caused by cerebral hemorrhage.

Dr. Smith was one of the outstanding Hebraists in this country. He was closely identified with William Rainey Harper, first president of the university, as student, literary secretary, and later as colleague. In the latter capacity he maintained the tradition of high scholarship in Semitic themes and in the literature associated with the ancient Hebrew peoples. At the time of his death he was vice chairman of the department of oriental languages and literature at the university.

Of his twelve major publications the volume, "The Old Testament—An American Translation," for which Dr. Smith served as general editor and translator of the Psalms, Ecclesiates, and the minor prophets, aroused much discussion. The work was published in 1927. Dr. Smith and his associates using much of the early Hebrew and Aramaic materials as possible and bringing to bear knowledge of Hebrew grammar, syntax and word usage not known to the translators of the King James version, sought to present a clear version of the Bible in the language of today.

Dr. Smith was president of the Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis and vice president of the American Oriental society. Since 1915 he had been managing editor of the American Journal of Semitic Languages and Literatures. He received a doctor of philosophy degree at the University of Chicago in 1899, after he had graduated from Des Moines college in 1893.

Dr. Smith was born in London, England, Dec. 28, 1866. He is survived by his widow, who will arrive at their Chicago home, 5717 Kimbark avenue, today from New York, and a daughter, Mrs. Harold E. Gates, 5721 Kimbark avenue. Funeral plans await the return of Mrs. Smith.

MOTORCYCLE COP IS KILLED WHILE CHASING SPEEDER

Two Die in Crash at Crossing.

Policeman Richard Keogh, 38 years old, 4824 North Damen avenue, was fatally injured last evening when his motorcycle collided at high speed with an automobile at Rosedale and Milwaukee avenues. He died as he was being taken to the Belmont hospital.

The driver of the automobile, John Kostak, 35 years old, 5833 Navarre avenue, was held by the Irving Park police. He asserted that he was making a turn at the corner when Keogh, pursuing a speeder, crashed into his car.

On Force Fourteen Years.

Policeman Keogh had been a member of the Chicago force for fourteen years, most of the time being assigned to the motorcycle division. He was married and the father of two children.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Scherer of Benton Harbor were instantly killed last night when their automobile was struck by a Michigan Central train at the U. S. route 12 crossing in Michigan City, Ind. Scherer, a retired merchant, 59 years old, and his wife had been visiting her sister, Mrs. Edward Kastner, in Chicago and were returning home when the accident occurred.

Other Auto Deaths.

Keogh's death and two others during the day brought the 1932 Cook county motor toll to 845. The other victims:

Frank De Carlo, 14 years old, 1641 Washburne avenue, died in the county hospital of injuries suffered Monday night when an automobile crushed him and three others against a building at Paulina and 15th streets. The driver, Gust Sirowski, 42 years old, 1757 Washburne avenue, was held at the Marquette police station.

Unidentified man, believed the victim of a hit and run motorist. His body was found at Archer avenue and Roberts road, Lyons. He was about 50 years old, poorly dressed, and had only a knife and a rosary in his pockets.

Emil Johnson, 60 years old, of 601 East Ryan place, Lake Forest was fatally injured last night while walking south in Sheridan road, Lake Bluff, by an automobile driven by Victor Beckman, 30 years old, of 430 Steele court, Waukegan. Johnson died at the Alice Home hospital at Lake Forest. He was a team contractor.

Pilot Drops Unhurt from Blazing Plane After Crash

Bellefonte, Pa., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Paul Reeder, 26, of Cleveland, dropped unhurt from his blazing air mail plane after it crashed into the side of Snowshoe mountain, near here, today. The plane and 900 pounds of mail, en route from Newark, N. J., to Cleveland, were burned to ashes. Reeder was flying over Snowshoe mountain when he heard the swish of a tree at his side. He banked sharply in an effort to rise, and a moment later the plane crashed. The impact tore loose his safety belt and he dropped to the ground.

FORTUNE MADE BY DOLLAR WATCH DROPS MILLIONS

New York, Sept. 27. — (AP) — The fortune that Robert H. Ingersoll made with the "dollar watch," reputed at one time to have exceeded five million dollars, had dwindled to an estate of $257,295 at the time of his death in 1928, an accounting filed in Surrogate's court showed today.

Unfortunate investments, it was indicated, had reduced the estate until all that was left was real estate in Michigan, Florida, and Idaho and the household effects of his Park avenue apartment. It was in this apartment that his 36 year old wife killed herself in 1926 after shooting her admirer, Wallace Probasco.

Artistic Life in Europe Told in New Book

"Laughing Torso" Written by Nina Hamnett.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Laughing Torso," by Nina Hamnett. [Long-Smith.]

"LAUGHING TORSO" is frankly a book for the few—those few who are interested in the "art world" of Paris and London, the cliques of writers and painters and sculptors and musicians who, so differently from Americans, can and do set their worlds a-tremble every so often over ideas.

American artists—in any of the seven arts—are a more restrained lot, less given to mass and personal upheavals over anything, and much, much less given to any definite life, "bohemian" or "artistic" or whatever one cares to call it. There is no "real life of the artists" in the United States anywhere, New York and San Francisco included.

No great novel or series of stories or drama has ever become a classic in America on the subject of bohemian life, because no really great novel or series of stories or drama has ever been written about it, and no great novel, etc., etc., has ever been written because no such thing exists. No traveler in Europe can be ignorant, however, of the existence of such groups in the capitals, whether he watches them from the inside or merely as a tourist in a strange spiritual land.

But since the few who are interested in such things are also the few [I don't flatter myself that it's any vast horde] who read this column, every one who has got this far in this piece will find "Laughing Torso" an exciting document. Seldom has any one set down more casual and amusing and interesting things about the "artists" from personal observation and in the utterly casual and jaunty spirit of the day. Nina Hamnett has not written literature, but she has done literature [and the other arts] a very good turn in recording its ephemera of mood and personality.

With the same informality with which every one high or low meets every one else Nina Hamnett tells an anecdote on one page about Sinclair Lewis, on the next about Jean Cocteau, mentions Katherine Mansfield in passing, and has more to say about Andre Gide. She makes a quick familiar sketch [in words] of Hendrik Willem Van Loon, says a word about Richard Aldington, discusses Aldous Huxley and James Joyce at greater length, and does Hugh Walpole up in a sentence. And thus through the whole book. She never does more than the merest casual bits about anybody except the two or three people whom she does not name. But the book is plummy with personalities and the whole kaleidoscopic picture of bohemian life is caught in it and caught with success.

How the other half—if one doesn't happen to be a part of that half—lives is either obvious or tacit in every page of "Laughing Torso." The utter casualness with which visiting is done, dinners are wangled, trips are made will amuse readers who have always wondered what happened among the so-called intelligentsia. Life is one pattern one day, another the next, but always, and that is the characteristic of the life of creative artists, of a definite design. It is a life churned by ideas, its whole scheme overturned, remade with what sometimes seems to the onlooker no reason, but which is always to the artist a great motivating force.

Since Nina Hamnett is herself a painter rather than a writer there is more in the book about painters and sculptors than there is about writers. But the whole cosmopolitan quality of the life so different from American artistic life is inherent in the book. In America the writers know the writers, the painters the painters, the sculptors the sculptors, the musicians the musicians, and never the twain [let alone the seven] shall meet. In Europe a recognized artist in one line is interested in and knows artists in all of the other creative branches and he would feel himself unsupplied with the air of his creative life if he did not.

"Laughing Torso" is chitter-chatter, but it is chitter-chatter of the most amusing and sophisticated sort.

The title of the book is taken from one of the two famous marble torsos which the ill-fated Henri Gaudier-Brzeska made of the author.

Courses in Teaching Deaf to Speak Will Be on Fair Program

Teachers of speech to deaf children will be given a course of advanced instruction next summer at the University of Chicago campus, it was announced yesterday by Norman T. McManaway, assistant superintendent of the Volta bureau, Washington, D. C., part of the American association to promote the teaching of speech to the deaf. The course will be held as an educational contribution to the World's Fair, McManaway said.

The course will include methods of teaching deaf children, the development of language instruction and grammar, and the appreciation of rhythm in securing sound vibrations by touch and auricular training. The appreciation of rhythm deals with the development of latent and partial hearing ability in those who appear to be totally deaf but are able to distinguish vague sound, McManaway said.

Snug Neckline Marks Styles of New Season

Small White Bands Circle Tops of Frocks.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

WHATEVER shop you wander into, whatever collection you inspect, whatever parade of street and daytime dresses you watch, you'll see more high, snug necklines than you've ever seen before. Silk dresses, wool dresses, and knitted affairs, all models are designed with these new throat lines, and great is the excitement when the collar and cuff collectors start out in search of new collars and sets for these high altitude designs.

A few weeks ago the feminine population descended on the supplies of wide white cape collars and wore them until the casual observer must have thought it was a sort of a new uniform idea. Now the best collars have shrunk in size . . . reason, because of topcoats!

The new wisps of white that encircle the fashionable frocks are mere trifles. They are called clergymen collars, and some look positively saintly, others lend a thrilling legal aspect copied from the coy little bib effects worn by the best barristers in British films and stories.

Tabs form the best white decoration . . . some in series of three, one overlapping the other. Still others are no more than glorified bibs in two sections. Most of them are of piqué and you can buy either white or beige colored piqué models. The white piqué is accented with nickel buttons and the beige with gold metal flat buttons. The gals who invested heavily and consistently in fall clothes in various shades of brown will cheer loudly for these stunning beige collars and cuffs as perfect harmonizing accents for all tones of brown wool and silk.

A lot of these piqué collars tie around the neck and the cuffs are also tied into place, thus saving time and temper of the hustling throngs who start to town every morning cleanly cuffed and collared.

Neckwear prices needn't discourage even the most profligate collar and cuff collector and spender. For ridiculously low amounts you can have a supply of these crisp new things to change every time you wear a dress.

Tailored piqué trots around for business affairs and shopping trips and campus life . . . for more festive events you can buy frills, typical, sheer, dainty models with exquisite lace edgings and designs in fine embroidery and fagoting and other handwork. Gleaming white satin and dull crepe collars that dutifully defy frequent tubbing and emerge with all their first gleam and sheen dress up the silk crepe and velveteen dresses for afternoon.

Some gorgeous shirred white velvet scarfs and collar effects are now ready for use . . . and all kinds of luscious chiffon velvet ascot scarfs have arrived to wear with sports frocks, suits and even collarless coats these first crisp days of fall. Forest green, russet, garnet red, Prussian blue and jaunty plaids and rather wild stripes and color combinations are featured in other simple scarfs of velvet, the new flared ascots that you pin to your chest with the huge horse-blanket safety pins that are taking up space in the best shops in town.

If you are averse to the gentle influence of white collars or velvet ascots the thing to do is to buy decorative, colorful and sometimes clanking costume jewelry. Glittering necklaces and chokers of chromium combined with bright beads and discs of red and blue and russet and green are particularly new and ideal for the new woolens . . . old gold and silver creations, copied from old fashioned locket and chains are designed for silks, satins and velvets.

New costume jewelry is arriving daily, with new interesting prices that will please every budgeteer.

CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

— BY — H. A. RIPLEY

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his case book covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

THE LAWYER AND THE MAID.

"I shouldn't have left her," said Mary Callahan to Prof. Fordney, "Her so deaf and not feeling well! She was that insistent, though, that I take the afternoon off! Said she wanted to be alone with her lawyer. As if I cared!"

"What time did you return?"

"About five o'clock. I went upstairs and in passing Miss Todd's room saw her lying on the bed, murdered! It's horrible. The room's ransacked and all her valuable jewels gone!" concluded the maid.

Fordney mentally reviewed his conversation with Wheeler, the attorney. When Miss Todd answered the door she seemed exhausted. She said she'd been up in her room looking over her securities and jewelry. The task had apparently been too much for her. Feeling very weak she asked Wheeler to help her back upstairs to her room, which he did. He found the shades drawn, the lights on and her securities and jewels piled neatly on the desk. After turning over her recently drawn will she had asked him to put her valuables in the safe as he had done. Wheeler said, therefore, his fingerprints would be found on the safe and other objects in the room. Miss Todd was feeling much better when he left at four o'clock. Then his statement that Mary had been left $10,000 in the new will.

Mary's alibi that she had spent the afternoon at the movies could not be checked.

WHO'S STORY DID FORDNEY DOUBT AND WHY?

[See solution on page 28.]

Kin of Patou Here to Study Woman's Dress

Observes 'Types' and What They Wear Best.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

All that M. Raymond Barbas, an observant young man from Paris, has to do for the next month is to travel about America studying "types" of American women. After that he will go back home and tell his brother-in-law, Jean Patou, the French couturier, what the whims, vagaries, and preferences of American women are and what they wear best.

He was in Chicago yesterday, his first stop outside New York on a country-wide tour, and after a few hours here had observed enough of Chicago women to enable him to stand in his suite in the Blackstone hotel and utter one rapturous remark after another about them.

"Ah, even the little elevator girls one sees—such nicely manicured nails, such a neat, attractive appearance!" he said. "And the mature women met in stores and elsewhere here—much more beautiful, well preserved, than is usual in cities."

American women in general won M. Barbas' praise. Particularly their legs. He grew almost lyric on the subject of American legs.

"They are long, slender, graceful," he said. "Ideal from a designer's viewpoint. European women—not all of them, however—have shorter legs, more feminine figures. American women are less feminine. They are long of limb, square of shoulder and perhaps a little flatter of chest—but esthetically better to wear clothes."

It is the American woman with her tall, athletic figure which has inspired the newest mode created by Patou, which, M. Barbas predicted, will sweep the world of fashion just as long skirts did after Patou prescribed long skirts.

This new mode, already exhibited to American designers in Paris, has a low waist line instead of the prevalent high waist line. The waist is moulded to the figure, and the clinging line continues past the hips. The belt is a sort of girdle snugly fitting the hips.

It has a middle age style effect, with a square cut neck, wide shoulders, tightly fitting sleeves, low waist line and skirt which hugs the hips and then proceeds in fairly full lines. The hem line is the same as it is now—ankle length for evening wear, shorter for day time.

M. Barbas had one criticism of American women, however.

"In France the stenographer or small shop proprietor makes her own dress, and she puts in a deft touch of individuality," he said. "In America, the women look very smart, but they look more alike. However, they are improving, I understand, gaining in individuality."

Although M. Barbas doesn't pretend to be so interested in American men as he is in women, he said of them: "I like American men. They make good friends. They have loyalty."

More Debut Dates Are Selected as Families Return to the City

Announce Tea for Barbara Eldridge on Nov. 12; Other Parents Tell of Parties for Daughters.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THIS year it has seemed as if every one who had a daughter old enough to make her debut had been slower than usual in making up her mind about when, or if, she would introduce her daughter to society, so except for the early debut parties in the country it has been impossible to compile any kind of a list of debuts.

Now that the summer vacationers are returning, however, dates are being set and before long we shall have a complete list of this season's debutantes and their presentation dates.

Mrs. Harold Eldridge told me yesterday that she and Mr. Eldridge would give a tea for their daughter, Barbara, on Saturday, Nov. 12, at their residence, 1244 Stone street. So far Miss Eldridge is the second who has chosen this date for we announced yesterday that Miss Betty Brawley would make her debut that day. The Eldridges are just back from their summer place at Harbor Point, where Barbara is a favorite with the younger set. She finished last June at Farmington.

Miss Helen Marie Castle, daughter of Mrs. Frederick L. McNally of 237 East Delaware place, is to make her debut at a tea at the Fortnightly on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 6. Miss Castle, who recently returned from having spent the summer with her mother and Mr. McNally at Leland, Mich., was graduated from the Mount Vernon seminary in Washington last June.

Add Name of Dorothy McVoy

A new name to be added to this year's list of debutantes is Dorothy Jean McVoy, for that young lady has decided that she would like to have a "coming out" party here before she starts on the floating university she is to attend in January.

Miss McVoy's mother, Mrs. Fortunato Jerace of Rome, Italy, who has been spending the late summer with her daughters, Mrs. McVoy Holden, Mrs. Sidney S. Gorham Jr., and Miss McVoy, at the family's summer place at Pentwater, Mich., has come to town with her daughters and has opened her residence at 3030 Lake Shore drive and is making plans for Miss McVoy's formal introduction to society.

Mr. Jerace will close their apartment in Rome and join her here in several weeks. Mrs. Holden is leaving today to put her small daughter, Jacqueline, in school in the east and to give up the apartment in New York that she had last winter, but what she will do after that is indefinite—perhaps return here for at least a part of the winter.

Miss Bobette Boysen, who was graduated last year from the Principia academy in St. Louis, has left for her first year at Vassar. She will make her debut at a small dinner dance or tea during the holidays, but her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis K. Boysen of 1448 Lake Shore drive, have not decided definitely what they will do to introduce pretty Bobette.

Tea Today for Longmeadow Hunt

Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Fenton are entertaining the members of the Longmeadow Hunt at tea this afternoon at their residence on Indian Hill road in Winnetka after the weekly Wednesday afternoon hunt.

The Fentons have taken the Arthur Reynolds' apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive for the winter and are moving into it about Oct. 15. Mrs. Fenton is busy with plans for her daughter's (Honore White) debut, although no date has been set yet, and also with plans for the annual Cradle ball, for which she is general chairman.

The date for the ball was set last spring as Oct. 29, but there is some talk about changing it now because that is the date of the Princeton-Michigan football game at Ann Arbor, and numerous Chicagoans will be going there for it, no doubt.

Mrs. Fenton and Mrs. Melvin A. Traylor are thinking of giving an evening affair as a joint debut for Miss White and Miss Nancy Traylor, but they have made no definite plans yet.

The girls who go to Bryn Mawr college are having an extra week in which to play, for the college isn't going to open until Oct. 10 instead of on the 4th, on account of the infantile paralysis epidemic in Philadelphia. Miss Marie Swift, who is entering Bryn Mawr this year, moved in with her family, the Gustavus F. Swifts, yesterday from their Lake Bluff estate to their town house at 1551 Astor street. They will keep open their country place until late in the fall, however, to spend week-ends there.

Miss Swift is to make her debut during the Christmas holidays, but the date for the dinner dance her parents will give to introduce formally their daughter has not been set.

Miss Lucy Fairbank, daughter of Mrs. Dexter Fairbank, will leave on Oct. 8 for her sophomore year at Bryn Mawr. She made her debut on Sept. 10 with Miss Frances Bell at a tea given by Mrs. Fairbank and Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell at the Bells' residence in Winnetka.

Swifts Will Move Oct. 15

The Alden B. Swifts are planning to move to their apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive from their Lake Forest residence on Oct. 15. Mrs. Swift and Mrs. John L. Senior are planning to give a dance at the Casino for their debutante daughters, Lydia Swift and Mary Senior, during the holidays, but the date is not definite. The party will be Miss Swift's formal presentation to society but Miss Senior made her debut at a tea in Lake Forest on Sept. 17.

Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe has gone east for a fortnight's stay. While she is away she will visit her son, John, at St. Paul's school at Concord, N. H., John having left for school about ten days ago.

Mrs. Schweppe's nephew, John Reed, son of Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed, has gone to Santa Fe, N. Mex., to school this year, having been east last year. Mrs. Reed is planning to introduce her daughter, Mary, informally to society some time during the Christmas holidays with an evening party at the Casino but the date has not been selected.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hibbard, who have spent the summer at their Lake Bluff estate, are moving into town the middle of next week, and soon after that Mrs. Hibbard will be reopening Conveniences, the little shop she opened last fall and ran so successfully for charity's sake.

Mrs. Hibbard is planning to entertain some time during the season for her debutante niece, Miss Marjorie Goodman, but just when she hasn't decided. She thinks, however, that she will give a small dinner for her at the Hibbards' apartment, 1301 Astor street.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Faurot Jr. and the children are coming in town on Saturday to occupy the apartment at 158 East Superior street they have taken for the winter. They keep open

Starched White Faultless Touch to Black Frocks

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The echo of the suspender and guimpe dress vogue that swept Paris last summer is the revival of starched details. They are used particularly for the brief blouses that accompany guimpe dresses, and the Parisian couturiers are using them for other things, so great is their success.

In the sketch today is a frock from Lenief that owes half its charm to its fresh and dainty, starched, ruffle sleeves. The dress is in black silk velvet, and is held in at the rather high waistline by horizontal tuckings in the center front. From the tucks a belt extends around the back of this frock, tying in a bow at the center. The skirt falls into soft folds from hips to hem. Skirts that are fuller than last season's are being shown by almost all of the French dressmakers. At the point of the collarless, V neckline of this frock, Lenief places a small self-material jabot. A wide shoulder line is achieved by the cap sleeves, which are made of black velvet, stiffened to flare markedly. Below this sleeve are three ruffles of white starched batiste, which are rather full and stand out from the arms.

This is the kind of frock smart Parisiennes are choosing for afternoon and informal evening wear for fall.

Eric Lambarts Have Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Lambart announce the birth of a daughter, Margot, on Sunday at the Presbyterian hospital. Mrs. Lambart is a Junior league member and also belongs to the Service club. Last year she took a prominent part in the Service club's revue.

Mrs. Leroy W. Kramer of 1320 North State street will return today from the east, where she went to put her sons, Leroy Jr. and Henry, in school.

Mrs. Thomas G. Milsted and Miss Jean Milsted left Sunday to motor to New York to meet Mrs. Frank Fuller and Miss Judith Boddie upon their arrival from Europe tomorrow on the Manhattan.

Plan St. Luke's Fashion Show

"It must be the bad weather" said one member of the women's board of St. Luke's hospital at the meeting and luncheon yesterday at the Fortnightly in explanation of the numbers of women who had come in from the country for the affair, but Mrs. Frank Hibbard nullified that explanation by reminding the lady that acceptances had to be sent several days before, so it must have been just interest in the fashion show that induced so many women to come to town for the meeting.

Plans for this year's fashion show, to be held on Oct. 25 at the Stevens hotel, were discussed, and although nothing new about the show was announced, there are several new and interesting things being "cooked up" by Mrs. John W. Gary, general chairman, and her co-workers, so I know it is safe to predict that this year's show will be just as successful, at least from the onlookers' point of view, as ever before, and of course the committee members hope it will be from theirs, too, for the hospital needs money more than ever.

Mrs. Walter B. Wolf reported that already she had secured thirty-two shops as exhibitors and she expects to get at least that many more before she is finished with her part of the work. Mrs. George A. Ranney is having a meeting of her committee Friday morning at her residence to decide about the models—all the debutantes will be invited to model—but Mrs. Wolf confided to a few of us that one of Michigan avenue's smartest shops had asked to have Mrs. James Ward Thorne [a grandmother, but such a beautiful and young looking one] as its model, so perhaps all the models won't be little debutantes.

Mrs. Henry Faurot Jr. had an advance proof of the poster to show the committee, a stunning thing painted by Mrs. Howard Ellis.

White Elephant Sale Tomorrow

The White Elephant Rummage shop will have its first home dressmakers' sale of the season tomorrow at the shop, 27 East Ohio street. Mrs. D. Mark Cummings will be in charge. A furrier has given the shop a number of coat linings which will be featured at tomorrow's sale.

The committee in charge of the Red, White and Blue club benefit supper dance to be held on Armistice night at the Hotel Sherman, will meet Monday morning at the Ambassador East. Mrs. Edward R. Fifield is president of the club.

Prenuptial parties for Miss Charlotte Eckhart, whose marriage to Thomas Coyne Jr. is to be solemnized on Oct. 15, started yesterday with a kitchen shower and tea given by Mrs. Walter Noble Gillett of Kenilworth. On Friday afternoon Miss Marcelle Vennema will be hostess at a pantry shower and bridge at the Winnetka residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Vennema.

Next Tuesday Mrs. James L. Garard of 1648 East 50th street will give a bridge luncheon and on the following afternoon the bride-to-be's grandmother, Mrs. Bernard A. Eckhart, will give a luncheon at the Woman's Athletic club preceding a matinee party.

On the following Monday, Oct. 10, Mrs. Owen A. West and Mrs. Macauley Carter will give an afternoon party on Tuesday Mrs. Frederick G. Little will be hostess at a luncheon, and on Wednesday Miss Eckhart's sister, Mrs. James R. D. Stevenson Jr., will give a tea. Mrs. Sidney Y. Ball of Winnetka is to have a luncheon on Thursday, and on Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart will give the bridal dinner at their Kenilworth residence. On Saturday Mrs. Grant Ridgway of Kenilworth will be hostess at a luncheon before the wedding for members of the families of the bride and groom.

Several other friends of Miss Eck- There will be a reception and tea for Mrs. Frank G. Logan from 4 to 5 o'clock this afternoon in the galleries of Kroch's book store to celebrate the publication of Mrs. Logan's volume of poems, "Lights and Shadows."

Elinor Durbin Bride at Church Rites

MR. AND MRS. SARTELL PRENTICE PORTER.

Hundred Guests

Miss Elinor Durbin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher M. Durbin, and Sartell Prentice Porter, son of Henry H. Porter and Mrs. Prentice Porter, were married at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon before the small chapel altar of St. Chrysostom's church. Less than one hundred friends and members of the families attended the ceremony and the reception which followed at the Durbin residence at 1449 Astor street.

White tapers glowed above the white chrysanthemums and gladioli that decorated the altar, while colorful sprays of chrysanthemums, zinnias, marigolds, and other bright fall flowers bloomed from tall standards in the chapel. One aisle to seat the guests was separated from the body of the church by a high white screen overlaid with ferns.

The bride's gown was a sheathlike model of white satin with a long train falling from the waist line. The only trimming was a deep yoke of rose point lace inherited from a great-great aunt. The same lace was used for the little tricorn cap with which her tulle veil was fastened and a flounce of it rippled out over the border of the veil. She carried a spray of lilies of the valley and gardenias.

Her two attendants, Mrs. Robert Ward of Provincetown, R. I., and Miss Betty Frey, wore dust pink velvet gowns with wide brimmed hats of deep purple velvet and carried round bouquets of dahlias that matched the shade of their hats. Mrs. Durbin wore a soft gray wool lace gown with a matching hat, a sable scarf, and a corsage of purple orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore an ensemble of purple satin with chinchilla trimming and an orchid shoulder corsage.

John P. Porter attended his brother as best man and the ushers were Winfield T. Durbin II., Henry H. Porter Jr., Philip Elting, Price McKinney of Cleveland, John L. Bradley of Colorado Springs, and Charles McCormick of San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter will spend their honeymoon in England and Ireland, where they plan to hunt, and will return to Chicago in early December.

Among the wedding guests were the bride's two grandmothers, Mrs. Thornton D. West and Mrs. Fletcher Durbin, widow of the former governor of Indiana; the bridegroom's sister, Miss Mary Porter; Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin A. Traylor, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Joseph B. Long, Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson, Mrs. Waller Borden, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Valentine, Mrs. Moses J. Wentworth, Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Mrs. Raymond C. Dudley and her daughter, Miss Lillian Dudley; Miss Helen Bell, Mrs. Marshall Paul Noyes, Miss Catharine Noyes, Mrs. Jacob Baur, and Mrs. R. Townsend McKeever.

Results of Too Much Summer Sun Now Being Seen on Hair and Skin

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Fading or a disappointed looking tan, freckles, and streaky hair are being thrown back from certain mirrors these early fall days. Too much summer turned on them all of a hurry! No little protectives were used before sun and wind bites. Nothing especial was used afterward to soften the mirrored fall blow!

Some of you will laugh it off with: "Well, it was a merry old summer, so what of it!"

Some of you will be all for clearing the skin and brightening the hair for early fall conquests. Others will leave it to time to restore the pre-summer glory of skin and hair. And it will take a little time, even with treatments, to get rid of the tan and freckles. Also to get the hair back to its normal, even coloring.

If your hair was bleached or dyed before the sun started streaking it you must have treatments for a decently quick return to normal. Either that or a new dye or rinse application.

I'm finding quite a little reaction to the effects of hair dyeing and bleaching. I note, however, that this reaction is cited invariably where the hair has been home treated. I've been a bit of a crank about this home dyeing business. This reaction appearing in my mail now only proves my claim that it takes a good professional eye, talent, and knowledge to make a satisfactory job of dyed or bleached hair. It seems to me that nine out of ten amateurs lose their color sense after a couple of applications. They overdo.

Another thing, because perhaps they are not being directly advised or watched over, they neglect the extra hair care that dyed and bleached hair must have to be nice. The worst fault, however, is in the uneven color application and excess color application as time goes on.

There are bleaches for the tan and remedies for the freckles on the market which have to be used according to instructions, and used regularly. But to get that important feature, hair, back to its groomed, clear, and healthy look you simply must doctor your scalp daily with brush and massage and a weekly oil treatment, at least.

BY MARY MEADE.

Have you ever caught yourself tactfully encouraging your family to indulge in a second bowl of morning cereal—not so much because they seemed to need it as because you dreaded to see said cereal come back to the kitchen?

There usually manages to be about two cups or a little less left over. Assuredly, nobody wants day old cereal served as such the following morning. Yet no matter how few pennies it means, our consciences simply will not let us throw it out. We stand and gaze perplexedly at the food remnant and rack our brains for what it was that Mrs. B.—or was it Miss G.?—once said she did with left over cereal.

In lieu of a bright thought of your own—or better yet, to accompany some of your own brain children—may I suggest the following cereal glorifications? You will find, the more you experiment, that cooked cereals are excellent extenders for pleasant combinations of left over vegetables, meats, fish, cheese, and even fruits. That when you are sure there is "nothing in the house to eat" most delectable souffles, croquettes, luncheon soups, roasts, and puddings—not to mention breads, muffins, and even pancakes may be conjured out of these "nothings" and furnish a perfect answer to the meal problem.

As a rule, luncheon cereal dishes may be called in no matter what variety our left over is. Cooked oats, wheat, rice, corn meal, hominy, barley, and buckwheat will make substantial and pleasing backgrounds for more flavorsome foods. And since cereal—especially those whole grains which have not been deprived of their fibrous husk in preparation—furnish important sources of mineral, protein, and energy foods, they need merely the addition of milk solids, egg, or a little meat to make them excellent main dishes for luncheon or even informal dinners.

OAT-NUT ROAST.

2 cups cooked rolled oats (or other cereal)
3 well beaten eggs
¼ cup melted butter
1½ cups milk [about]
1 cup finely chopped nut meats
1½ tbsp. minced onion
1¾ cups diced celery
1 tsp. salt

Blend the ingredients, adding the milk last, until a moist, packable mixture has been obtained. Turn into a greased pan and let stand half an hour. Bake in a moderately hot oven [375 degrees F.] another half an hour. Serve plain or with tomato sauce.

Left over cereal of all kinds may be pressed into wet molds and allowed to stiffen, then turn out into individual bowls, surrounded by sliced bananas or berries, and served cold with sugar and cream. Or cereal may be molded in regular tin baking powder cans [also wet] and, when stiff, turned out, sliced, and fried in savory meat or bacon fat.

SAVORY CEREAL SOUPS.

Or, for a piping hot supper dish some chilly night, try a cereal-celery soup. Oatmeal is again good, though other cereals will do the trick. Simmer together a cup of cooked cereal, one and one-half cups coarsely chopped celery, one tablespoon minced onion, and two cups of meat stock for about twenty minutes, or until tender. Strain through a sieve into a pint of hot milk. Season with salt and a dash of cayenne pepper and thicken slightly with a paste made from one tablespoon each of flour and butter. Turn into hot bowls and sprinkle each serving with finely minced parsley.

Child Is Cruel to Animals, but Not Purposely

He Thinks They Are Toys, to Be Jerked About.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Have you often been distressed because your very little boy or girl is not kind to animals, or at least because it seems that way to you? If so, this letter will interest you:

"He is an awful tease to the cat and dog. I don't know why this is, as both Daddy and I love animals. Why, he even tries to kick them, then the little imp will turn around and laugh ever so gleefully when the cat makes a dart away from him."

It's all quite plain if you'll think about it a little. At 15 months you're just beginning to have the power to make things happen. With toys that squeak perhaps when you squeeze them, or banging on a table with a spoon, or pushing your cup to the edge and seeing it go crash. What fun, then, to kick at the cat and see it scoot, perhaps under a chair where it peeks out at you with round eyes, or dashes out of the window and up a tree.

At 15 months, too, you have had no experience or imagination which enables you to know that taking hold of that convenient handle at one end of the dog and jerking it hurts him, or that a nice, lusty, enjoyable kick inflicts pain. This is all a game like play or toys—and a delightful cause and effect. All this if you're only 15 months old.

But if you're the mother of a 15 months older and likewise a lover of animals, don't think your baby is cruel. He isn't. Try to get the baby's reactions—or point of view.

Of course, even though you understand it, you can't let the animals be abused. I've seen people allow it—and a small child can actually torment an animal.

There are several ways to prevent it. Arouse interest in the animals. Let the child do something for the dog or cat—perhaps fix its food and water and give it. Get a ball for the baby to throw for the animals or something to incite them to play. Pet them yourself and teach the baby how to do it. Then divert his interest with toys. Or, if necessary, put the animals in another room.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I am told I am the nicest looking girl in my crowd and have one of the best dispositions. Yet, when we meet a crowd of young men I am usually left out. I am liked only as a friend, that's all. Could it be because I am not as free with the boys and do not play up to them?—Libby."

Probably is, "Libby!" You're not free enough with the boys to make them feel free and easy in your presence. And if you don't play up to them, why should they bother their heads playing up to you?

You see, "Libby" and all you other girls with Libby's problem, there are so many, many good looking girls, nowadays, that you have to be an unusual one to be able to rely on looks alone to get you anywhere with the boys. Being told you are the nicest looking girl in your crowd may not mean a thing. Every other girl may have loving friends and relatives imparting the same information to them. Better discount this compliment.

Even if it is due you, "Libby," don't dwell on the idea. And about the disposition, too, you can't believe all you hear from "friends." There are always friends to tell us we are this and that and the other grand thing. But that doesn't solve a lonesome problem. It's easier for friends to tell us a compliment when we hold them up for reasons why we don't accomplish this and that than it is for them to tell us our faults.

The bad thing about nursing the compliments is that it takes your mind off the real issue—how to be generally liked, in your case, Libby, how to make the boys date you, want to be with you more.

Play up to them. Why not? There are girls as good looking as you and as well dispositioned doing it! You want what the other girls get, so the thing to do is to study the tactics that get them their dates and boy company. Don't sit smugly by, thinking how inferior is male taste to choose other girls while you're to be had for the asking. Their taste is O. K., as you, too, will find out when you act a little more humanly companionable and play up to them more!

The Murder of Caroline Bundy

By ALICE CAMPBELL.

SYNOPSIS.

Neil Starkey, American biographer, is engaged by Caroline Bundy to compile the life and letters of her late father, a famous English biologist. Neil is mystified by the peculiarities of Miss Bundy, who is broken in health and mentally disturbed. She has hired a photographer, named Tilbury, as bailiff. He and his wife, a common, illiterate couple, occupy the lodge, and hold a strange influence over Caroline. Natasha Andreyev, Caroline's half Russian niece, beautiful but fiery tempered, acts as her aunt's secretary. She detests the Tilburys. Caroline puts Neil in charge of the library in the daytime, cautioning him to admit no one. She tells him her father, a man of science, was also a mystic. Caroline and the Tilburys hold nightly meetings in the library. Neil has a friend, Giles Gisborne, vicar of a nearby parish, who lives with his sister, Rachel. Neil has lunch in bath with Rachel and Tasha. He sees Tasha hold a secret meeting with a strange man and later sees her pay the stranger's bill in the tearoom. Neil is attracted to Natasha, but is baffled by her odd behavior. Emily Braselton, Caroline's one close friend, calls to investigate the ominous rumors she'd been hearing.

UPSETTING RIDDLES.

"At all events, I shall make it my business to ferret out the truth," Miss Braselton was thinking aloud. "I can do nothing while she is surrounded by this atmosphere, but if I succeed in getting her to come away with me, as I intend to do, I shall soon find out everything, and that is the initial step to putting things right. All I ask is a clear field—and I fancy the doctor will help me get it. Anyhow, we shall soon see." She returned to Neil with a placating manner. "I hope, Mr. Starkey, I've not offended you. I must ask you to believe I don't make accusations of this kind without taking due thought. Hark! there's the car now." She rose hastily and held out her hand. "Don't let Caroline suspect we've been talking. Perhaps you will go out the other way?"

So saying, she surged forward to the front door, just opening to admit Miss Bundy. As Neil slipped into the library the visitor's ringing tones reached him from the hall.

"Carrie, my dear! So you tried to keep me away, didn't you? Never mind, here I am, and I shan't budge till you've promised to join me for a holiday in Rome. No excuses—I simply refuse to take 'no'."

"Rome? Rome?" came the dazed but stubborn reply. "Certainly not!

Why, what was the woman up to? She had almost got run over.

Why, it's out of the question! I've no intention whatever of leaving home this Easter!"

In the semi-darkness a tousled figure stumbled into Neil on its way to the opposite exit. The flat accents of Mrs. Tilbury whispered in his ear a giggling apology.

"O—it's you, sir! I'm that ashamed! I just dropped off for forty winks, waiting for Miss Bundy to come in. Wat Alf'll say to me ——"

Asleep? For barely an instant it occurred to him she might have been listening, but he had more vital things to think about now. That poisonous headmistress! How dared she make so unwarrantable a charge against Natasha?

He was due to dine at the vicarage. When he went to take out his car he found Natasha conversing with a trim chauffeur, who touched his cap and withdrew. At once she spoke to him, eyes shining with excitement.

"Do you know who's here? Emily Braselton, the woman I told you was Caroline's one close friend. She's spending the night, on her way to Paris."

"I've seen the lady. It appears she means to make your aunt go with her."

"No! not really? I say, what luck!"

"You want her to?" For the life of him he could not explain why he asked this, or why he should watch so closely to see her reaction. It was just as though he thought there might be an element of truth in the Braselton woman's allegations.

"Want!" She gave him a surprised glance. "Why, it's what I've been praying for! The only hope I can see is for Emily to take her in hand. I know she can't bear the sight of me, but all the same if she can get rid of those vampires I'll go on my knees to thank her."

Obviously she was elated. In fact there was only one doubt in his mind, and even this caused him shame—he could not quite help wondering which pleased her more, the thought of extricating her aunt from upscrupulous toils, or of ousting, neck and crop, the schemers themselves. At any rate, following him inside the garage, she went on earnestly, "I do believe this has come just in the nick of time. I feel suspicious about these continual visits to the lodge, but it's impossible either to prevent them or to spy on her while she's there. Before long we'll have her crocking up again, and the next time will be far worse. I think I ought to speak a word to Miss Braselton about it."

"Not this evening," he advised rather quickly. "Let them fight it out between them. I'll tell you what—come along to the Gisbornes with me. Rachel's complaining you've not been near her for ten days."

Inexplicably her face clouded and she looked away. "No, I—I'd rather not. Give Rachel my love and—I say, your lamps are dim! Your rotten engine wants decarbonizing. That's why you've such a bother getting started."

No doubt she had considerably more acquaintance with the two-seater than himself, he reflected cynically, while with another section of his brain he felt discomfited at her refusal to accompany him.

In the dense gloom of the double hedge some one scuttled like a rabbit directly across his bath. The faint headlamps shone for an instant on Connie Tilbury, fleeing blindly up the drive towards the house. Why, what was the woman up to? She had almost got run over.

His brakes, violently applied, had brought the car round to a standstill with its ineffectual lights boring into the shrubbery. For this reason Tilbury, who had just come out of the lodge door did not see him, but Neil, on the other hand, had a clear view of the coatless figure silhouetted against an oblong of yellow radiance. The man had a curiously alert and watchful air. His glassy eyes stared quickly in every direction, his little spiky moustache was drawn back from his upper teeth in something like a snarl.

"Con!" he called in a sharp undertone. "Con, you fool! Wat the 'll 're you after? You come when I call you!"

Exactly at this instant the engine started. At the unexpected whirr only a few yards from him Tilbury jumped, stiffened, and peered into the shadows. His manner underwent a lightning change to his customary suavity.

"Why—are you there, sir?" he inquired with a touch of anxiety. "I'm just looking for the wife. Didn't 'appen to see her go past, did you?"

"Yes," said Neil. "On her way to the house, I think."

With swift impetus the bailiff sprang past him, muttering with a chuckle, "Will 'ave her little game, she will. Silly little tyke! Got an 'eavy cold on her chest, too. No business to be out."

The devil itself had got into the two-seater, which stopped again. While he was cursing the self-starter the two Tilburys returned, arm in arm, both convulsed with unaccountable merriment.

Alongside the lodge a path debouched, and from it had stumbled forth the thick set, panting figure of Miss Bundy, without either hat or coat. She ran almost into the mudguard, drew back, and clapped one hand over her heaving chest. The sight of her was a shock to all three. The bailiff, with a side glance at Neil, hastened forward to greet her, forestalling, as it seemed, any speech on her part.

"Well, well! Taking a bit of air, are you, Miss? Shouldn't ought to 'urry like this, though, if you'll pardon me. Bad for the 'eart."

He prattled on in like strain till the car had lurched through into the roadway, when suddenly Neil heard the old lady, unable to restrain herself longer, burst forth with the agitated words: "It must be this evening. Eleven or later—as we arranged."

There was no reply to this.

From the vicarage Neil at once tried to telephone Natasha, and after several engaged signals cut in on a conversation between her and a man. Try as he would, he could not put down the receiver till the concluding sentences had reached his ears. His whole skin prickled at the thought that now, at last, he was actually listening to the voice of one who had filled him with jealous rage for weeks on end. That it was an agreeable voice, well bred and with a definite charm, only made matters worse.

"Why aren't you here?" it said, with urgent reproach. "I've been at the Royal Pump over half an hour, waiting."

"Don't worry—I'm coming," answered the girl guardedly. "I'm more cheerful tonight, anyway."

"Why? You can't mean you really see a ——"

"S'sh!—wait. I'll tell you presently." The click which followed told of a disconnection.

When, a few minutes later, he got through it was to learn from Crabbe that Natasha had just left the house. Foiled and furious, he banged down the receiver, well aware that his face had turned so swarthily red that Rachel and her brother were eyeing him with surprise.

"Anything wrong?" asked the former quietly. "You seem upset."

"No—yes." He explained briefly how he believed Miss Bundy was about to hold another seance, and that he considered Natasha ought to be told. "As she's dining out, there's nothing I can do, except inform Miss Braselton—and I hate interfering to that extent."

Entire Studio Is Working on Just One Film

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Sep. 27.—Nearly an entire studio is being concentrated on the making of one picture, "If I Had a Million," at Paramount. This story is about a dying millionaire with $9,000,000 to bequeath, who selects nine names at random out of the telephone book to become his heirs.

The film is being photographed in nine different sequences, each sequence handled by a separate director and written by a separate author or group of authors. So far eleven of Paramount's contract players have been assigned to principal rôles, including Frederick March, Richard Bennett, Gary Cooper, Sylvia Sidney, Winne Gibson, Jack Oakie, Frances Dee, Gene Raymond, George Raft, Charlie Ruggles, Alison Skipworth, and the studio is now going out to borrow stars from other studios and the free lance ranks. Thirty scenarists have been engaged to collaborate on episodes and sequences of the story. Bennett's is the only part to run through all nine chapters.

Not all the directors are yet picked for the nine parts, but Lucky Humberstone will direct the sequence in which George Raft, playing a bank forger; Shirley Grey, and Kent Taylor are featured.

Norman McLeod, just through with "Horse Feathers," will direct that in which W. C. Fields, the former Broadway comedian, Alison Skipworth, and Cecil Cunningham show what a million dollar windfall does for poverty stricken stage people.

James Cruze directs Gene Raymond and Frances Dee's sequences. There is no precedent in Hollywood for a feature film of this kind, in which so many different stories, separately handled, are knit together into one main theme.

It looks as though Victor McLaglen is going to have to drain the swimming pool on his La Canyada estate to rescue Buster Keaton's admiral's hat. Buster dived into the pool, admiral uniform, gold sword, epaulets, ostrich feathered hat and all, during McLaglen's jamboree for 167 guests last Sunday evening, and so big and deep is the McLaglen swimming pool that nobody at the party felt able to dive in and rescue the hat.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Adler of 5004 Woodlawn avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Irene, to Oscar S. Rome, son of Mrs. Julia Rome of Boston. Miss Adler was graduated from Wellesley college and later studied and traveled abroad. Mr. Rome was graduated from Harvard college. The wedding will take place in November and Mr. and Mrs. Rome will live in Chicago.

Women Bank Officials Plan Aids to Trade

Women executives of banks will discuss their problems at a convention in Los Angeles, which is to run concurrently with that of the American Bankers' association—from Oct. 3 to 5, inclusive. The occasion will be the tenth annual convention of the Association of Bank Women, membership in which is drawn from all over the country.

Miss Grace S. Stoermer, assistant vice president of the Bank of America National Trust and Savings association, Los Angeles, and president of the women bankers, estimates that there are now some 7,000 of her sex engaged in the banking and brokerage business, of whom nearly 4,000 hold official positions.

The theme of the convention, as announced by Miss Lillian C. Hage of Los Angeles, chairman of the general convention committee, is: "It's up to the bank women to help restore courage, confidence, common sense." This goal is to be accomplished by efforts in the home, across the business desk, and participation in public affairs.

"Banking institutions are the foundations of our entire economic system," Miss Stoermer states, "and as such should and do desire to create a friendly relationship between the members of the community so that they will benefit and profit by their existence.

"Because women are the largest single class of potential clients that any bank has to prepare for, more and more women are needed in the banks to attract the trade of women. Women bank officials are the intelligent response of the bankers to the problems afforded by the increasing number of women depositors, women investors, of women owning businesses, managing fortunes and earning salaries. This is an indication the banking profession has not barricaded itself behind the claim that their women clients would rather advise with men or that they put more reliance on a man's judgment and experience than on a woman's."

Membership in the Association of Bank Women is divided into seven regions for convenience. These are: New England, Lake, Middle-Atlantic, Mid-Western, Southern, Southwestern, and Western. Miss Emma E. Claus, secretary-treasurer of the Bankers' Trust company of Gary, Ind., is regional vice president of the Lake district. Chicago members are: Miss Mary Travers of the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank; Louella H. Ensworth, Northern Trust company; Miss Elizabeth C. Krouse, University State bank; Mrs. Laurie S. McCoy, Boulevard Bridge bank, and Miss May Stinson, Chicago Joint Stock Land bank.

Critic Pleased with Exhibition by Glicenstein

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Three exhibitions with which to start a tour sounds interesting even after the discovery that the exhibits have, in two cases, but a thin veneer of merit with which to engage your attention.

At the Palette and Chisel club, 1012 North Dearborn street, a one-man show of oils and pastels by John McDonnell leaves its audience a little cold.

At the Cinema theater, 151 East Chicago avenue, an exhibit of prints by members of the Fort Dearborn Camera club gives much of the best work that has been included in the summer show of photographs at the Art institute.

The third exhibition, that of water colors, etchings, oils and small sculptures by Enrico Glicenstein, in the Knoedler gallery, is the most important of the three and by far the finest. Glicenstein is a character in himself and an able artist. He has been honored on both sides of the Atlantic. He deserves all the admiration which has been given him. His work has rhythm, movement, virility and beauty. His oils, the few he shows in the current exhibit, are heavy, extraordinarily unlike his usual touch. The water colors, however, are fresh and vigorous, full of incident and color.

The etchings are his principal work. They fire the imagination and commend themselves to our feeling for craftsmanship. Here is the master at his best. Some of these etchings move in cycles. There is "The Mask," a group of seven stunning dance motifs. There are prints from the "Mother" cycle—a colt and mare; a cow and calf; a human mother with her dead child. Biblical and pastoral themes have incited other of these etchings and the result is good.

The few pieces of sculpture are thoroughly delightful and the exhibit would have suffered had they been left out. Glicenstein is a gifted Piper, calling whimsey, beauty and tenderness from wood and stone.

The various exhibitions continue into October.

Looks 10 Years Younger Brushes Away Gray Hair

Now you can really look years younger. Simply brush away those unsightly streaks or patches of gray. It is so easy to do—and at home—with Brownatone. Over 20 years of success recommend this proved method. With an ordinary small brush you just tint your hair back to its natural shade—whether blonde, brown or black. Guaranteed harmless. Active coloring agent is purely vegetable. Does not coat the surface. Actually penetrates the hair. Defies detection. No tell-tale, flat "dyed" look. Cannot affect waving of hair.

No need to guess. First cut a lock of hair from your head and apply a little of this famous tint. If Brownatone does not give your gray, streaked dull, or faded hair its natural color, youth and sheen, your money back. Only 50c.

CIVILIAN REVOLT THREATENS ARMY REGIME IN CHILE

Northern Leader Presents Demands in Capital.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 27.—Another revolt threatened Chile today—this time from civilian elements in the republic's northern provinces. Ismael Valdes, civilian leader, conferred with Premier Ernesto Barros Jarpa today, presumably to present demands of the northern provinces for an immediate civil government.

A communication received by Provisional President Bartolme Blanche's government, which is supported by the military, indicated that the armed forces of the north, led by Gen. Vignola, have been persuaded to retire in favor of civilians as overseers of the coming elections.

After a cabinet meeting today Luis Barriga, foreign minister, said that Gen. Vignola and his forces had been misled by reports that former President Carlos Ibanez is to return to power. President Blanche, however, after getting in touch with northern garrisons, said that they are in complete agreement with the present régime.

Revolt Is Reported.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 27.—Private messages from Santiago, Chile, tonight indicated that a serious uprising had broken out in Antofagasta province.

Destroy Bolivian Water Supply.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Sept. 27.—Paraguayan troops in the disputed Gran Chaco region have found and destroyed a semi-artesian well in the jungle close to Fort Boqueron, where Bolivian troops have been besieged for many days, it was stated today in dispatches from the front.

Bolivian planes have dropped quantities of ice into the fort, but it is not believed this could fulfill the requirements of the garrison.

League Requests Peace.

(Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.)

GENEVA, Sept. 27.—The council of the league of nations today cabled to Bolivia and Paraguay a "solemn reminder they are legally and honorably bound by their obligations to the league not to have recourse to armed force." The council requested them to accept the peaceful proposals of the other American republics and "put an immediate stop to military action and preparation."

ANSWERS SUIT FOR DIVORCE IN POETRY; BEGS FOR FREEDOM

Cleveland, O., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Thus answered Albert McKinley today in filing answer to a Common Pleas court summons for divorce by his wife, Mrs. Matilda McKinley:

"We have agreed to disagree,
So grant her a divorce from me.
She got my money from the start
But I will not give her my heart.
She ruled the home, so you can see
I will not consent her to rule me.
So grant her the request she asks
And forget the grievance of the past.
So I will then contented be
When I at last again am free."

DESERTERS TRAP FRENCH LEGION IN MOROCCAN HILLS

Join Native Rebels and Defy Old Commander.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 27.—A band of desperate deserters from the French foreign legion, well armed and entrenched in mountainous haunts in Morocco, are successfully defying the slow and judicious advance of French troops in the process of "pacifying" Morocco, according to the Paris Populaire, Socialist organ.

The French troops are not only checked, but on the verge of panic as a result of the threats of the defiant deserters, who are aided by native rebels. The presence of the deserters in the neighborhood was unknown, and they suddenly confronted the advancing general with an ultimatum.

Appeal for More Troops.

An urgent appeal for more troops brought a battalion of the foreign legion so hurriedly that railway men had no time to take proper measures. That was partly the reason for the recent big wreck in which more than fifty legionnaires were killed when the train fell into a ravine, according to Populaire.

Confirmation that the foreign legion is engaged in serious fighting is contained in a letter to THE TRIBUNE from an American corporal who said he had been wounded in the fighting. He wrote from a French military hospital and said another American, whom he called Sergt. Hamilton, had also been wounded.

Great difficulty was experienced in checking up the corporal's allegations. The Populaire admittedly was unable to cite figures on casualties.

Bares Private Information.

Two days ago in a brief, modestly placed article the paper called upon the war department to furnish official details. Today, despairing of receiving them, it published a resume of the private information it has been receiving. It said the engagement started about Sept. 10 and has now reached a stalemate, in which the French troops are unwilling to incur heavy casualties in advancing in the teeth of the deadly resistance of the legion deserters.

On the other hand, a retreat would not only damage the legion's prestige, but is also fraught with great military danger due to the mountainous character of the country.

ILLINOIS FARMS PREPARE TO WAR ON CHINCH BUGS

Large Insect Swarms Menace Crops.

Swarms of chinch bugs, which are nearly as destructive to Illinois cornfields as grasshoppers, are establishing themselves this week in thousands of miles of fence rows and hedges and in heavy grass areas where they will spend the winter and be ready for the onslaught on the crops next spring.

Farmers armed with defensive methods offered by the state college of agriculture and the Illinois natural history survey yesterday were making ready to destroy the chinch bugs, either now or next spring. The infestation was said by many to be the worst in many years, a direct aftermath of the drought two years ago and two successive seasons favorable to an increase in the chinch bug population.

Regardless of how cold the winter may be, according to W. P. Flint, state entomologist at Urbana yesterday, insects will survive in their hibernating quarters. Unlike most other insects, he explained, chinch bugs are affected but little by temperature after they get into winter quarters. They have been known to survive after being exposed to temperatures of 30 degrees below zero.

"The real showdown on the amount of damage the chinch bugs can do will come next spring," said Mr. Flint. "If it is dry then or even if there is a normal amount of rainfall severe damage is threatened to cornfields throughout an extensive area in Illinois."

The area affected comprises thirty counties in the state.

REAL ESTATE OFFICE ROBBED.

CUBS BATTLE YANKEES; IT'S BUSH VS. RUFFING

DOROTHY HURD LOSES AT 19TH IN TITLE GOLF

Bernice Wall Beats Mrs. Hill, 20 Holes.

West Peabody, Mass., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—The two finalists of the 1924 women's golf championships, Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd and Miss Mary K. Browne, passed out of the 1932 tournament at the Salem Country club today.

Mrs. Hurd, one of the most interesting figures golf has produced, holder of the British, Canadian, and United States titles in 1909, was the victim of Miss Peggy Wattles, young Buffalo golfer, in a nineteen hole match. Miss Browne, a national tennis champion before she took up golf, was eliminated by Miss Charlotte Glutting, New Jersey champion, on the last green, 1 up.

Two other important figures fell by the wayside in the opening round at match play. One was Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, present holder of the western title, the other Mrs. Ben Fitzhugh of Vicksburg, Miss., the southern champion.

Mrs. Hill Beaten at Twentieth.

Mrs. Hill, who has had a spectacular career in golf, lost to Miss Bernice Wall, Oshkosh, Wis., girl, in the longest match of the day, a struggle which went to the twentieth hole.

Mrs. Fitzhugh was beaten by Miss Rosalie Knapp of the Women's National Golf and Tennis club, the Long Island player turning a close match into a 4 and 3 rout by winning four holes in a row, starting with a birdie 2 on the twelfth.

Miss Anelia Gorczyca, 18 year old Texas girl, who showed advantageously yesterday, saw her rival, Miss Jean Armstrong of Winnetka, Ill., come from behind and win an extra hole match after being 2 down at the turn. While Miss Ada McKenzie, former Canadian women's champion, just managed to beat Miss Jane Brooks, Rockland Country club, by a single hole after being 3 up and 6 to play.

The most one sided match was the one in which Miss Edith Quier of Reading, Pa., defeated Mrs. N. S. Goldberger of West Long Branch, N. J., 9 and 7, the Pennsylvanian going out in 39 to be 7 up at the turn and playing the next two holes in one under par figures to close the match.

The four favorites, Miss Maureen Orcutt, Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, Miss Virginia Van Wie and Miss Enid Wilson, the British champion, all came through the opening round ordeal. Miss Orcutt, after losing the 10th and 11th holes to be only 1 up, shook off Miss Frances Snyder, her youthful Apawanis rival, by taking four straight holes to win the match, 5 and 3.

Easy for Miss Van Wie.

Miss Van Wie, who was twice runner-up for the title, each time losing to Mrs. Vare, had an easy time winning from Mrs. B. P. Meckley, Baltimore, 5 and 4, which was the same margin by which Miss Wilson won her match against Miss Elizabeth Skinner of Holyoke, Mass.

Mrs. K. F. Scheidt of Norristown, Pa., a first time qualifier, lost to Mrs. Vare, who played the first seven holes in one under 4s and was three over when the match ended, 7 and 5, in her favor on the 13th green.

After being held all even by Miss Snyder, Miss Orcutt played the last four holes of the first nine in even par figures to be 3 up at the turn.

She appeared to have the match well in hand, but after the next two holes she was only 1 up, Miss Snyder having made birdie fours on both the 10th and 11th. At that point Miss Orcutt put on a rally that soon brought the match to a close.

Mrs. Federman Wins.

The other winners were Mrs. Leo G. Federman, Mrs. C. E. Eddis, runnerup in the Canadian last week; Mrs. C. F. Eaton Jr., Mrs. Harley G. Higbie, and Miss Grace English. Mrs. Federman won from a fellow New Yorker, Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, 3 and 2; Mrs. Eddis defeated Miss Dorothy Hunter, former Massachusetts junior champion, 2 and 1; Mrs. Eaton put out Miss Dorothy Richards, a fellow Boston player, 3 and 1; Mrs. Higbie, a member of this year's international team, beat Miss Lucille Robinson of Des Moines, Ia., 1 up, and Miss English, another Massachusetts player, won from Miss Bea Gottlieb, runnerup in this year's metropolitan championship, in a 19 hole match.

The draw kept the topnotch play-

WORLD SERIES BONERS.

HEROES and probably "goats" will develop from the world series between Chicago's Cubs and New York's Yankees, beginning today in New York. Nearly every series develops one or more heroes. Goats are not so numerous but the memory lasts longer.

HEINE ZIMMERMAN.

Heine Zimmerman's performance of chasing Eddie Collins across the home plate with the ball in his hand during the world series of 1917 is a play which has earned a permanent place in "the book." The book, in this sense, is a slang phrase to designate unusual plays, usually of the bonehead order. Heine Zim, as he was known, had been a member of the Chicago Cubs, champions of 1910, and for several years thereafter.

The play in question occurred in the sixth and final game of the series between New York and Chicago's White Sox, of whom Clarence Rowland was manager, at the Polo Grounds in New York. With the score 0 to 0 in the first half of the fourth Collins opened with a grounder to Zimmerman, reaching second when Heine made a poor throw to Holke at first base. Joe Jackson lifted a short fly to right field which Robertson dropped.

Hap Felsch then tapped an easy roller to Pitcher Benton and Collins, who had started on the hit, was trapped between third and home. Collins, still on the line and of course expecting to be tagged out, coaxed Jackson and Felsch to advance while delaying the actual putout. As these runners started the entire New York infield rushed toward third and second, leaving the plate uncovered. Even Catcher Rariden moved down the line toward third.

Zimmerman had the ball in his hand but Collins noticed the plate was open with no one backing up Catcher Rariden. Thereupon he dashed for home, passing Rariden, with Zim in pursuit, the ball still in his hand. Collins crossed the plate in safety, while Jackson and Felsch moved to second and third. Chick Gandil then singled down the right field foul line, scoring both runners. The final score favored the White Sox, 4 to 2, with the benefit of those three unearned runs.

Zimmerman at the time was made the butt of the joking about the bonehead play. Probably he erred in not forwarding the ball to Rariden to keep the ball between Collins and the plate, but he evidently feared Collins might get back to third and avoid the putout. The real error was the failure of either Holke or Benton to go to the plate to back up Rariden who had advanced down the line. Rariden might be blamed in part for going so far, but it's not uncommon for catchers to move down the line after trapped runners, expecting, of course, the plate will be guarded in their absence.

PHILADELPHIANS FIRST IN CUBS' TICKET VIGIL

When the world's series opens in Chicago Saturday, Samuel Warwick of Philadelphia, hopes to be the first to purchase a bleacher seat ticket. He took up his post near the ticket window at Waveland and Sheffield avenues on his arrival here Friday. The following day he was joined by his friend, Paul Schwartz, also from Philadelphia, who has position No. 2 in the short line of fans waiting for the opening day of the game.

So far there are five men and two women waiting to purchase tickets.

Warwick and Schwartz are prepared for a long wait as they have a canvas shelter to cover the cot on which they take turns in sleeping.

Behind the Philadelphians is Thomas McVickers, 2510 Elmwood avenue, Kansas City, who reached Chicago Sunday and expected to head the line. He is even better fixed for his long wait near the ticket window as he had prepared some of the comforts of home. He has a cot on which to rest after supper and in the daytime he folds up his couch and sits in a reclining chair to read the papers.

Two Chicago Girls in Line.

The Chicago area is represented in the line by two young women who have been given fourth and fifth positions.

Miss Edna Reynolds, 25 years old, 664 Main street, Dolton, and Miss Elizabeth Moore, 24 years old, 11419 Normal avenue, Chicago, both employed by a credit exchange, were given fourth and fifth places, although they are not standing in the line with the men. Through the courtesy of the Cub management they have a sheltered spot near the grand stand seat entrance at Sheffield avenue and Addison street. They came prepared for cold weather as each is wearing her fur coat.

Two Upholsterers Present.

George Harle, 1538 Nebraska avenue, St. Louis, an upholsterer out of work, arrived yesterday morning and stepped into sixth place a moment before the appearance of Arthur Felsch, living at the Wells hotel, Milwaukee. The latter is also an upholsterer out of work.

Umpires—American league, Bill Dineen and Roy Van Graffan; National league, Bill Klem and George Magerkurth.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 27.—They are all ready to roll up the curtain tomorrow at the Yankee stadium on the first act of baseball's greatest show—the world series.

The Chicago Cubs of the National league are calmly confident that everything will turn out all right. Joe McCarthy, the leader of the New York Yankees, has his false mustache ready for the rôle that he hopes will prove him the melodramatic villain in the whipping of the team he managed for five years. McCarthy has longed for this chance ever since he was deposed by the Cubs late in the season of 1930 and now he has it.

John Fan, the patient fellow who for years has been paying over whatever amount the baseball people asked for their big spectacle, is the only one who doesn't seem to be ready. John Fan right now is apparently only mildly interested, because of his financial status. He has not broken any speed records getting to the box office and when the first game gets under way tomorrow there is every prospect that the players who have been basing their estimates of their share of the proceeds on capacity houses will be discouraged by the sight of bare seats.

May Drop 3 Ticket Plan.

Tomorrow morning the ticket booths at the Stadium will be opened, and there will be available approximately 35,000 unreserved seats. The bleachers will take 20,000 of this total. The others are in the upper deck grand stand to be dispensed for the sum of $3.30. The number of unsold reserved seats is not known, but the condition must be alarming to the officials. Today there was some talk of abandoning the rule about selling only sets of three tickets and dispensing seats for single games. This might be done tomorrow for the first time in recent world series history.

Adverse weather threatens to lend discouragement to what always has been regarded as the best possible world series—New York against Chicago. Rain was falling today when the Cubs stepped off their special train. This made necessary a calling off of the Cubs' contemplated workout at the Stadium, which most of the Chicago boys never have seen.

Adverse Conditions Likely.

Tonight the clouds were hanging so low and there were so many of them that if the game is played tomorrow the conditions may be such that many prospective purchasers of unreserved seats will stay at home and turn on the radio.

The late forecast tonight was for more rain and continued cool weather. The prediction for Thursday was fair and somewhat cooler.

The pitching assignments for the important opening game will be as previously announced. Guy Bush, the swarthy Mississippian, will pitch for the Cubs and if his screw ball, his curve and speed do not bother the

W-G-N Broadcast of World Series to Start at Noon

W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE radio station, will present a complete detailed broadcast of all of the world series games between the Cubs and Yankees. When the series opens today in New York, Bob Elson, who has broadcast all of the home games of the Cubs and White Sox for W-G-N during the summer, will be at the microphone in Yankee stadium.

The broadcast will open at noon, a half hour before the game begins when Ted Husing will tell about the gathering crowds and the players at practice. When the game starts at 12:30, Chicago time, Elson will alternate inning by inning in relating the progress of play with Pat Flanagan, WBBM sports announcer.

The broadcast from New York tomorrow will start at 12:15 p. m.

Cubs Started World Series Habit in 1906

There'll be thousands of Cub fans watching the north siders in their seventh appearance in a world series, but how many of them can hark back to the days when the Cubs won their first National league pennant?

It will take an old timer to recall that first appearance in the big show, for that was 26 years ago, and it will take a veteran fan to tell you about those that followed, aside from the 1929 series.

It was in 1906 when the Peerless Leader himself, Frank Chance, led them to their first world series.

Sox Win in Six Games.

Their fellow townsmen from the south side, the White Sox, thwarted them in that series. The Sox, American league winners that year, and known as the Hitless Wonders, won the series, four games to two. Big Ed Walsh, Nick Altrock, and Doc White contributed the four Sox victories, while Ed Reulbach and Mordecai Brown won for the Cubs.

The Cubs came back the next two years and not only won the league flag each time but the world series, as well. They met Detroit in both series, defeating the Tigers with four victories and one tie, the latter a twelve inning deadlock in the opener of the series. In 1908 the Chicagoans again whipped the Tigers, four games to one.

Coombs Too Tough.

The Cubs returned to the world series in 1910 to meet the Philadelphia Athletics, but Jack Coombs, Mack's star pitcher, was too much for them, winning three games himself, and the Cubs lost, 4 to 1. They were absent from the big time competition then until 1918, when they met the Boston Red Sox in the post-season battles. A pitcher named Babe Ruth beat them twice, and the Red Sox finally went away world's champions, for the Cubs could win only two against the Bostonians' four.

The Cubs' last stand for the world title is of more recent memory, coming in 1929, and there is hardly any necessity of going into detail about it, except to say the Macks beat them four games to one, and that single victory was pitched by Guy Bush, who will start for them today.

"We'll Win," Says Grimm; "Tossup," Says McCarthy

New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Here's what the managers of the contending teams in the world series have to say about their chances of winning the baseball championship:

Manager Charley Grimm of the Chicago Cubs—It's going to be a great series, and, naturally, I think we'll win. I won't attempt to say how many games it will go, but we're going to do our best to grab these first two games here and then finish it at Wrigley field.

CHARLEY GRIMM.

My men aren't scared of the Yankee hitters. We have confidence in our pitchers. We don't expect them to stop a bunch of hitters like the Yanks—not entirely, but we can go out and get a few runs ourselves.

Guy Bush is my choice for tomorrow, with Lon Warneke likely to pitch the second game. If it stays cool like this, Bush should win. He's a smart pitcher, and this stuff about him liking hot weather is the bunk. He likes it cool.

Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees—It's a tossup to my mind, a great natural series between the two biggest cities in the country.

JOE McCARTHY.

There's no telling whether it will be a pitchers' or a hitters' series. We've got the hitting edge, but sometimes that doesn't mean much in a short series like this. The big hitters are liable to belt every ball right at a fielder at a critical moment.

I think we'll win, all right. There isn't a limp or a gimp on the club. We are in grand shape from top to bottom.

YANKEE FENCES CLOSER TO PLATE THAN CUBS' ARE

Cubs outfielders today will have less space in which to roam along the foul lines than they have been accustomed to at Wrigley field.

The left field line in the New York Yankees' stadium runs 301 feet from the plate, whereas the Cubs' extends 364 feet.

The closest point to the Wrigley field right field bleachers, where the Yankees promise to bunt so many home runs, is 321 feet from the plate. A drive of 295 feet would clear the right field fence in New York.

In center field the Yankee park has the edge in distance, being 490 feet to 436 at Wrigley field. Few drives go that far.

Fans, Don't Miss Series Gems by Our Great Galaxy of Experts

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 27.—Fans, the literary feast of the year is fast coming to a head in the sport department, where an all star lineup is champing impatiently at the bit, ready to start the annual fall classic of the national game and give you the inside dope from all angles.

Never before in the glorious history of the annual fall piece de résistance of the national pastime has any newspaper had the privilege to present the true fans among their readers with such an outstanding stellar lineup of leading authorities on every angle of the game in a way that you cannot possibly get it anywhere else.

In a veritable journalistic ten strike you will get the true, intimate story of the secret strategy of the rival managers straight from the shoulder in every phase, including the drama of the struggle as fate unfolds the battle for destiny and fame and fortune.

First and foremost among the knockout world series staff which will cover the classic for the fans in epic making fashion will be:

Charlie Grimm's sister and his cousin and his aunt, comprising the most unique triple threat journalistic trio ever amassed for any sporting event in the history of the autumn classic of the national pastime.

Charlie Grimm's sister will be assigned to give you fans the intimate, inside hisory of the drama from the angle of Charlie Grimm's sister. His cousin will specialize in the cousin's angle exclusively, and his aunt will tear away the veil of mystery which has always hamstrung the fascinating aunt's angle of the world series.

Next Is the Boy's Angle.

Next in line, serving them up hot off the chest in a way that is bound to make journalistic history for years to come, will be Charlie Grimm's cousin's little boy, and here, fans, is a veritable ten strike of journalistic enterprise and an innovation par excellence, bar none.

After all, you fans are all little boys grown up, and amid the cares and worries of the depression sometimes, mayhap, you long to be little boys again and see the world series through the unbiased eyes of a little boy. Here is a little boy with unbiased eyes that see things as only youth can see them, untrammeled by the cares and worries that throttle the vision of the grownups.

The kiddies, too, will love these keen, analytical studies of the quickly changing warp and woof of victory's fickle tide. For remember, fans, sometimes the kiddies cut right through to the keynote of things, devoid of false motives or pretense, and lay bare the bold outlines of the situation in all their nakedness, where grownups fear to tread.

Let George Tell You.

For scientific, technical dope, reaching to the very tap roots of the whole fascinating pageant, do not fail to read the articles by George Herman [Babe] McGraw, famed master mind of the national pastime and a veritable newspaper ten strike if there ever was one. His record speaks for itself, for he won his last pennant in 1924 and his club was last when he resigned the reins to a younger navigator this year.

Babe McGraw's pungent comments have an odor all their own and they will be an exclusive feature of the most unique literary world's series scoop in newspaper history.

For the comedy relief, indispensable in the covering of a drama of this scope, with its humorous sidelights to relieve the stark drama of the battle for one of sportdom's most priceless championship baubles, you have to look no further than baseballdom's famed clown and humorist, Nick Which. Here fans, is the humorous treat for which you have been patiently waiting all through the dark, discouraging days of financial stress and worry and a sure cure for the evil shadow of despair which has

ANY TRACK SUITS LITTLE AMERICA; SHE WINS IN MUD

It's Seventh Triumph in Ten Chicago Starts.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Little America, the fleet daughter of High Cloud-Donna Barton, day by day becomes more the sweetheart of racegoers who journey to the tracks in Chicago.

She was out again at Lincoln Fields yesterday in the Of Thee I Sing handicap. The track was muddy and soaked with water. She was running against some noted mud runners in a dash at six furlongs.

When the field came splashing down the home stretch Little America, much to the delight of nearly everybody in the crowd of 7,000, was winging it along in front. And you should have heard those rainy day race fans cheer. They whooped it up, for Little America was the odds on favorite.

Her Seventh Victory.

As a result of the victory Little America becomes one of the outstanding race mares of the year in the United States. It was her seventh victory in ten Chicago starts. During all those racing efforts she has been out of the money only once.

Her victorious campaign has carried her through the Chicago circuit. She won a race at Arlington Park in July. She won three at Hawthorne during August. She has won three at Lincoln Fields in September. She has won in every sort of going. She has towroped her rivals when the track was lightning fast. She has made 'em look like so many cart horses when it was good and when it was slow. She smothered 'em in the muddy going yesterday.

Betty Derr Stays Far Back.

Betty Derr, the flyer from Kentucky which races for Clyde Van Dusen and which always has been able to run well on a muddy track, was the mare a lot of folks thought could beat Little America yesterday.

But Betty Derr was never a contender. She raced far back all the way. Portcodine and Scream offered the challenge which made Little America run so fast. She moved on ahead every time one of them tried to go past her. As a result she galloped the six furlongs in 1:14 2-5, by far the fastest race turned in over the muddy track all afternoon.

She was a length and a quarter in front of Portcodine at the end and Scream was far back in third place.

The champion longshot of the Lincoln fields season raced past the winning post in the first race when Hasty Maiden from Charles T. Fisher's Dixiana stable got the decision over Bianoz and Cicero. In the mutuels Hasty Maiden paid $111.40 to the few who backed her.

The daily double players who combined Tadcaster with Get Ready also enjoyed a big day. They collected $259.80. Tadcaster won easily, but Get Ready had all he could do to hold Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's Cresta Run safe in the final drive.

WILDCATS STILL SEEK TACKLES FOR TIGER GAME

Hanley Returns to Drill Squad for Opener.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Missouri's Tigers, now drilled in the Notre Dame system of offense by Frank Carideo, open Northwestern's football season Saturday afternoon at Dyche stadium. The kickoff is scheduled for 2 o'clock, just a half hour after the baseball hostilities start at Wrigley field.

Incidentally, the world series, at least Saturday's game, is just a counter attraction as far as Northwestern is concerned. There is a chance, of course, that there'll be no baseball in Chicago Saturday. This depends on whether either today's or tomorrow's game at New York is postponed. On good authority it was reported last night that rain today or tomorrow in New York would be acceptable to the Wildcats.

Expect 10,000 Crowd.

The Missouri game quite likely will draw 10,000 paying customers. As many more school children, boy scouts and ordinary mine run of gate crashers are expected to see Carideo's first coaching venture following a successful season of assisting Noble Kizer at Purdue.

Frank Carideo is the attraction Saturday as much as are his players, none of whom has more than a local reputation. In 1930 Carideo, then a senior and quarter back of the last team coached by Knute Rockne, played no small part in the 14 to 0 victory the Irish won at Dyche stadium. None will question Carideo's knowledge of football; but he has a task at Missouri to bring the Tigers from last place in the Big Six conference.

Missouri Situation Tough.

Carideo has only a limited time to size up his squad last spring. He started practice this fall, however, several days before Northwestern. Reports from Columbia, Mo., have brought information that Carideo is drilling his squad on running plays and that he has a 210 pound full back who may do some line busting.

Northwestern must be considered a short priced favorite. Coach Hanley, who rejoined the squad yesterday after a slight illness, is thinking of a week from Saturday as much as the impending Missouri conflict. On Oct. 8 Northwestern meets Michigan at Ann Arbor in the first of its six conference games.

Tackles Are Problem.

Yesterday Northwestern spent considerable time on a dummy offensive drill against the freshmen. Line play of the varsity is the big problem and will continue to be a problem in as much as there are no Jack Rileys or Dal Marvils on the Northwestern squad. Manske and Fencl undoubtedly will start at end, although Fencl has a bruised shoulder and is not in the best of condition. Gottschalk, at left guard, is a newcomer. Right guard still belongs to Dilley, a veteran, and Weldin remains first choice at center.

Who will be the Wildcat tackles? Hanley probably doesn't know the answer to this, but he also doesn't have much of a choice in the matter. Gonya and Froberg probably will be chosen to start more because of experience than their outstanding play.

PURDUE DRILLS IN BLOCKING.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—A driving rain and a soggy field forced Purdue to forego a scrimmage session today. A dummy scrimmage against the type of defense the heavy Kansas State eleven is expected to offer Saturday was substituted. The drill emphasized blocking and tapered off with a passing scrimmage.

"Watch Graham" has been adopted as the slogan of the week. Guy Mackey who scouted Kansas State as it routed Wichita Saturday warned players that Graham, a 195 pounder, who led the Big Six in scoring last season, is a dangerous line plunger. Graham works behind a line that will average from 192 to 198 pounds.

INDIANA STRESSES DEFENSE.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Defensive tactics to stop Ohio university's passing attack were stressed by Coach Hayes today as he drove the Indiana squad through preparations for the opening football game of the season here Saturday. Freshmen elevens, using Ohio formations, were pitted against the varsity in scrimmage. A drizzling rain again hampered practice.

GOPHER VETERANS AILING.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Two outstanding veterans probably will be on the side lines Saturday when Minnesota lines up against South Dakota State. Capt. Walter Hass was confined to bed with a severe cold and Jack Manders, star full back, was unable to take part in heavy work today. Butch Larson is expected to be at full back in place of Manders and Sam Swartz probably will fill Hass' half back position.

BUCKEYES WORK IN RAIN.

Columbus, O., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Despite a pouring rain Ohio State's football team today went through a scrimmage designed to develop a right half back and two tackles.

Carroll, a veteran from last year, spent most of the session at the back field position, being followed by Oliphant, Thomas and Smith. Monahan continued at left tackle with Conrad dividing time with Rosequist at right. Cramer probably will not start Saturday's game with Ohio Wesleyan at quarter back, giving way to McAfee or Oliphant.

ILLINI WORK ON PASSES.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Pass defense was the work of the day for Illinois back field aspirants while the linemen were put through a tackling session. Capt. Berry, Gragg, Snook and Yanuskus formed the secondary defense while Adams and Beynon alternately passed the ball to Frink and Schustek, ends, and Snavely, Malberg, and Cravens, backs. Bob Reitsch, captain and center in 1927, appeared to assist in developing the center of the line.

Deny Big Ten's Plea to Change Dead Ball Rule

Request of Big Ten football coaches for exceptions to the dead ball rule have been refused by a unanimous vote of the football rules committee, Chairman E. K. Hall has informed Director A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago, midwestern representative on the committee.

The conference coaches at their September meeting requested two exceptions to the new rule. One exception was in case of mechanical execution of a play, such as Michigan's "Old 83," where a part of the player's body other than his hands or feet touched the ground. The other was a zone ruling to apply when a player in the open tripped and fell.

Four reasons against exceptions were advanced by the members of the rules committee, Hall reported to Stagg:

"1. Experience of the committee has uniformly been that the application of any zone rule by officials is difficult and dangerous.

"2. We all believe that it is desirable in the interests of the game itself that all coaches, officials, members of the rules committee and other friends of the game stand together during this season and present a united front in the honest attempt which we are making to eliminate injuries.

"3. The big thing this year is to get through the season with a distinct lessening of injuries. We do not want to have another season and find ourselves in the position we were last December.

"4. If a fair tryout of the new rules shows that we have gone further than necessary in any respect in our attempt to protect the players from injury, we can best make changes and exceptions in the light of experience."

TWO IOWANS HURT.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—The scrimmage scheduled for the University of Iowa football squad today was called off after Marvin Kuhn, half back, and Eugene Clearman, end, reported injuries. Clearman has a bruised shoulder, but is likely to be in condition by Saturday.

MICHIGAN SHIFTS TACKLE.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Willard Hildebrand, Michigan's husky sophomore tackle, was shifted to right end today, with the idea of both increasing the man power for the ends and hurrying the removal of Pete Petoskey to full back. Whether the change will be evident in Saturday's game with Michigan State depends largely on the condition of Capt. Ivan Williamson. Williamson got into the thick of things at end for the first time today and may play Saturday.

WEATHER HANDICAPS IRISH.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Another all day rain forced the Notre Dame football squad to change its plans today. The third team was sent through an hour's scrimmage, saving the second team until tomorrow.

Jimmy Leonard of Pedricktown, N. J., led the third stringers to a 26 to 0 victory over a reserve eleven. The 190 pound full back sliced off tackle and around end for the only long gains of the day.

MAROONS STUDY BLOCKING.

Blocking and charging comprised yesterday's lesson for the University of Chicago squad which in past years has shown some ineptitude in those departments. For the second day Coach Stagg personally supervised the work of the linemen in dummy scrimmage, seeking to correct weaknesses which became apparent last Saturday.

Al Summers, half back who performed well in Saturday's game, was taken to Billings hospital yesterday with an ankle infection, but is expected to be ready for the Yale game Oct. 8.

ATTENDANCE AT CARDINAL HOME GAMES DECLINES

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—The Cardinals must be close to the top rung of the National league ladder to gain the support of St. Louis fans. The 1931 world champions played to only 300,000 in their home games during the 1932 season, figures released today showed. Attendance for the season was the lowest in eight years, Cardinal officials said. The Cardinals played to 625,000 last year. More than 800,000 saw home games in 1928.

Indians Retain Peckinpaugh as 1933 Manager

New York, Sept. 27.—[Special.]—President Alva Bradley of the Cleveland American league baseball club announced today that Roger Peckinpaugh will manage the Indians again next year. Bradley is here to watch the New York Yankees meet the Chicago Cubs in the world series.

The amount which Peckinpaugh will receive or the length of the new contract was not disclosed by Bradley or other Cleveland officials. However, it is believed that he has been given a one year contract, as in the past, and also a small salary reduction.

The signing of Peckinpaugh ended rumors that he would not be with the Indians next year.

Bib Falk, former Chicago and Cleveland outfielder who managed the Toledo Mudhens of the American association, a Cleveland farm, will join the Indians again next year as coach.

"Just seen where the Red Sox expect to catch a pitcher in the draft this year. Balogney. What the Red Sox need to catch is a whole ball team. And I don't mean perhaps, neither. May catch a pitcher this fall but I seen them sometimes when I thought they was pitchin' a catcher.

"Came up here to cover the world serum exclusively for this paper but I better lay off that hootch what they are peddling around here or they might exclude me from the serum. That would be too exclusive. Some of this hootch ought to be called block and fall hootch—you walk a block and fall down.

"Some bozos are talking about betting odds on the serum, but my money goes for eating, not betting, these days. Times are so tough they are using Scotch jokes twice, that's my idea of bum economy. Bum economy to use 'em once."

And now, fans, for the final pièce de résistance in the medley of journalistic stars who will appease your appetite for toothsome gems as the teams fight it out on the old ball-yard for stellar titular honors of the autumn classic.

This pièce de résistance of the lineup will be an innovation of a daily story by one of our baseball reporters, who will cover the game from a unique angle never tried before. There was no room left in the press-box so this series of articles will cover the games from the angle of a baseball reporter listening to a radio.

Are you all set, fans?

Clouds Hover Over World Series Scene

mauling Yankees nothing will. Manager McCarthy is going to give the Yankee pitching assignment to Charley Ruffing, who never has participated in a world series. McCarthy had considered starting Vernon Gomez, his most consistent winner, but so long as he has temporarily stabled the youth it is a fairly good guess that he entertains some fear as to the southpaw's physical condition.

Brown May Pitch in Chicago.

McCarthy is a bit uncertain about what pitchers to employ when the series swings to Chicago next Saturday afternoon, but it is probable that for the opener there he will use Walter Brown, the fat boy who came through sensationally in his three starts of the season. All of these were in September. He held the Detroit Tigers to one run in ten innings, the Chicago White Sox to two in nine and shut out the Boston Red Sox.

No other member of the staff produced such a record in three consecutive starts. It is possible that Brown may turn out to be the man able to swing the world title into New York hands.

The first error of the series already has been entered in the official ledger. It has been charged against Mark Koenig, the ex-Yankee, whose short-stopping services were of such vast aid to the Cubs during the last two months of the season.

Forgets Wallet Containing $400.

When Koenig walked off the train this morning he neglected to carry with him his wallet containing $400. He was half way to the hotel when he realized his negligence. He made a mad dash back to the station and finally, after much sweating, was rewarded with the return of the abandoned purse.

The Cubs have been pictured in the prints here as a team not exactly generous in the distribution of cash they will draw from the world series. This may cost them the rooting support of more than a few customers with Giant or Dodger sentiments who would prefer to root for their own league. The fact that the Yanks awarded shares so generously that some of them must be canceled because of baseball law is being brought out as proof that Rogers Hornsby, who managed the Cubs into early August, should not have been overlooked. If precedent means anything, the baseball commissioner will almost be forced to make an alteration in behalf of the deposed pilot.

Criticize Koenig's Treatment.

The writers here are even annoyed because Koenig was cut in for a half share instead of a full portion. They regard his invaluable services, even though his period of employment was limited, as something that should not have been overlooked. They point out that Wilcy Moore, who was taken from the Red Sox on waivers not long before the Cubs brought Koenig back from the minors, has been listed for a full slice. Moore has been in only a few games as a relief pitcher.

Just how much the Cubs know about the Yankees' weaknesses and strong points appears to be more or less of a mystery. Somebody in the employ of the Chicago club has been scouting the Yankees, but his identity is being kept a secret. It is suspected that this important task was intrusted to Jack Doyle, the veteran scout. If Doyle handled the job there need be no worry about his reports being correct. It will be remembered that McCarthy in 1929 turned this task over to Joe Tinker, who had been out of baseball for years, and Tinker turned in tips that had to be reversed after the Athletics had taken the first two games in Chicago.

Lawless Demands $500 Guarantee; Stuhley Bout Off

The ten round match between Young Stuhley and Buck Lawless at White City Monday was canceled yesterday when Lawless demanded a guarantee of $500. Promoter Mique Malloy is attempting to replace the bout with an encounter between Charley Retzlaff and Roy [Ace] Clark of Philadelphia. Clark has arrived to train for the match.

The contemplated battle between Primo Carnera and Tiny Austin at White City Oct. 10 has been postponed to Oct. 17.

Grant Kromenaker, Rainbo Fronton promoter, announced yesterday that Mickey Patrick has agreed to meet Ray Tramblie, Rockford middleweight, in the ten round windup Oct. 7. In the event Tramblie accepts, the fight will be his first under the management of William Bostelmann of Oak Park. Bostelmann has bought Tramblie's contract from Ed Willard.

Nick Scialaba, former international Golden Gloves bantamweight champion, will make his debut as a professional in New York at Brooklyn on Oct. 9. He also boxes Oct. 14. Scialaba's manager, Sammy Goldman, who directs Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion, has changed the fighter's name to Nick Scalba.

Only 4 Players Drafted from Minor Leagues

New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The smallest list of drafted players on record came out of the annual major league draft meeting on the eve of the world series tonight. Only four players, three of them pitchers, were selected by the major league clubs.

A year ago fifteen players were selected and that list showed a falling off from the few years before, when more than twenty were selected each season. In 1929, the largest number of players in the last five seasons, twenty-six, were drafted.

All from AA Leagues.

All four of the players drafted were from class AA leagues, although one of them, Homer Peel, chosen by the New York Giants, played through the season with the Houston club in the Texas league, which carries an "A" rating. Peel was taken from the Columbus American association team, another on the St. Louis Cardinals' string of farms. He formerly played with the Cardinals and Detroit. Peel the only outfielder on the list, hit .339 for Houston, making an even 200 hits.

The Chicago White Sox selected Pitcher Joe Heving, who once played with the Giants, from Indianapolis in the American association. He won 15 games and lost 9 in the season which just ended.

Tigers Take Nekola.

The Detroit Tigers drafted Frank Nekola, once a star college pitcher at Holy Cross, from Newark's International league champions. Nekola, who had a couple of trials with the New York Yankees, played part of the season with Toronto and recorded 6 victories and 11 defeats.

The Chicago Cubs chose another hurler, Lynn Nelson of Seattle, who won 21 games and lost 15 in the Pacific Coast league. Nelson had his major league trial with Detroit.

Levinsky and Dorval Will Meet in Minneapolis Oct. 13

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—King Levinsky, Chicago heavyweight boxer, and Jack Dorval, Boston, will meet in a 10 round bout here Oct. 13, it was announced today.

MT. CARMEL, ST. PHILIP ELEVENS RENEW RIVALRY

Dedicates Latter's New Stadium Sunday.

Mount Carmel and St. Philip, who wound up the 1931 Chicago Catholic High School league football season when they met for the championship at Soldier's field last fall, will meet again Sunday in the dedicatory game of the new St. Philip stadium at Van Buren and Albany streets.

St. Philip, which lost to Mount Carmel in the title game, already has suffered one defeat this season—losing to St. Rita in the silver jubilee celebration last Sunday at St. Rita field, 6 to 0. Mount Carmel has played two practice games preparatory to starting the defense of its championship on Oct. 8, and both contests ended in scoreless ties.

St. Philip Inexperienced.

St. Philip must rely on an inexperienced squad to avenge the defeat at the hands of the south side team last year, which was rated as one of the strongest in the league's history. Five veterans, including two back field men, returned to St. Philip. The two veterans, who will be in the St. Philip back field Sunday, are Frank Sattler and Bob Hunt.

Mount Carmel also was hard hit by the loss of regulars through graduation. Veterans who were graduated include Buddy Gonya, Bart McKernan, Lefty Callahan, and Don Kelly, who led the team to ten consecutive victories before the string was snapped by Harrison Tech in the city championship game. Vincent O'Malley is the only regular in the Mount Carmel back field.

Coach Furlong Confident.

"Despite the loss of some of the best boys we ever had I believe our squad is just as strong as last year," said Al Furlong, assistant St. Philip coach. "Our chances to win the west section championship are very good."

St. Philip last year won the north section championship and this season has been moved into the new section which came into being when Fenwick of Oak Park entered the league, thus causing the expansion of the league to three sections. Other teams in the west division are St. Mel, St. Patrick, and St. Ignatius.

NEWARK WHIPS MINNEAPOLIS IN OPENER, 11 TO 0

Newark, N. J., Sept. 27.—[Special.]—J. Donald Brennan, portly star of Al Mamaux's championship Newark Bears, sent his teammates away to a lead in the little world series today by shutting out the Minneapolis Millers, 11 to 0, with four scattered hits after being presented with an automobile and a large bunch of flowers.

Four veteran Minneapolis pitchers, whose combined ages total 152 years, were powerless against the youthful Bears' offensive. Newark made 16 hits for a total of 21 bases.

Garden Outlines Schmeling's New Road to Sharkey

New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The heavyweight division of the fight game has "turned the corner," if the plans mapped out today for Max Schmeling and the remainder of the contenders for Jack Sharkey's championship actually are carried out.

Madison Square Garden laid out a program that will send Schmeling into battle twice before next summer, when Max, if his success continues, will face Sharkey for the championship for the third time.

Schmeling will sail for Germany Friday on the Bremen.

The garden wants to pair Max Baer, lanky Californian who scored a technical knockout over Tuffy Griffith in Chicago last night while Schmeling was crushing Mickey Walker here, against Primo Carnera, in November here. Schmeling will meet the winner of this bout here in June, after a winter warmup against young Bill Stribling in Miami in February.

A check showed that net proceeds of last night's bout, after deduction of taxes, were $148,107.85. Of the latter amount Schmeling under his contract calling for 37½ per cent, would receive $55,540, but his wages, attached by Primo Carnera's breach of contract suit, are claimed in court papers to be 10 per cent higher.

Walker received a flat 17½ per cent of the net proceeds, or $25,918.

Red and Gold in Country Is Sign of Fall

BY BOB BECKER.

When the Cubs and the Yankees meet today in the first game of the world series, baseball will be trying hard to preserve the illusion that summer hasn't left us. But if the Yanks stadium were located 40 miles from Chicago's loop and the fans could look beyond the park to the open country there would be no doubt about it being the middle of autumn—a season of the year characterized by the brilliant orange of the hard maple and the flaming scarlet of the sumac.

Chicagoland today is in the colors that herald the advance of October. The haws have blanketed the ground with their bright red fruit, which most of us call thornapples. On a golf course the other day both caddies and players were munching these little apples whose startling colors are typical of fall.

Birds Are Gone.

Bird land is almost mute. In the marshes we can still hear the occasional clatter of a swooping kingfisher and once in a while a meadowlark will broadcast a note or two. But most of our song birds have gone south. A few days age five warblers and a white crowned sparrow were trying to find something to eat as we watched them from the 11th floor of TRIBUNE tower. They were on the roof several stories below us. Two days of northerly winds had brought these and many other migrants into Chicagoland.

A lone marshhawk, flashing the broad, white, distinctive band across his tail feathers, sailing low over browned meadows in which the colorful asters stand, is the most spectacular large bird to be seen from the highways this week. In the marshes the blue heron stays on, swinging in to his roost on lazy wings, a big silhouette against the setting sun. Pumpkins have been brought in from the fields.

Sure Signs—Pumpkins.

Roadside stands display piles of these golden yellow footballs, which hint at Hallowe'en. Corn is in the shock. At this time of the year there is nothing so attractive as a field of shocked corn, especially if the tepee-like structures look down upon a few pumpkins. Here is a symbol of autumn that baseball cannot discount.

Rain Postpones Canzoneri Fight Until Tomorrow

New York, Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Rain and cold weather today forced the postponement of a ten round nontitle bout between Tony Canzoneri, world's lightweight champion, and Lew Kirsch, which was scheduled at Queensboro stadium tonight. The bout will be held Thursday night.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 27.—[Special.]—Apathetic movements of the rest of the bond market today was in sharp contrast to a price boosting demand for short term investment securities, notably those of the United States government and today's new offering of Canadian government notes.

No definite trend was followed by second grade and speculative issues. The volume of trading was small.

Treasury Notes Rise.

A premium of 1¼ points above par was reached by treasury 3¼ per cent notes dated Sept. 15 last, which movement followed yesterday's sale of ninety-one day treasury discount bills at 0.23 per cent, the lowest rate paid in the almost three years the treasury has been employing this means of financing current needs.

There was corresponding strength elsewhere in the government section, Liberty 3½s and fourth Liberty 4¼s reaching new highs for the year.

New York Banks Buying.

Indicating the market's avidity for short term securities of good quality, the $60,000,000 issue of Canadian government notes was oversubscribed almost immediately.

Bolstering sentiment toward high grade bonds, dealers say, is presence in the market of bids for the account of at least one of the large New York city commercial banks. Buying for such account has not been vigorous, but bids are none the less a supporting influence.

Otis Elevator.

Please give me your rating of Otis Elevator common and what information is available on it.—R. G.

Otis Elevator company was incorporated 34 years ago. It is the leading domestic producer of elevators, producing about 70 per cent of installations. It is the only known domestic producer of escalators.

Earnings in the last two and one-half years have followed a downward trend. This has been due to decreased building, especially of office and apartment hotel structures. The company has operated at a profit in every year of its existence.

Net income for the first half of 1932 was $566,000, which was 2.90 times preferred dividends and equal to 19 cents per common share. For the corresponding 1931 period net income was $2,858,000. This was 14.66 times preferred dividends and equal to $1.33 per common share.

Earnings in 1931 reflected the large carry over of business from previous years. Net income was $4,415,000, or $2.01 per common share, against net of $7,265,000, or $3.44 per common share, for 1930. Net for 1929 was $8,371,000, and for 1928, $7,344,000.

On July 31, 1932, current assets were $22,410,000 and current liabilities were $617,000. Cash assets alone were more than $11,000,000. Working capital was $21,794,000, against $23,087,000 on Jan. 1, 1932, and $25,125,000 on Dec. 31, 1930.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 65,000 shares of 6 per cent cumulative preferred [par $100] and 2,000,000 shares of no par common.

Dividends on the common have been paid regularly for 26 years. The stock currently pays 25 cents a quarter. Dividends in 1931 totaled $2.50 per share.

To maintain volume the company has entered the highly competitive field of small jobs. Any substantial improvement in earnings must apparently await an increase in building The company's current position appears strong enough to tide it over a considerable period of poor earnings.

The preferred is high grade. The common deserves a fairly good rating.

Lackawanna Steel.

I am interested in knowing how you rate Lackawanna Steel company 5s, due 1950.—W. P.

When Lackawanna Steel company was acquired by Bethlehem Steel corporation, Bethlehem Iron and Steel corporation, a subsidiary, assumed the $8,504,000 first 5s, due 1950. These bonds are secured by a first mortgage on all assets of the company that issued them, and by pledge of the capital stocks of its subsidiaries. Sinking fund requirements are a minimum of $100,000 a year. The bonds are reasonably sound.

CALL EXPECTED TO SHOW GAINS IN CITY'S BANKS

Enter Last Quarter with Deposits Up.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Chicago banks have further strengthened their position during the last three months and will go into the last quarter of the year with increased deposits and a high degree of liquidity.

Figures disclosing the extent of the improvement will be published at the time of the regular bank call. This may occur at the end of this week or early next week.

State banks are required to report quarterly. The last call occurred on June 30. National banks will also report this time. They are required to report at least three times each year. No national bank call was issued at the end of the first quarter this year.

Deposits Mounting.

The reports soon to be made will show that deposits generally have mounted with returning public confidence. They will also show, bank credit experts say, that commercial loans have declined somewhat, that banks have increased their liquidity considerably and that their holdings of United States government bonds have increased.

Nobody knows better than the banker how much water has gone over the dam since the last bank call. Banking developments that ordinarily might transpire over a period of years have been packed into the short space of three months. And almost without exception these developments have been of a constructive nature.

Three months ago public confidence was at the low point. Many people lacked faith in even the strongest institutions. The dollar was feared. Even the maintenance of the gold standard by the United States was doubted by many. Only the most stouthearted retained their confidence in the ability of securities and commodities to rebound from abnormally low price levels.

The bank call at the end of June occurred just about the time public sentiment was at its worst. The bank statements were reassuring.

Money Comes In.

Within two weeks the turn had come and money began coming back to the banks. A chart that one loop bank keeps for the information of its own officers shows that deposits of Chicago banks receded until about July 15. Since then there has been steady improvement.

The improvement from a psychological standpoint has been great but added to it have been the good solid gains which result from advancing commodity and security prices. And during the last three months price movements have been almost uniformly upward.

That means the turning of many bank losses into profits. Loans that have been "under water" have emerged. Part of the increased liquidity of Chicago banks has been due to the successful clearing up of security loans made possible.

The figures released at the time of the coming bank call will show decreased commercial loans. Bankers say that the reason for this drop is lessened demand for loans by business men rather than a movement on the part of the banks to curtail credit. After a depression, they say, commercial loans do not begin to expand until long after business recovery has set in.

Hide Industry Seeking New Leather Uses

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Cattle hides—used to supply the nation's leather needs—are in a good market position. There is no huge surplus overhanging the market to threaten prices. Production has been slowing down. As in the case of many other commodities, low prices for the present depressed markets were reached in May and June, with the present range better than 100 per cent above the lows.

The general tone is hopeful, but there doesn't appear to be any likelihood of the hide market going into any immediate boom.

The foregoing information comes from Arthur L. Webster of A. L. Webster & Co., veteran hide broker. Mr. Webster entered the hide business as a young man during the panic years of 1893-'94 and has been in it ever since.

Substitutes Cut Into Sales.

What is injuring the hide business most now is under consumption rather than over-production, Mr. Webster stated. The constant introduction of substitutes for leather is considerably narrowing the outlet for hides, he pointed out, and what the leather industry needs now is new uses for its product.

The price per pound for green salted hides—the raw material of the leather industry—in May and the early part of June was 3¾ cents, as contrasted with present prices of 8½ cents for native steers and 8 cents for light native cows. And these prices compare with from 60 to 62 cents during the boom days of 1919 and 26 cents in 1928.

"In 1921-'22 there were around 14,000,000 sides of leather in the tanners' hands, while the packers held additional hides," Mr. Webster said. "Now there are not more than 2,500,000 hides in the tanners' hands and possibly not over 300,000 held by packers. In 1931 American tanners used around 15,000,000 hides, contrasted with around 21 or 22 million in 1919."

92 Per Cent Used for Shoes.

Last year 92 per cent of all hides were used in the manufacture of shoes. About 314,000,000 pairs were produced. Of these, only 20 per cent were all leather. The use of low shoes by men the year around has been one factor that has cut into the leather business.

Substitutes adopted by automobile manufacturers, traveling bag makers, etc., also have cut into sales. One very important factor has been the use of direct motor drives, which has materially lowered the demand for belting leather.

"Hides are a by-product of cattle," Mr. Webster explained. "When the people of the world weren't able to afford beef, the slaughtering of cattle declined and with this the output of hides dropped. Naturally, when buyers were unable to afford beef they were forced to limit their other demands, including that for leather. But the lowered consumption of leather is to a measure offset by the natural reduction of production through decreased slaughtering. The actual supply of cattle hides depends on the consumption of beef.

Possibilities of Future.

"In the case of the 1893-'94 panic the leather industry had a large potential market waiting. In this case we are not so fortunate because of the inroads of leather substitutes, although this situation is offset somewhat by the increased population.

"Generally speaking this country imports more hides than it exports, although for the last two months we have exported more than we have imported. During the war we tanned most of the hides in the world and our farmers got top prices for their hides on account of the general shortage. Often they got more for the hide than for the carcass.

"As a result of these peak prices, manufacturers began looking around for substitutes and found them."

HOME LOAN BANK SYSTEM TO BE OPEN BY OCT. 15

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Franklin W. Fort, chairman of the home loan bank system said today he had reported to President Hoover that all 12 of the branch banks would be opened for business by Oct. 15.

Fort said directorates had been almost completed for all except one or two districts, and that these choices probably would be made within the next day or two.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 27.—(AP)—Orders received by the International Shoe company since Aug. 15 have shown a 35 per cent increase over orders for the corresponding period last year, Frank C. Rand, president announced today.

American Can Pays Regular Dividend of $1

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 27.—The board of the American Can company announced today the regular quarterly dividend of $1 a share for the final quarter of 1932, but made no mention of the extra dividend of the same amount declared at this time last year. The dividend is payable Nov. 15 to holders of record Oct. 1.

At the same time the company estimated earnings for 1932 at $3.25 a share on the common and added that volume of business has been running about 20 per cent less than 1931. September indicates some improvement over August.

A statement by the company said:

"There are no bank loans now outstanding and cash position is good. Earnings for 1932 on estimates will be equivalent to approximately $3.25 on the common stock.

"The directors feel warranted in declaring the regular quarterly dividend of $1 at this time, but there will be no extra dividend this year."

American Ice Makes Cut.

The American Ice company directors voted to declare a quarterly dividend of 25 cents on the common stock, reducing the rate to $1 annually from $2 previously.

Charles C. Small, president, said that while earnings had stood up relatively well throughout the depression, the results of the past four months, which account for about 70 per cent of the year's business, were less favorable, the income being from 25 to 30 per cent less than a year ago.

Allied Chemical and Dye corporation's directors today declared a regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share on the common stock. It is payable Nov. 1 to shares of record Oct. 11.

The General Foods corporation declared the usual quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share payable Nov. 1 to holders of record Oct. 14.

Passes a Dividend.

Directors of the Associated Gas and Electric company voted to pass the quarterly dividend of $1.37½ a share due at this time on the $5.50 cumulative preference stock. In the previous quarter payment of the dividend was made in scrip.

Regular quarterly dividends were declared on all other classes of preferred stocks of the company, payable Oct. 1 to holders of record Sept. 20.

The Peoples National bank authorized today a quarterly dividend of $2 a share payable Oct. 1 to owners of record Sept. 27. Previously the institution had been paying $2.50 quarterly.

BRITISH SHIP OWNER HINTS OF REPRISALS FOR SUBSIDIES BY U. S.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Lord Essendon, chairman of Furness, Withy & Co., told the American chamber of commerce at a luncheon today that the present deep-rooted depression in shipping demanded international cooperation as an alternative to the departure from the British policy of equal treatment for ships of all nations.

"Until recently Britain followed a free-trade policy, which had been the policy of British shipping," he said. "Maybe in the same way we found it necessary to alter our general fiscal policy the shipping industry may be compelled to alter its independent policy and smother the spirit of adventure and courageous enterprise that has so well served industry and the whole field in international trade.

"I hope it won't come to this, but it is obvious that something must be done to improve shipping. That something can be only by international co-operation. British ship owners cannot afford to sit idly by and watch while foreign countries introduce measures detrimental to their interests. They cannot advocate freedom and equality to vessels of other nations unless similar freedom and equality are granted to them."

He remarked that the United States continued to pay enormous sums to her ship owners in mail contract payments and that the French and Italian governments and others also supported their national vessels.

L. A. DOWNS FEELS "A LOT BETTER" ABOUT BUSINESS

New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central railroad, said today that he felt "a lot better" about the business outlook.

"Traffic on the Illinois Central," he asserted, "at present is running about 7 per cent below a year ago. Loadings have been improving week by week and the improvement is continuing. People in our territory are encouraged.

"Our previous estimates of earnings were too low. We will do better during the balance of the year than we expected at the time we borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. We will not make any more applications to the R. F. C. for loans this year."

When the road applied for aid it estimated a net loss of $6,939,798 for 1932. Mr. Downs would not attempt a forecast of earnings for the remainder of this year.

Ill. Central's 8 Month Net Ahead of 1931

In the face of a $22,130,123 drop in total revenues, the net income of the Illinois Central system for the first eight months of 1932 was $454,435 greater than for the like period of 1931. This improvement reflects economies in the operation of the railroad.

The net income for the 8 month period was $6,385,882, while total revenues were $58,204,159. Operating revenues for August were $6,854,460, a decrease of $3,034,274 from a year ago. The net income totaled $929,035, a drop of $493,027.

The Northern Pacific railway yesterday reported a net operating income of $509,700 in August, compared with a $984,135 net income for the same month last year. The road reported a deficit of $1,221,306 for the first eight months of this year, compared with a profit of $2,457,271 for the same period in 1931.

Pennsy Earnings Gain.

Earnings of the Pennsylvania railroad for the month of August showed improvement over the preceding month, the report of the road issued yesterday showed. Net operating income of the road for August amounted to $2,627,697, as against $1,955,543 in July, and $4,760,279 in August, 1931. Gross earnings of the road in August were $25,148,291, as compared with $24,158,230 in July and $37,767,229 in August, 1931.

Chicago, Burlington and Quincy reported net operating income of $935,378 for August, compared with a deficit of $13,420 for July and with income of $2,623,844 for August, 1931. Gross was $6,621,850, against $5,709,020 and $9,814,776, respectively.

For the first eight months of this year net operating income amounted to $5,372,449, as against $14,536,379 in the same period last year, while gross totaled $52,286,913, against $76,559,044.

WHOLESALERS FIND BUYING WAVE KEEPS UP

ReportMondaySales Best Since 1925.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Merchandise is moving in the Chicago wholesale market. The seasonal upturn which began last month during the meeting here of the Interstate Merchants' council has continued this month and leading wholesale houses report substantial improvement in the volume of business.

Carson Pirie Scott & Co., wholesale, reported yesterday that the movement of goods last Monday was the greatest since 1925. Indications yesterday were that the day's volume would break Monday's record, according to officials.

Road Sales Better.

Marshall Field & Co. reported that road sales for immediate shipments were running ahead of a year ago and, because of the better business, the company has been able to put many employés back to work in the shipping and packing departments.

Collections were also reported to be considerably improved. Executives of the wholesale houses declared that the credit department of their firms reported good collections.

"Road sales for 'at once' shipment have been running ahead of a year ago in dollars," William G. Burt, vice president of Marshall Field & Co., said. "The bulk of merchandise shipped and the number of units shipped have been running considerably in excess of a year ago.

"We have been able to increase the hours of labor in the packing and shipping departments, thus enabling us to reinstate 200 people in this branch of the business," Mr. Burt added.

Buying Wave Sweeps West.

Carson Pirie officials said that the wave of buying which started in the east and has been moving westward has taxed the facilities of the company's wholesale department. They declared that it would be necessary for a force of 450 men to work all last night in the packing rooms to catch up with the orders that have piled up in the last two days of heavy buying. An extra force of 90 men, some of whom were recalled to work, were pressed into service, the company announced.

The evidence of buying which has appeared in the last two days as a result of the rise in commodity prices and the low ebb of inventories was characterized by officials as "unprecedented."

R. J. Thain, advertising manager of Carson's wholesale, said that he has talked with more than 50 merchants from 20 different states in the last two days. The merchants reported

Middle West Raises Rate of Depreciation

The rate of depreciation charged by the Middle West Utilities company during the Insull régime has been materially increased by the receivers as the result of recommendations made by independent engineers, it is learned in banking quarters.

The increase in depreciation charges was one of the first changes made by the receivers. Bankers state that in some instances that rate of depreciation used by the old management was ridiculously low. On some properties charge for depreciation ranged as low 1 per cent of gross revenues and in only a few instances did the rate exceed 6 per cent.

Rate Below Average.

The average for utility companies employing conservative accounting methods is about 8 per cent. The Insull management in its efforts to show larger earnings had always figured depreciation on a basis considerably under the average of the industry as a whole.

The change brought about by the receivers followed recommendations made by Stone & Webster, engineering firm, which made an appraisal of several of the company's properties.

Samuel W. White, receiver for the United Public Utilities company, announced yesterday that the semi-annual interest will be paid Oct. 1 on the $14,505,800 of first lien bonds outstanding. United Public Utilities is a subsidiary of United Public Service company, which in turn is a subsidiary of Middle West Utilities. Mr. White is also receiver for United Public Service, but no interest payment is being made on the bonds of that company at this time.

Second Interest Payment.

The present interest payment is the second to be made on United Public Utilities bonds since the company went into receivership last spring. The April 1 interest was paid by Receiver White on May 25, just before the sixty day period of grace expired.

Payment of the bond interest, which amounts to $418,784, was authorized in an order issued yesterday in Danville, Ill., by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley. Judge Lindley also authorized the receiver to pay interest of approximately $20,000 due to the Allied Service company on a loan. Allied Public Service is also a Middle West subsidiary.

New York, Sept. 27. — Business dragged heavily on the stock exchange today. Speculators could find nothing particular in the news to cause them to dig either for funds or shareholdings, and price movements were sluggish and generally unimportant. Closing figures were slightly higher. Sales volume barely topped 1,500,000 shares.

Pools sponsoring a variegated list of issues prominent in the later stages of the current upturn took advantage of the lull to exert a little strongarm work in behalf of their favorites, but the exhibitions were not sufficiently convincing to attract much of a following. However, their activity, which was particularly pronounced in the late dealings, helped to give the list an upward look on which to end the day. Late afternoon buying by so-called "light waisted" shorts, nervous over the market's attitude of waiting for something to turn up, also helped to improve the finals.

Market Sells Off.

Earlier in the day the list had shown a disposition to sell off, owing in part to yesterday's flabby showing and to a handful of special developments of limited importance. Reports of further unfavorable developments in the oil industry and of new lows on automobile output were more or less discouraging.

The explanation for the sudden slump of Drug, Inc., was, of course, to be found in the overnight announcement that one of its chief subsidiary retail outlet companies, the Louis K. Liggett company, was seeking a sharp reduction in its store rentals in a move to stave off threatened reorganization. Selling in the issue was quite spirited for a time, but it dried up around the middle of the day and the closing sale reflected a recovery of a point or so from the low of the day.

Rails Moderately Higher.

Oil shares gave way in the forenoon, but managed an irregular recovery toward the last. The same was true of the motors and, generally speaking, of the list as a whole.

Railroad shares were not so prominent as they have been in some recent sessions, either in the forenoon reaction or the later rebound. Most of the leading shares of the group were moderately higher at the close.

Three-Year 6% Gold Notes Due October 1, 1932

Holders of the above notes alone have the responsibility of determining whether or not this Company can avoid the consequences of a default on October 1.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has amended its previous order approving a loan of $6,800,000 to the Company, so that $1,200,000 of that amount, necessary to pay underlying mortgage bond interest due October 1 and certain taxes, will be available to the Company on October 1 regardless of whether or not the plan for meeting the maturity of the Three-Year 6% Gold Notes can be consummated by that date. This action obviates the dangers of a default on senior obligations on October 1 but unless holders of substantially all of the notes agree to the plan of September 13, 1932, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will not loan the remaining $5,600,000 needed to pay interest on the notes and 25% of the principal thereof in cash.

Holders of over $9,750,000 of notes have already actually deposited their notes or indicated their intention to do so. Unless substantially all of the remaining noteholders deposit their notes so that the plan may be made operative, this Company sees ahead no alternative but a receivership.

Notes should be deposited with Guaranty Trust Company of New York, depositary, 140 Broadway, New York City.

Copies of the plan, of the deposit agreement and of a letter of transmittal for use in depositing notes may be obtained from the Company or from the depositary.

Top yesterday, $5.85; average, $5.25.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 10,000; hogs, 15,000; sheep, 16,000.

Hog prices went down again under pressure of receipts yesterday. The market for several days has been plodding slowly along barely able to hold its own and yesterday's influx of spring pigs caught the trade off balance. Losses of 10@25c were registered in most transactions.

Underweights and pigs became a drug on the market in the absence of eastern orders and dropped 35@50c in value. Peak prices at $4.35 showed a loss of 20c.

The general average declined to $3.90, lowest since June 22. Prevailing quotations are 60c to $1.05 above the low point of the year and $1.10@1.20 under the high point. Although there was little support from any source yesterday, the trade found a boon in the better quality of the new crop of hogs. Larger houses threw almost all their orders into the best grades, which were regarded relatively the cheapest. Armour, Swift, and Wilson handled almost 10,000 head, the greater part of them consisting of strictly good to choice 200@225 lb spring pigs bought at $4.20@4.30.

Cattle Market Down.

Yesterday's cattle market was as dismal as the weather. A steady rainfall slowed down trading during the early rounds, but even after the downpour abated some buyers showed little sign that they wanted stock. Action was lacking all day, and sellers soon found they were unable to halt the break in the rank and file of cattle, which are selling 50@75c under the recent high point.

Prime weighty steers were scarce and continued to hold to a steady course, with the top at $10.25, within 10c of the season's peak. Swift paid this figure for a shipment of 1,409 lb. whiteface steers from an Indiana feed lot. The bulk of steers cashed at $6.50@8.50, with some plain but fleshy steers as low as $5.00 and Kansas grassers at $4.00@4.75. Butcher stock dragged all day at weak prices, only a few of the $7.50@8.25 "fed" heifers getting any action. Calves ruled steady to strong. Stockers and feeders sold steady.

Lambs Slightly Lower.

Lambs were slow to sell yesterday and slight losses appeared all along the line. Natives sold during the forenoon at $5.25@5.50, only a few lots making the top of $5.75, which showed 15c loss from the day before. Tops from 55 carloads of range lambs sold at $5.85 and below, these also showing a loss of 15c. The lamb market is fully $1.00 lower than two weeks ago and the movement has been slower since the break started. Country buying of feeding lambs slowed down a great deal yesterday and sales at $5.25 and below were considered 10@15c lower. Matured stock sold slowly, old ewes at $2.00 and under, while yearlings brought $4.00@4.50.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw, declined 1 point today under increased offerings of nearby duty frees. The sales reported included 22,500 bags of Philippines for October arrival at 3.13c and 9,000 bags for November arrival at 3.12c to a local refiner, and 22,500 bags of Philippines for December arrival, at 3.11c, to an outport refiner. There was little variation in futures and what business there was centered principally in the December position, with the market closing net unchanged to 1 point lower. Approximate sales were 9,300 tons, of which two-thirds were in December position. Prices follow:

PRICE OF WHEAT FLUCTUATES IN NARROW RANGE

Corn Drops ½c to New Low for Season.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat traders yesterday expressed the belief that a practical deadlock had been reached in the market. Prices fluctuated erratically within a range of ¾@1c. Local sentiment was rather bearish, but there was no material pressure and there was sufficient buying by houses with eastern connections to check declines.

Scattered buying developed in the September delivery toward the last to cause a rather sharp upturn and the close was at 52¼c, or ⅝c above Monday's finish, while the distant positions were ⅝c lower. December wheat closed at 54¼@54⅝c, and May at 59⅝@59¾c. A rally in stocks helped along the upturn from the inside figures of the morning.

Numerous rumors as to prospective developments were circulated, such as one that announcement might be made shortly that the so-called restrictions of trading in futures would be lifted or modified by the department of agriculture.

No New Ruling on Reports.

According to press reports from Washington there has been no new ruling regarding reporting trades. The names of operators who have an open interest in grain in excess of certain limits will continue to be furnished to the grain futures administration by commission houses as heretofore.

No. 1 northern Manitoba cash wheat was quoted at 50c at the close yesterday, a new low for the season, but the October future in the Canadian market received support from export interests and commission houses slightly above that figure and rallied slightly from the low, closing at 50⅜c, showing a loss of ⅝c for the day. The December was off ⅝c and closed at 52⅜c. Hedging pressure was reported as persistent, with buying of futures there against sales at Chicago helping to check the decline.

Corn Sells at New Low.

September and December corn dropped around ¼c yesterday to a new low for the season, with September touching 26⅝c and December 28¼c. A moderate rally came later on scattered buying, with the finish unchanged to ⅛c lower. September showing the most decline. The nearby future was 26⅝c at the last, while December was 28⅛@28⅝c and May 34c.

Oats were dull and closed ⅛c higher to ¾c lower, with September 16¾c; December, 17⅞c, and May, 20⅝@20¾c. Rye was unchanged to ⅝c higher, and was inclined to act tight at times. September closed at 33⅞c; December, 36⅛c, and May, 39c.

Timothy seed, $2.25@2.50; clover, $7@8.75 per 100 lbs. Flax seed, $1.17¼ per bu.

American Smelting Cuts Lead to 3.15 Cents a Lb.

The American Smelting and Refining company yesterday reduced the price of lead 15 points to 3.15 cents a pound. This followed a reduction of 10 points yesterday and brings the quotation down ¼ of a cent a pound below the price prevailing at the end of last week.

COTTON CLOSES LOWER

Cotton fluctuated in an erratic manner within a range of around 10 points, being higher early only to react toward the close, and the active futures in Chicago were 1 to 3 points lower at the last, while other markets were off 3@11 points, with New Orleans leading. Notice of delivery of around 51,000 bales were issued at New York on October contracts and led to scattered liquidation in the nearby future early. Hedging selling appeared on the advances.

Spot cotton was unchanged to 5 points lower, with New York 7.50c; New Orleans, 7.50c; Houston, 7.30c, and Galveston, 7.25c. Prices follow:

OIL HEADS MEET IN ENDEAVOR TO AVOID PRICE CUT

Seek Overproduction Curb Throughout Nation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 27.—Efforts to reduce crude oil production to thwart a reduction in crude oil prices were being discussed today by proration agencies and oil company executives throughout the country. The leading crude oil purchasing companies are said to be reluctant to cut crude oil prices just now, but the consensus is that unless production is further reduced it is inevitable.

The executive committee on equitable oil curtailment in California is expected to ask the producers of that state to reduce production 25,000 to 30,000 barrels daily.

Reports were current today that the Texas Railroad commission in the near future would call another hearing on the East Texas field with a view of reducing allowable production in that field to its former level of 325,000 barrels daily.

Reports of an impending cut in crude oil prices yesterday brought forth the statement from Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma, that he would shut down the wells of any company in the greater Seminole area that announced a cut in crude oil prices.

OIL PRODUCTION OFF

New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Daily average gross crude oil production in the United States decreased 13,050 barrels in the week ended Sept. 24, totaling 2,178,550 barrels, the American Petroleum institute's weekly summary indicates. Daily average production east of California decreased 16,150 barrels to 1,696,650 barrels.

Refineries representing 93.6 per cent of estimated total capacity, operated at 58.3 per cent of their capacity, reported daily average runs of crude oil to stills as 2,104,000 barrels. Daily average the previous week for refineries representing 93.6 per cent of total, operated at 57.0 per cent of capacity, was 2,058,000 barrels.

Fair Rentals

But No "Concession Tax"

That is what we aim to accomplish for Chicago's Great Renting Public.

We could give you six months of concessions if like the other six months you paid double the rent rate.

But we do not believe in the "concession tax" idea and for that reason do not offer such concessions.

As a matter of fact, our aim is to point out the unsoundness of the practice with the following thought: WHEN YOU GET A CONCESSION IN RENT YOU PAY FOR IT.

We will continue to expose the "Concession Tax" idea, which in our opinion, places a hardship on the great majority of renters.
